MORTGAGE AID PLAN APPROVED BY ROOSEVELT

Program Intended to Help Farmers.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 23.—[Special.]—Another depression relief measure that would cost the federal government upward of a billion dollars was approved today by President Roosevelt at a conference with Democratic leaders in congress.

On the heels of the program for employment of the idle, the cost of which may touch two billions, the President is about to launch a project for refinancing farm mortgages, involving a reduction of both principal and interest, the funds for which would be furnished from the federal treasury.

Following this measure there will be a similar bill for the refinancing of the mortgages of city and village home owners at a cost to the federal government that is at present wholly conjectural.

Features of Measure.

1. Voluntary reduction of the principal of mortgages by mortgagees in consideration of cash settlements made possible by advances of government funds.
2. Reduction of the interest rate on mortgages to a figure not exceeding 5 per cent, in consideration of arrangements for eventual liquidation.
3. Amortization of payments for a period not to exceed two years.
4. Suspension of foreclosures for two years.
5. Advance of funds to farmers to pay taxes and past due installments of mortgage loans.
6. Immediate liquidation of the joint stock land banks.
7. Continuation of the federal land banks on modified lines.
8. Reduction of interest rate by federal farm land banks and joint stock land banks to 5 per cent.

Power to Borrow 500 Million.

For the purpose of liquidating the joint stock land banks the bill provides that these institutions shall issue no more obligations and shall proceed to buy in their outstanding bonds at the present low prices. To procure the funds for this operation the joint stock land banks are authorized to borrow not to exceed 500 million dollars from the United States treasury.

Inasmuch as a mortgagee cannot be compelled to scale down the principal or interest of a farm mortgage the intent of the legislation is to make it of interest to the mortgagee to do so. To that end federal funds are to be made available to farmers for making settlements with mortgagees who are willing to accept a reduced amount of principal in cash or continue the loan at a lower interest rate in consideration of cash payments.

What it would cost the federal government to finance this scaling down of farm mortgages is conjectural, estimates of various authorities running from 500 millions into the billions.

Federal Control Planned.

The tentative draft of the bill was discussed at the White House conference this morning and later referred to Secretary of the Treasury William H. Woodin. When approved by the treasury it will be introduced in the house with a view to its passage by that body next week. The plan is to attach the measure in the senate to the farm relief bill now before the senate committee on agriculture.

Attending the White House conference were the following Democratic leaders: Senator Robert F. Wagner [N. Y.], Joseph T. Robinson, Ark.], Ellison D. Smith [S. C.], Thomas P. Gore [Okla.], James F. Byrnes [S. C.], John H. Bankhead [Ala.], William G. McAdoo [Cal.], and Representatives Henry T. Rainey [Ill.], speaker of the house; Henry B. Steagall [Ala.], Marvin Jones [Tex.], James P. Buchanan [Tex.]. Henry Morgenthau Jr., chairman of the farm board and prospective head of the projected consolidation of farm credit agencies, also was present.

Urges Low Interest Rate.

President Roosevelt told the conferees that there is no legislation in which he is more deeply interested than this project to lighten the mortgage load of the farmers. He made several suggestions of changes in the bill. In particular he urged that the maximum interest rate be fixed at less

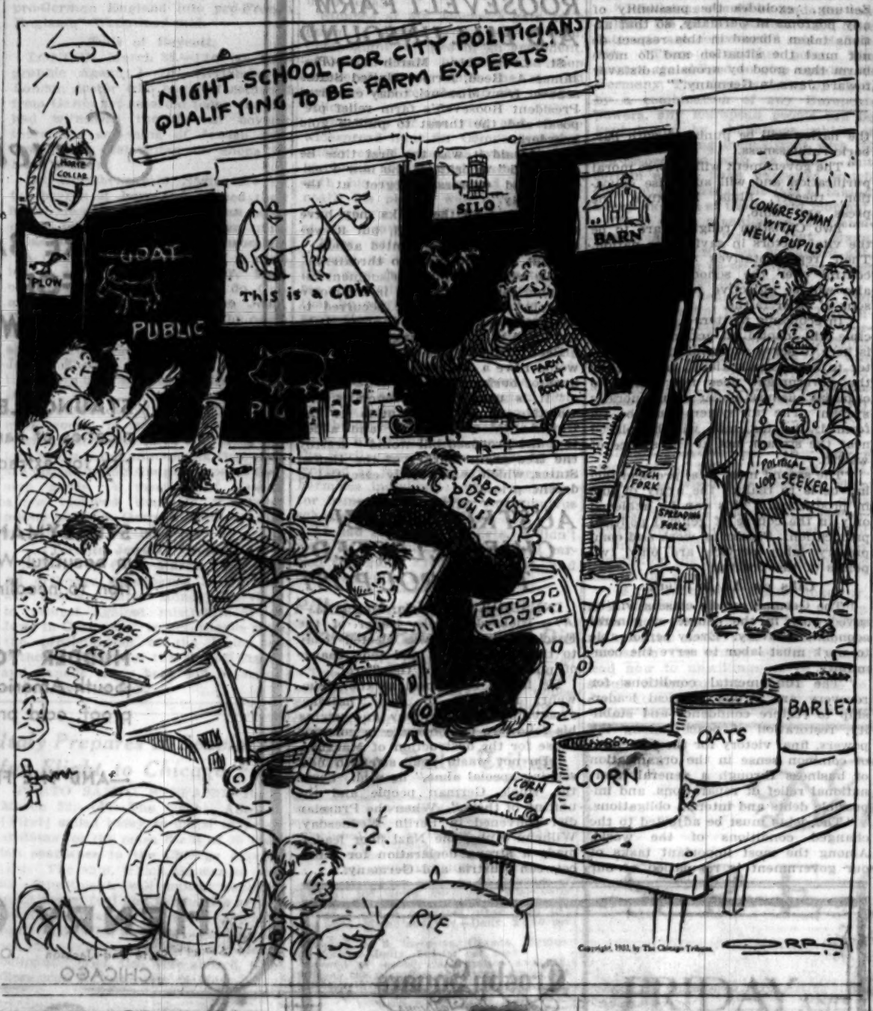
IF THE FARM BILL PASSES—



REVEAL BRITONS ARE ACCUSED OF BRIBES BY RUSSIA

MOSCOW, March 23.—(AP)—A. Vishinski, soviet Russian state prosecutor, revealed today that accusations against four British representatives of the Metropolitan-Vickers Electrical company include giving and taking bribes as well as "intentionally" damaging the equipment of several power stations.

In these alleged crimes the accused men are charged with "acting on instructions," but where these instructions emanated from has not been revealed.

In a statement to the newspaper Izvestia, official government organ, Vishinski denied that third degree methods had been employed in dealing with the Englishmen. He offered to release on bail three of the Britons in whose cases investigation virtually has been completed. Bail rarely is permitted in such cases and the prosecutor's offer apparently is intended somewhat to appease British public opinion.

HIGH SCHOOL BOY BURNED TO DEATH IN OIL EXPLOSION

Richard Huber, 17 years old, a senior at Senn high school, was fatally burned last night when kerosene he was using to build a fire in the basement of his home at 1339 Pratt boulevard exploded and his clothing caught fire.

The boy ran into the street, his clothes blazing. Erward De Contillon, 4838 North Damen avenue, a peddler, was talking to Mrs. William King in front of her home at 1327 Pratt boulevard. They seized the boy, took him into the King home, rolled him in blankets, and administered home treatment.

Young Huber was then taken to the Rogers Park hospital, where he died at 11 p. m. He was said to have been one of the leading scholars in his class and the probable winner of a college scholarship.

2 GROUPS OF DRY AGENTS BATTLE; 1 SHOT TO DEATH

Knoxville, Tenn., March 23.—[Special.]—Two sets of dry agents, each believing the other to be liquor runners, staged a gun battle east of here today, killing one man and wounding two others.

Tom Sizemore, 42, deputized to guard a car load of liquor, was killed and Mack Atchley, 29, and his brother, Deputy Sheriff Tom Atchley, were wounded. Deputy Atchley was hit in the eye.

Prohibition Agent John Howe was grazed by bullets passing through his clothing. The car was being held by the federal agent and his deputy when the county officers arrived on the scene.

Jews in Heated Rally Vote for Hitler Protest

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

A Jewish massmeeting protesting against activities of the Hitler government in Germany in driving Jews out of that country was decided on last night after a stormy session of Jewish delegates from hundreds of Chicago organizations gathered at the Hotel La Salle.

Efforts of a minority to halt this meeting, merge it with a meeting of persons not Jewish, or tone down their indignation in any way met with hisses and disorder that nearly disrupted the gathering at times. It was presided over by Rabbi Solomon Goldman, and after much debate a committee of twenty-five was appointed to make arrangements for a giant demonstration as soon as possible. The committee will meet today. It was suggested that some such speaker as Senator Borah, Al Smith, or Newton D. Baker be asked to participate in the meeting.

Clergy to Denounce Hitler.

Rabbi Goldman told the delegates, representing synagogues, brotherhoods, and workers' organizations, that Dr. Horace Bridges of the Chicago Ethical society was planning a meeting, and that next Sunday many clergymen would denounce the Hitler tactics against the Jews. It was suggested that the Jewish meeting wait until Dr. Bridges' group had made its protest.

"What we do here will have to be redeemed by some Jew in Germany," warned one speaker. James Becker advised against hasty action here at this time.

"It is selfish to have a meeting just to relieve our feelings," he said. "A meeting presided over by such a man as Senator Borah would have a thousand fold more effect."

It was announced that New York Jews will hold a massmeeting next Monday night, at which Al Smith will speak. This is in the face of advice from Jews in Germany to act with caution. The Smith talk may be radioed here if the Chicago meeting is held the same night.

Decries Effect of a Protest.

Philip Sachs said such a protest would "not have much effect on Hitler and his gang, not a hundredth part as much effect as a meeting by non-Jews. If acting will save the Jews, act, but I don't think it will."

A representative of the International Labor Defense said this organization was planning a protest too and suggested a combined meeting. This was met with cries of "No-no."

Another speaker said those who were advising nonaction were a "bunch of cowards, hiding behind women's skirts. If we are not going to fight, no one else will."

Julius Klein, editor of the Staats Herald, said that Jews were being killed in Germany every day, and that there was a Hitler organization in Chicago, which held a celebration last Sunday.

"I have no doubt there is a Hitlerite right in this room getting ready to cable to Germany about what a bunch of Jews in Chicago are doing," he said.

Jacob Siegel, editor of the Jewish Forward, spoke in favor of the protest, but one that would be uttered by the whole American people. It would save the lives of Jews and workers in Germany, he said.

Rules Out Further Speaking.

Another speaker said he doubted if some of the speakers wanted to save the Jews. There were so many hisses here that Chairman Goldman shouted for order until he was hoarse and his gavel arm tired. So many wanted to talk and indignation was at such a boiling point for various and conflicting reasons, that the chairman finally ruled out further speaking, and the question was put. Only a scattering vote was recorded against the motion for the mass protest.

"No decent, self respecting Jew can remain silent at this moment," said Rabbi Goldman. "There will be the timid who will urge caution, diplomacy and back door maneuvering; there will be the hysterical who will scream aimlessly; but the bulk of Israel can be counted on to maintain its dignity in this hour of its great sorrow and to utter its indignation as becomes a people of Bibles and prophets."

Charles West, president of the Rogers Park Civic league, has written to the Illinois delegation in congress urging that the boycott threat be used by the state department against the Hitler government.

HITLER IS MADE DICTATOR; SAYS 'NO KAISER NOW'

Reichstag Gives Him Absolute Power.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
(Picture on Back Page.)

BERLIN, March 23.—Chancellor Adolf Hitler's command to the reichstag to make him dictator was obeyed today. The federal legislature handed over to the "little corporal" the mighty power of ruling Germany by decree for the next four years.

The dictatorship was inevitable. The reichstag, packed with the chancellor's own National Socialists—called Nazis for short—crushed the supporters of popular government by a vote of 441 to 94. The 81 communist members did not vote. They are in jail, together with 11 Socialist deputies. Their presence would have made no difference.

Thus the Nazi steam roller passed an enabling act, which, among other things, empowers Hitler's regime to draft a new constitution.

Din Inside and Out.

What occurred today was done in regular form, but amid great din. Inside the Kroll opera house, temporary meeting place of the reichstag across the street from the old reichstag building, which was partly destroyed by fire several weeks ago, there was wild cheering. Outside a crowd of thousands shouted continuously:

"Give us that enabling act or there will be a fire!"

Today's historic event began in the early morning. Hitler appeared clad in the brown uniform of his followers. In person he delivered his command for absolute dictatorial powers. He preceded it with a message covering the complete program of his government.

The chancellor's message rang with the familiar Nazi doctrines. The reichstag was told that now is not the time to talk of restoring the monarchy "while conditions prevail which necessitate focusing our attention solely upon saving the German people from indescribable misery."

Hitler Sets Forth Policies.

Time and again his words were drowned out by cheers and applause. His voice was that of the master. Some of the government's internal and foreign policies were set forth by Hitler as follows:

The government was opposed to experimenting with the national currency.

The reich will maintain unquestioned primacy over its federated states.

The government is willing to abstain from expanding its armed forces provided the rest of the world fulfills its obligation for radical disarmament.

After Hitler had delivered his address the reichstag adjourned, reconvening in the afternoon to carry out the chancellor's orders.

Socialist Leader Arrested.

Karl Severing, leader of the Socialist party and former member of the Prussian cabinet, was expected to express his party's protest to the passage of the enabling act. But Severing was arrested as he was entering the reichstag on a charge of misuse of funds for purposes of propaganda. The job fell to Dr. Paul Hertz, veteran of the 1918 revolution which established the republic.

[Severing later was permitted to cast his vote against the enabling act and then was taken to the ministry of interior for questioning.]

Hertz pointed out that he personally was the first German to brand the charge of Germany's war guilt as a lie before an international audience in Berne, Switzerland, in February, 1919.

"The chancellor says it is insane to classify the nations as victors and vanquished," he cried. "It is equally insane in internal politics. There is no blessing in an enforced peace. Take our liberty, take our lives, but leave us our honor! If you [Nazis] really want social reconstruction you would need no such law as this!"

Hitler became angry. He leaped to his feet and berated the Socialists for "fourteen years of persecution of the Nazis."

Shouts "You're Too Late."

"You're too late!" he shouted. "We don't need you any longer in molding the fate of the nation."

His followers shouted their approval.

Plan All Night Celebration to Welcome Beer

After it was announced yesterday by United States Attorney General Cummings that 3.2 per cent beer would become legal at 12:01 o'clock the early morning of April 7, Chicago hotels and restaurants began preparations for an all night celebration to welcome its return. The celebration is scheduled to start promptly after midnight and is expected to last well into the morning hours.

Previously it had been indicated that beer would become legal here at 11:01 p. m. on April 6, which would correspond to one minute past midnight on April 7 in Washington, where the beer bill was signed. The ruling of the attorney general, however, states that each time zone must wait for April 7 to arrive before placing the new beer on sale.

Plan Swift Service.

Immediately plans were made to have fleets of trucks loaded with beer lined up at the city's breweries on the eventful night ready to rush a supply of the new brew to the celebration centers a minute after the clock strikes 12.

One hundred speedy trucks, each carrying 200 cases of bottled beer, making a total of 20,000 cases or 480,000 bottles, will be waiting with running motors just within the confines of the Atlas Brewing plant alone, ready to speed to loop hostelries and restaurants and clubs.

It was reported that the Prima company was obtaining a truck fleet large enough to deliver 50,000 cases of beer at the moment it becomes legal. The Schoenhofen company has ready a fleet of 46 trucks, each with a capacity of 200 cases.

Expect a Sober Fête.

While hotel men are anticipating gala festivities on "new beer's eve" comparable to a New Year's eve celebration, some of them predicted that the revelry would be comparatively sober as distinguished from dry era merrymaking.

Bars have been installed in the College Inn and the Old Town tearoom now to be known as the Old Town taproom, of the Hotel Sherman, and a new bar is being installed in the Sherman's Celtic café under the old painting "Sing a Song of Sixpence," painted by Maxfield Parrish twenty years ago for the old Sherman bar on Randolph street.

Bismarck Gets Ready.

A new cheer already has spread through the Bismarck hotel, where patrons stand about in groups with tears in their eyes talking of a return to better days.

John Walther, 65 years old, who was a bartender in the old Bismarck beer gardens in 1897, is to dispense beer and hospitality in the Walnut room of the new Bismarck.

At the Congress hotel crowds are expected to assemble in the Pompeian room and the old Congress street bar, which has been the coffee shop during prohibition, to lift foaming glasses as soon after midnight as delivery can be made.

Guests at the La Salle hotel are promised a bottle of beer and a few pretzels on the house, Theodore DeWitt, manager, announced. The old Auditorium hotel, once noted for its bar, will hold a gala celebration in the main dining room and Oak room, A. J. Newman, manager, said.

Brevoort Gets License.

The Brevoort hotel received its license yesterday to reopen its old Crystal bar, where reservations are being made for the "beer's eve" celebration. At the Palmer house, Walter L. Gregory, manager, said beer would flow in four dining rooms and two clubs as soon as deliveries are made. Waitresses, or barmaids, will serve stein and bottle beer in the Great Northern hotel coffee shop and grill, it was announced.

At the Medinah Athletic club and other clubs in or near the loop celebrations were being planned.

KILLS HIMSELF IN RESIDENCE AT HIGHLAND PARK

Indicted in Crash of Illinois Life.

Raymond W. Stevens, former president of the now defunct Illinois Life Insurance company, shot and fatally wounded himself at 2:30 p. m. yesterday in his home, the Meadows, west of Green Bay road, Highland Park. He died an hour later in the Highland Park hospital. He was 58 years old.

With his 80 year old father, James W. Stevens, and a younger brother, Ernest J. Stevens, he was to have gone to trial before Judge Philip L. Sullivan next Monday on charges of conspiracy to embezzle $4,000,000 of the insurance company's funds to keep afloat the Stevens and La Salle hotels, which the family also controlled.

Last Monday the trial had been continued for one week when attorneys for the elder Stevens reported their aged client unconscious from an apoplectic stroke suffered the previous Friday night in his residence, 1260 Lake Shore drive. His condition remained grave last night, his wife said. She added that news of his son's death had been withheld from him.

Wife Hears a Shot.

Raymond Stevens' wife, Mrs. Anna Hull Stevens, their son, Raymond Jr., and a daughter, Mrs. Kathryn Stafford, were just leaving their north shore residence for Mrs. Stafford's home nearby yesterday afternoon when they heard a sharp report. They hastened their steps back to the library. In the sunroom beyond they found Raymond Stevens in an easy chair with a bullet wound in his head behind the right ear.

On a table within his reach was a volume of an encyclopedia, opened at a chapter on birds, which Mr. Stevens, an amateur ornithologist, had apparently been reading before he shot himself. On the carpet below lay a .38 caliber revolver.

Find Him Beyond Help.

The wife and children knelt beside the chair, chafing his hands, stanching the wound and begging him to speak, but he was beyond help. The son, who is 23 years old, then called the Highland Park police, telling Sergt. Martin Kopp in a broken voice that his father had shot himself. He asked the sergeant to send a physician.

After calling several numbers the sergeant finally reached Dr. J. H. Lundstrom of Highland Park, who ordered an ambulance to move the dying man to the hospital, to which he also hastened. Meanwhile Patrolman Charles Rafferty was sent to the Stevens home. The wife and daughter accompanied Mr. Stevens to the hospital, where he died on an operating table at 3:35 p. m.

The son, Raymond Jr., remained at the home, while Patrolman Rafferty searched the room for a farewell note. No message was found, but in the fireplace the policeman picked up a .38 caliber slug, accounting for the two empty shells in the revolver chamber and indicating that Stevens had fired a test shot before he killed himself.

Spent Night Alone in House.

The Meadows, a spacious brick colonial home on a 20 acre wooded estate half a mile west of Green Bay road opposite Ravinia park, had been closed for the last several weeks until last Wednesday night. Early that evening Stevens and his family motored there from the Chicago apartment they had been occupying. Stevens indicated his desire to spend the night alone, whereupon his wife and son left him there and passed the night at the Stafford home, 193 Hazel place, Highland Park.

Neighbors noticed lights ablaze at the Meadows far into the night and a milkman remembered seeing the lights at 5 a. m. yesterday. Mr. Stevens' wife and son rejoined him before breakfast, and the family lunched together at Glenview. All through the morning they observed he was morose, but said they had no suspicion that he contemplated suicide.

Mr. Stevens had an appointment with an attorney in the loop at 3 p. m., but informed his family that he did not feel "quite up to it," and would spend the afternoon reading. Still unaware of his purpose they left him and were waiting on the porch of the house for their car when they heard the shot.

Coroner John L. Taylor of Waukegan set the inquest for 9 a. m. today in Highland Park. The family announced that private funeral serv-loss would be held Saturday at 3 p. m. from the home, with burial in Rosehill cemetery. Besides the son and daughter present at his death there is another daughter, Mrs. Eleanor Champion.

Trouble has beset the Stevens family since last Nov. 22, when United States Judge James H. Wilkerson adjudged the insurance company insolvent and appointed Gen. Abel Davis receiver. Within a month Gen. Davis submitted an audit showing that the Stevenses had drained away $13,000,000 of the company's assets in a vain effort to maintain the credit of the hotels.

State and federal investigations were launched and on Jan. 28 the authorities acted. Informed by the United States department of state that Ernest Stevens had applied for a European passport for himself and family, State's Attorney Courtney procured a bench warrant from Judge Sullivan charging James W. Stevens and the two sons with conspiracy. Ernest was arrested in the presence of his family at his home, 1314 East 58th street, and placed under $10,000 bond.

All Three Indicted.

On the Monday following Ernest's arrest, the three men were indicted on charges of embezzlement and their bonds fixed at $25,000 each. They were accused of voting hundreds of thousands of dollars of insurance stock dividends to themselves while the company was insolvent; of lending the hotels funds on worthless collateral, and of borrowing themselves without pledging adequate collateral. All three appeared in court and pleaded not guilty.

Pursuant to Judge Wilkerson's order, Gen. Davis' attorneys, William Klein and Brode B. Davis, recently filed suits to recover from the Stevenses $5,979,000, which they were alleged to have fraudulently obtained by "accommodation" notes. Raymond Stevens was alleged to have shared in these transactions to the extent of $212,000 on a note signed by George L. Douglas, son of a La Salle street broker.

Sought to Settle Claim.

Only yesterday, it was learned, friends of Raymond Stevens were negotiating for settlement of the claim. It was said that his wife, in whose name he had placed the Highland Park residence last August, was eager that the property, valued at $94,000 for tax purposes, be offered to the creditors in settlement of the claim. Attorneys Klein and Brode Davis discussed the offer yesterday morning with assistants of Gen. Davis, it was learned, and reached a decision that the offer could not be accepted at this time.

"They'll have to take it eventually, because it's everything we've got," Stevens was quoted as having said when informed of the decision.

Friends of the family were certain, they said, that rejection of the settlement had nothing to do with his suicide. They ascribed his act to worry over the affairs of the insurance company and concern about the illness of his father to whom, they said, he was greatly attached.

"The death apparently was a suicide due to despondency over the receivership of the insurance company and over illness of his father," Raymond Jr. declared in a prepared statement.

Reinsurance Plans Work Out.

Under a proposal approved by Judge Wilkerson on Feb. 24, the Associated Mutuals of Boston, a concern sponsored by James S. Kemper & Co., of Chicago, contracted to put $1,250,000 of new capital into the Illinois Life and reinsure the 76,000 policyholders. By terms of the contract now being worked out, the Associated Mutuals will take a lien on loan and cash surrender values of the Illinois Life, but will pay in full all death claims arising before and during the receivership.

Raymond Stevens was one of the larger policyholders in the company. The amount of his policies is estimated to be between $300,000 and $400,000, he having procured loans of $24,000 on them last August.

The Stevens family grew up in McDonough county, Ill. The father, James W. Stevens, was a dry goods merchant in the town of Colchester when, in the late '80's, the glowing prospects engendered by the forthcoming Columbian exposition of 1893 drew him to Chicago. With others of the family, he opened a mercantile establishment, which is still doing business in State street under another management.

Company Formed in 1893.

In the world's fair year of 1893 he participated in the organization of the Illinois Life Insurance company. The family fortunes grew with the life insurance company and in 1907 the family sponsored the erection of Hotel La Salle. The enterprise flourished and in 1927, under the direction of Ernest Stevens, the family backed another hotel, the Stevens, which with its 3,000 rooms, was declared to be the largest in the world.

While Ernest Stevens was running the hotels, Raymond was becoming an insurance executive. Upon his graduation from the University of Chicago in 1896, he entered the concern as a solicitor and within three years was advanced to vice president. Upon the advancement of his father to chairman of the board in 1924, he succeeded him as president. The father was also chairman of the company operating the hotels.

Word from the Lake Shore drive residence of the elder Stevens last night was that the patient had shown a "slight improvement." The attending physicians said he had regained consciousness for a sufficient interval to speak a few words and take a little nourishment. There is no chance, however, they added, that he will be able to face the court when the case of himself and Ernest Stevens is called next Monday.

Governor Mans Machine Gun; 3 Deputies Slain

CIUDAD BRAVOS, Guerrero, Mex., March 23.—(AP)—State Deputy Manuel Levva died today from wounds received in a gun battle yesterday in the state capitol plaza during which, witnesses said, Gov. Adrian Castrejon himself handled a machine gun on the roof of the governor's house. Deputy José Octavio Iturburu and Nicholas Leyda were killed in the same fight.

HERE IS HOW HITLER CAN RULE GERMANY UNDER DICTATORSHIP

BERLIN, March 23.—(AP)—These are the principal provisions of the enabling act by which Adolf Hitler became virtual dictator of Germany today:

Hereafter President Von Hindenburg will not sign emergency decrees. Hitler will simply proclaim laws decided upon by the cabinet.

These laws will not require the approval of the reichstag nor of the federal council of states. There can be no popular referendum upon them, for articles 68 to 77 of the constitution are specifically set aside.

Treaties with foreign powers will not require indorsement by the reichstag or the reichsrat.

The cabinet can decree the budget and borrow money without parliamentary approval.

Laws proclaimed by the chancellor may deviate from the constitution so long as they do not infringe upon the institutions of the reichstag or reichsrat as such.

The powers of the president remain unchanged.

din, "but they did the same thing to me in the years gone by. I dare you to cite a single concrete act of terrorism."

None replied.

The chancellor sat down, whereupon Capt. Hermann Wilhelm Goering, speaker of the reichstag and Hitler's right hand man, resumed the attack on the Socialists.

"So long as the foreign Socialist papers print lies about us, you'll have to suffer for it," he told them. "I'm willing to take any foreign commission through the prisons and I'll show them that nothing has happened to anybody.

"You can go anywhere in Germany and you won't find a store or a synagogue that has been demolished. You can go to any synagogue or any Jewish cemetery and you won't find one that has been desecrated. Germany never has been more peaceful."

Further debate was shut off, the vote was taken and the reichstag adjourned indefinitely.

Throng Calls for Hitler.

"Hitler! Hitler! Hitler!" shouted the throng outside.

The chancellor appeared on a balcony.

"The first chapter of our movement is closed," he told the multitude. "Now we begin the second—to establish freedom, greatness, and honor."

It was announced late tonight that the government will refute reports of Nazi atrocities by bringing foreign newspaper correspondents face to face with alleged victims "so that the writers may satisfy themselves that the stories are untrue." It was stated that they will be permitted to see the imprisoned communist leaders, Ernest Thaelmann, recent candidate for the presidency, and Ernst Torgler, mentioned as a plotter in the reichstag fire.

Authorities allege that certain foreign newspapers have published that the two men were tortured to death.

WILL PUNISH FOES

Chancellor Hitler in his message to the reichstag said in part:

"It will be the highest duty of the government to stamp out communism for the sake of Germany and of the entire world. The arson crime at the reichstag building showed the world what it could expect from this devilish creed. Efforts to link this burning with the national forces strengthen my determination to publicly decapitate the persons who set fire to the reichstag.

"I will grant equality of rights only to those citizens who support the national forces. The government aims to build a constitution combining the wishes of the people with truly authoritarian leadership. It also will be the government's aim to punish the intellectual leaders of destructive forces and save their misled victims.

"In the future high treason against the nation will be punished with barbaric ruthlessness.

"The government will enforce moral purification and will supervise education, theater, films, literature, the press, and radio.

"Two Christian religions are to be the vital factors in saving the nation. Their representatives will be given control over the schools, but there also will be objective justice for persons of other faiths.

"In economic matters a single principle will inspire all actions: Capital is here to serve economic life, the latter to serve the nation. In principle the government does not intend to organize business under a bureaucratic system. The tax system must be reformed; the tax mill will be placed near the stream, not at the source of wealth.

"The second most vital problem facing us is to realign the army of idle in production. This can be achieved only in the course of general political pacification. Procuring work and compulsory labor service are only two points of the program.

Calls on All to Work.

"The German middle classes will be saved only in the course of general economic recovery. Every person able to work must labor to serve the community.

"The fundamental conditions for recovery are strong political leadership to restore confidence and stability, restoration of peace among the powers, final victory for the principles of common sense in the organization of business through a general international relief of reparations, and impossible debts and interest obligations.

"The debts must be adjusted to the changed conditions of the world. Among the most important tasks of our government is regulation of our short and long term debts and the adjustment of our interest service to the low rate in force in the rest of the world."

Emphasizing Germany's will to peace, he said:

"The national government is ready to stretch out a hand to every people for honest friendship, provided a willingness to forget the sad past. The world can be cured only if the peoples will again trust each other.

"We are anxious to cooperate in the attempt to bring Germany, Italy, England, and France together in a common effort upon which depends the fate of Europe. Accommodation is possible even with France, if both governments tackle the problems affecting them in a generous spirit.

"This enabling act does not mean abolition of the reichstag which, on the contrary, will be called together from time to time to permit the government to disseminate information or to obtain approval of the cabinet's decrees. Rarely has a revolution of such scope been carried out with such discipline and so bloodless."

CLAIMS SAFETY OF LOYAL GERMAN JEWS GUARANTEED BY LAW

New York, March 23.—(AP)—The German consulate general in New York today made public the following cable from the federal press bureau in Berlin:

"The Frankfurter Zeitung, leading German liberal paper, says editorially:

"'The peremptory orders issued by the German government, particularly those emanating from Chancellor Hitler personally, have definitely checked all excesses, including attacks on Jews, to which so much publicity has been given in foreign countries.'

"In an interview with the president of the Association of German Citizens of Jewish Faith, Hermann Goering, minister without portfolio in the Hitler cabinet, declared that the safety of life and property of all Jews observing loyalty to the existing government is guaranteed by law.

"'This,' says the Frankfurther Zeitung, 'excludes the possibility of any pogroms in Germany, so that actions taken abroad in this respect do not meet the situation and do more harm than good by arousing disfavor toward Jews in Germany.'"

JIM REED CALLS ROOSEVELT FARM AID BILL UNSOUND

St. Louis, Mo., March 23.—(AP)—James A. Reed, former United States senator from Missouri, today criticized President Roosevelt's farm relief proposal and the threat to punish gold hoarders.

Reed said it was the first time he has had "to criticize the new President, and expressed regret at the "necessity."

Closing of all the banks may have been justified, Reed said, but it was a violent and unprecedented action.

"But when it came to threatening people with fine and imprisonment for keeping their own money in their own pockets," he added, "it occurred to me the constitution had about been stretched to the breaking point."

Reed predicted the farm relief plan would have a detrimental effect on all lines of business.

"It is unsound in economics and violative of the constitution of the United States," he said, and added that the proposed bill would "destroy the free grain market of the United States, which is absolutely essential to decent prices."

AUSTRIAN NAZI CHIEF ELECTED TO TYROL POST

INNSBRUCK, Austria, March 23.—(AP)—Richard Steidle, leader of the Fascist Heimwehr, was elected today to the state council and took charge of public security in the Tyrol.

He issued an appeal to the Heimwehr, referring to the "national awakening" in Germany and urging his followers to cooperate in common cause for the destruction of Marxism.

"Do not waste your strength now seeking special aims," he said. "Serve the whole German people and the uniting of them." When the Prussian diet convened in Berlin Wednesday, Wilhelm Kube, the Nazi floor leader, made a strong declaration for union between Austria and Germany.

OFFICER ON TRIAL AS A SPY BOASTS OF LOVE AFFAIRS

Blackens Own Character on Witness Stand.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 23.—Admitting an illicit affair with a woman, but denying completely any treasonable dealings with a foreign agent, Lieut. Norman Baillie-Stewart of the Seaforth Highlanders, one of the proudest regiments in England, today took the witness stand in his own defense.

The 34 year old "officer in the tower" is on trial before a court-martial at Chelsea barracks on charges of selling British military secrets, particularly details of a new design of tank, to a German agent in Berlin.

Blackens His Own Character.

Norman Parkes, the lieutenant's counsel, in an effort to save him from the penalty of treason, blackened the officer's character. He is trying to prove that Baillie-Stewart took money from a German girl with whom he had been intimate.

Parkes declared that this story was much more believable than the theory that the lieutenant was a traitor, since everything Baillie-Stewart is accused of having sold was public property anyhow. Photographs of the tanks had been published in the newspapers and the documents could be bought by any one at the government stationery office, Parkes said.

Parkes said the girl in the case, who is known only as "Marie Louise," had sent the lieutenant £90 [$450 at par] after his return to England and had promised him more if he would come back to her. As a matter of fact, Parkes said, the officer did see her again in Holland, having formed a discreditable plan to get money out of her. Evidence supporting this theory was begun by Baillie-Stewart and will be continued tomorrow.

Officer Denies All Charges.

"On my honor," the accused man declared, "I never have attempted to obtain, I never have obtained, and I never have disclosed any information prejudicial to the state. There is no possible reason why I should have done so. I never have been in debt in my life."

According to the defense's story, Baillie-Stewart, on a holiday in Berlin, was introduced to Marie Louise, who was described as "fair and about 22," by a mutual acquaintance, Otto Waldemar Obst. The prosecution contends that Obst was a foreign agent, and that the money sent by the girl to Baillie-Stewart was transmitted in payment for military secrets he had revealed.

Baillie-Stewart said he was not fond of Marie Louise, but had continued the relationship to get money from her.

"She paid for nearly everything I had," he said. "I gathered that she was very well off."

Later, in Holland, he asserted, the woman, trying to get him to come back to Germany in the spring, hinted that a larger payment would be made. The letters containing money came afterward.

Correspondence was carried on through Obst, at the woman's request, he said. The prosecution contends this was because "Marie Louise" was a mythical person. Parkes promised to produce a woman witness who had met Marie Louise in Berlin and had been introduced to her by that name only.

New German Order Forbids Bank Withdrawals by Jews

BERLIN, March 23.—(AP)—Expulsion from the Palatinate of all Jews who came there from eastern Europe after Aug. 1, 1914, principally immigrants from Poland, was foreshadowed in official orders issued today by the local state commissioner in the palatinate.

Bank and postal authorities have been instructed to make no payments to such Jews and the ban against them will be lifted only after they have settled all their obligations to business men, tradespeople and others.

In Beuthen today the police raided headquarters of the league of friends of the soviet union and arrested 49 members, most of them Jews.

Poland Lodges Protest.

WARSAW, Poland, March 23.—[Jewish Telegraphic Agency.]—Twenty-five new attacks on Jews are the subject of an official complaint lodged by the Polish ambassador with the German ministry of foreign affairs today.

Among the cases of brutality cited are those of seven Jews who were taken from various cafés, carried off to Nazi locales, maltreated and flung out into the streets almost unconscious.

Apart from these, the Polish consulate at Hessen has officially protested to the authorities in connection with a Nazi attack at Duisburg, where organized Nazis, it is charged, beat an aged rabbi who is a Polish citizen and damaged the synagogue attached to the rabbi's house.

Student Beaten.

Another case engaging the attention of the Polish authorities is that of a Polish-Jewish student, Franz Wolman, whose room in Berlin was entered by uniformed auxiliary Nazi police, and who was beaten for about a quarter of an hour, according to reports here. He was eventually taken to a hospital in dangerous condition.

The sporadic assaults on Jewish booksellers in Berlin show no sign of abating, it is declared. The usual method followed, it is said, is for bands of Nazis to surround a Jewish bookshop and beat up the proprietor because he fails to display Hitler's book, "Beim Kampf."

Charges Nazis Killed Ullstein.

WARSAW, Poland, March 23.—(AP)—The Jewish daily, Our Revue, printed a Berlin dispatch today charging that the death last Monday of Louis Ullstein, 70 year old Berlin publisher, resulted from injuries inflicted by National Socialists who broke into his Berlin home.

The assailants, the dispatch said, beat Ullstein and his wife into unconsciousness, then carried them into the cellar, where they were found the next day.

The dispatch also charged that Rabbi Berwald of Munich was slain by Nazis, and that the German newspapers suppressed both stories.

Hears of 1,400 Hamburg Deaths.

LONDON, March 23.—(AP)—During a discussion of the German question in the house of commons today Josiah Wedgwood, a labor member, asked whether the government had any confirmation of a story that 1,400 persons had been put to death in the city of Hamburg alone.

Prime Minister MacDonald replied that he was referring the matter to the foreign office.

"What has taken place recently in Germany has completely converted pro-German England into pro-French England," Wedgwood said.

Tells of Boycott.

LONDON, March 23.—[Jewish Telegraphic Agency.]—Dr. Hertzberg, a London doctor who has just returned from Germany, asserted today that he had witnessed the Jewish boycott there, the smashing of Jewish windows, and obstruction of shops by Nazi pickets.

Dr. Hertzberg said Nazis tore off the beards of Jews and burned their hair. He asserted that German newspaper reports were altogether unreliable because of rigorous censorship.

A constant stream of Jews is coming to London from Germany. Most of the refugees are well to do Germans or relatives of English Jews. The poor are unable to enter the country because of provisions in the aliens act, although the home office and the Jewish Shelter, a volunteer organization, have been showered with applications.

The move toward a boycott of German goods is growing. Individual Jewish merchants have addressed letters to the press announcing that they are discontinuing the purchase of German goods. A meeting of Jewish bakers resolved that its members might not use German flour or any other German commodities.

Toronto Jews to Protest.

TORONTO, Can., March 23.—(AP)—All orthodox synagogues in Toronto will dedicate early Monday services to protest against mistreatment of Jews in Germany. In accordance with the proclamation of the Union of Orthodox Rabbis of the United States and Canada, Jews here will be asked to fast on that day.

GUN IN POCKET, HE CALLS TO SEE HERBERT HOOVER

After Secret Service Job, His Explanation.

Palo Alto, Cal., March 23.—[Special.]—With a loaded .38 caliber gun in his pocket, William Compogiani, 55, a Burlingame character known familiarly as "Bill," went to visit former President Herbert Hoover at his home on the Stanford university campus at Palo Alto yesterday, but news of the occurrence was withheld until today.

Stopped at Mr. Hoover's gate by a guard, a former secret service man, Compogiani engaged in an argument, offered to check his gun, and then wandered away, while the startled employé was telephoning the campus police.

The story of the visit and of the widespread hunt for Compogiani that finally ended when he was found at his home at 315 Burlingame avenue, with his revolver tucked away beneath his pillow, was revealed only late today. It had been kept secret at Mr. Hoover's request.

After satisfying police that he "meant no harm," but only wanted his "good friend Mr. Hoover to give me a job with the secret service," and that he carried the gun merely as a protection against robbers, Compogiani was released from the Burlingame police station late today, but is being kept under observation.

A huge fellow, who always wears his hat at an angle, Compogiani rests upon laurels as a one time heavyweight wrestler of parts. He is known among his friends and the patrons of the Burlingame theater, where he has worked as janitor, as a well meaning, harmless individual with a penchant for being victimized by unscrupulous schemers. He said today:

"I had $50 in my pockets. I didn't want to be robbed. That's why I carried the gun," Compogiani said, and police accepted his explanation.

Germany Must Have Equality, Mac Donald Tells Commons

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 23.—Prime Minister MacDonald, Europe's "ambassador of peace," today assured the smaller nations of Europe that they need have no fear of Premier Mussolini's four power plan to keep the world out of war. The prime minister made this announcement in his report to the house of commons on his visit last week to Rome, Paris, and Geneva.

"The motive of the plan," he said, "is to remove the danger of war. The smaller states will not be excluded from playing their proper parts."

The prime minister declared that the Mussolini plan, which would combine England, Italy, France, and Germany in a plan to preserve international peace, should be carried out within the framework of the league of nations.

Equality for Germany.

"Provisions should be made for consulting the smaller powers when their interests are concerned," said MacDonald. "There is another point. The powers are obliged to give equality to Germany. The time has gone by when, by a combination of any European powers, any European people can be kept bound by obligations which it regards as being inconsistent with its self-respect and with its honor. But certain events have happened which enormously increase the risk of taking a step like that at the present moment.

"Our plan presupposes a transitional stage. During that stage, equality itself will not be carried out, and there must be no rearmament and no projected rearmament."

MacDonald denied the report that he and Mussolini had offered Tanganyika, in east central Africa, to Germany as a sort of sop to Chancellor Hitler. Tanganyika before the war was shared by Germany, England and Belgium. The German portion became British mandated territory after the war.

Tells What Prompted Talks.

"The conversations in Rome amounted to this," MacDonald said, "that now, when it is perfectly plain to everybody that national life all over Europe is being revitalized, the four powers should meet before they might be driven apart and try to remove by negotiation the dangers which must be met in any event."

"If the four powers came together, if a way can be devised for joining with their views those of the smaller nationalities concerned, and if on examination the causes of fear which lead now to unwillingness to disarm should disappear, who would dare to deny that the only effective work for peace done since the war would be accomplished."

MacDonald began his report by saying he had gone to Geneva to see what could be done to save the disarmament conference from imminent collapse. While there, he said, Mussolini invited him to Rome, where Il Duce presented him with "a short and simple plan."

Neither the plan he presented at Geneva nor the plan Mussolini presented him is ready for acceptance or has been accepted, he said. Both are being studied, MacDonald added.

"When I arrived in Geneva I found the conference had lost itself in details," he said. "I realize that Europe is unsettled and in a very nervous condition. The only thing that can save us is confidence in each other."

The nations are not asked to approve or disapprove of Mussolini's plan, MacDonald said. They are only asked to state now whether they are prepared to study it.

Churchill Assails MacDonald.

The house was enlivened later by a bitter onslaught on the government's foreign policy and on the prime minister personally by Winston Churchill, who described MacDonald as "compressing the largest number of words into the smallest amount of thought"—an inexhaustible flow of vague, well sounding exhortations, the precise purpose of which was largely wrapped in mystery.

The house became angry when Churchill said that after four years in control of foreign policy MacDonald had "brought Europe nearer to war than at any time since peace, making us weaker, poorer, and more defenseless." Shouts of "no" greeted this attack.

"I withdraw nothing," Churchill retorted. "In four years there has not been one of the prime minister's interventions in foreign affairs that has been attended with success."

Attacks Disarmament Policy.

Churchill also attacked MacDonald's disarmament policy. He objected particularly to the premier's new disarmament plan and his attempt to persuade France into it at a moment when there is an "insurgence of ferocity" in Germany.

"When we read about what is taking place in Germany we cannot help feeling glad that the fierce passions raging there have not found as yet any other outlet but upon themselves," he said.

He urged the government not to press France to weaken its strength.

"If Europe has enjoyed peace this year, it has been under the shield of France," he declared.

HOUSE APPROVES SALE OF BEER IN NATION'S CAPITAL

Senate Expected to Pass Bill by April 6.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 23.—[Special.]—With an eye to its own appetite, the house today hastily approved a bill authorizing the sale of beer in the District of Columbia. An amendment permitting the sale of wine was defeated. The measure goes at once to the senate where favorable action is anticipated prior to midnight April 6 when the 13 year government ban on the brewing and sale of beer is lifted on a nationwide scale.

Efforts to ban the sale of the new 3.2 per cent beverages in public buildings were rejected by an overwhelming vote. As a result beer may now be sold in the senate and house restaurants at the capitol subject to the will of the two legislative branches. Sales may also be made in cafeterias and restaurants maintained in other government buildings. The house adopted an amendment forbidding sale of beer to persons under 18. Sale of beer on Sunday is permitted.

Licensing Agents Ready.

Machinery to license brewers throughout the country was set up and put in motion by Dr. James M. Doran, industrial alcohol commissioner.

As a part of the federal beer program Dr. Doran ordered close to a thousand licensing agents to be on hand in breweries on the night of April 6 so that no delays need ensue in the outward rush of the brewers' big trucks on their way to restaurants and other places where beer will be sold over the counter and at tables.

As the first permits for the brewing of beer were granted Attorney General Cummings ruled that beer advertisements can be displayed to the thirsty at once. As long as the advertisements of beer are anticipatory and do not tend to promote illegal sales prior to one minute after midnight April 7 the department of justice will take no action against newspapers or other advertising mediums.

Railroads See More Business.

Other developments of the day included an application by the southwestern railroads for permission to reduce rates on beer shipments to meet truck competition. The application was filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission. Representatives of the roads stated they anticipated a big freight business immediately after beer goes on sale.

Government officials said that every effort would be made to administer the new law fairly. Attorney General Cummings pledged that the Roosevelt administration would not allow unfair enforcement of the prohibition laws. Dr. Doran said his department would seek to protect the legitimate brewer and dealer in beer from the old well entrenched beer racketers.

The department of justice went forward today with its inquiry to determine the feasibility of freeing federal prisoners serving sentences for sales of beer of an alcoholic content not greater than is permitted by the Cullen-Harrison beer bill. Officials said, however, that the task of segregating the beer prisoners may prove impossible.

Blanton Leads Drys' Fight.

The battle over the district beer bill went on merrily for two hours this afternoon before the measure was approved by a vote of 180 to 53. Representative Thomas Blanton [Dem., Tex.], a loquacious dry, and a small group of other southern drys furnished the opposition.

One of the sharpest developed when Representative W. D. MacFarlane [Dem., Tex.] revived some of the old stories of drinking by house members in pre-prohibition days.

Representative John J. O'Connor [Dem., N. Y.] was on his feet shouting for recognition as MacFarlane concluded.

"That story about drinking," he shouted, "has been circulated and disproved scores of times. I am surprised it should be repeated on the floor of this house. It is not true."

Cheers greeted O'Connor's defense of the house. MacFarlane offered to retract his charges.

Another amendment, which provides that persons convicted of felony should not be eligible to obtain licenses to retail beer, was approved.

POSTMASTER LUEDER TO BECOME HEAD OF BREWING COMPANY

Postmaster Arthur C. Lueder let it become known yesterday that he was to become president of a brewery. A group of business men asked him to join them in reorganizing and reestablishing one of the old breweries. The brewery was not named, but is one said to have ceased production back in 1919.

Mr. Lueder said he would not be active in the beer business until he was relieved as head of the postoffice here. He has been postmaster for eleven years, having stepped out of the job for a short time in 1923 when he received the Republican nomination for mayor but failed of election. Before his appointment he was in the real estate business.

MAYOR GREETS SHAW ON ARRIVAL IN SAN FRANCISCO

San Francisco, Cal., March 23.—(AP)—George Bernard Shaw, Irish dramatist, arrived in San Francisco tonight on the round the world liner Empress of Britain for his first visit to America. He jested with Mayor Angelo J. Rossi of San Francisco of the official welcoming party as he superintended the setting up of Klieg lights by cameramen.

Shaw told Rossi he was glad to be welcomed by a civic official because he preferred "not to see crowds but to learn how a city is kept."

Shaw denied he had said he never planned to come to America.

Staring at Girls Brings Threat of Deportation

Jacob Polk, 48 years old, 1618 South Central Park avenue, stared so earnestly at girls in the La Salle-Wacker building at 221 North La Salle street yesterday that they became annoyed and called the police. Polk was arrested and taken to the 2d district police station. There it was discovered he had a police record, also that he was an alien who had neglected to take out his final naturalization papers. The police said they would investigate with a view to having him deported.

Report True Bill Found Against Youth's Slayer

Walter S. Morton, 31 years old, 5037 North Ashland avenue, was reported to have been named by the grand jury yesterday in a true bill charging manslaughter. The charge grew out of the death of George Staudt, 16 years old, 1522 Hollywood avenue, on March 12. The youth was in Morton's car in front of the latter's home, apparently trying to start the engine, when Morton fired from a window and fatally wounded him. A coroner's jury ordered Morton held on a charge of manslaughter.

ROB CARTAGE COMPANY OFFICE.

Four robbers obtained $18 last night in the office of the Verkler Cartage company, 942 Crosby street, after threatening several employes. They took the money from the cash box.

BEGIN TO BOTTLE NEW 3.2 BEER IN CHICAGO TODAY

The bottling of real beer will begin in Chicago today. Within a week the great pasteurizing, filling, labelling and crowning units of Chicago's seven breweries will have turned out hundreds of thousands of cases of the new 3.2 beer.

The Schoenhofen company will begin bottling at 7 o'clock this morning and run two 8 hour shifts, filling 14,000 cases, or about 1,000 barrels of beer, a day. Other breweries had not determined the exact day they will start to bottle their product, but all said it would be within a week. The Atlas company will begin next week, bottling 20 to 25 thousand cases a day and the Prima company, in a few days, will begin on a schedule of 3,000,000 bottles a day, officials of the brewery said yesterday.

200,000 Barrels in Storage.

The brewers estimated that about 200,000 barrels of 3.2 beer is now in the storage vats of the seven concerns, waiting to be run off into barrels or bottles. The brewers were authorized to start bottling yesterday by E. C. Yellowley, supervisor of permits, but no company was prepared.

Some wanted to get the red tape of license requirements, manufacturing and wholesale and retail distribution cleared up. Others wanted their beer to age a little longer. Lager beer should be aged two months before bottling.

Mr. Yellowley's inspectors spent yesterday measuring the aging tanks of the breweries, so that when they begin drawing off the beer for bottling the number of barrels may be readily computed for internal revenue purposes. The vats are kept under lock and the inspectors have the keys, so that the brewer must call the government men before drawing off the beer.

The inspectors make out a certificate for the collector of internal revenue, stating the number of barrels bottled, and the collector then takes $5 a barrel from the deposit already put up by the brewer. The same process will be followed in the case of barreled beer until the new $5 stamps are issued, after which the stamps will be placed on the barrels.

Pay Manufacturer's Fee.

The brewers will pay a manufacturer's license fee of $1,000, $5 excise tax on each barrel, probably wholesaler's and retailer's license fees to the city and some state tax yet to be determined. The talk on the state tax has ranged from 1 cent a gallon, or 32 cents a barrel, to $1 a barrel.

On this basis the brewers have established a tentative price of $15 a barrel to the retailer, which would enable him to sell eight ounce glasses for 5 cents with a profit of $9, there being about 480 such glasses to a barrel. However, since the retailers must pay a $300 beverage dispenser's license fee, amounting to about $3 a barrel if he sells an average of two barrels a week, the price is expected to be a little more than 5 cents for 8 ounces, probably 10 cents for a 12 ounce stein.

The beer is expected to retail at 15 cents a bottle and from $2.40 to $2.50 a case, around 10 cents a bottle, for home deliveries. The actual cost of labor and materials in the making of a barrel of beer is not more than $1, according to the Chicago representative of a large Milwaukee brewery.

31 Permits Issued.

Supervisor Yellowley yesterday issued 31 temporary permits for brewers to begin making 3.2 beer for sale after April 6, when they will receive permanent permits. Forty other applications from brewing concerns in the Chicago district, which includes Wisconsin, Illinois, and Indiana, are pending, he said. Of those licensed yesterday eight are in Illinois, seven of them in Chicago, and twenty-three are in Wisconsin. The Chicago breweries are:

Atlas Brewing Co., 2107 Blue Island avenue.
Bosworth Products Co., 2336 Bosworth avenue.
Frank McDemott, 3435 South Racine avenue.
Monarch Beverage Co., 2419 West 21st street.
The Prima Co., 825 Blackhawk street.
The Schoenhofen Co., 1900 West 18th street.
United States Brewing Co., 2319 Elston avenue.

HAPPY DAYS AGAIN FOR DAN; GETS OLD BARTENDER JOB BACK

When old timers step up to the Hotel Sherman bar for their first stein of the new beer, they probably will drink to the bartender for old acquaintanceship's sake. Yesterday Dan Monyahan went to Frank Bering of the hotel management and asked for a bartender's job. He got it.

Monyahan started as a bartender at the Sherman in 1892 and continued as such for 28 years—until prohibition took his job away. Yesterday he was certain happy days were here again as he inspected the newest and latest styles of bar equipment. During his long service he was known to every one in the neighborhood of the Sherman who came in for their daily stein of beer at the main bar.

Has His Beer Ready; Waits for Uncle Sam to Say 'Go!'

Seattle, Wash., March 23.—(AP)—Dick Dixon, newspaper composing room employé, has it all planned how he will celebrate beer's return at midnight April 6. For more than 17 years, ever since the state went dry, Dixon has carefully preserved a bottle of 4.25 per cent beer in the basement of his home. "It will be a quiet ceremony," Dixon said. "At 12:01 o'clock, April 7, I will pry the cap off, raise the bottle to my lips and drink. I'll take care of the matter all alone, thank you."

SPEED ILLINOIS LAW TO CONTROL SALE OF BEER

House Committee Works on Details of Plan.

BY PARKE BROWN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., March 23.—[Special.]—Following preliminary sparring a subcommittee of the Illinois house of representatives committee on license and regulation today prepared to work out the details of the state law regulating the sale of post-Volstead brew.

More than a score of amendments to the pending bill have been placed in the hands of the subcommittee with the expectation that a solution of all of the problems will be worked out by April 6 at the latest, the general belief being that the new beer will start to flow on the following day.

No Real Friction.

There is no real friction among the lawmakers as to the main provisions of the state regulatory measure. There are differences of opinion concerning some of its provisions, but it is expected these all will be ironed out in time for final action by the house and concurrence by the senate next week.

The license committee subcommittee assigned to this task today by Chairman William W. Powers is pronouncedly a wet group. It includes Representatives Matt Franz, Chicago, chairman: Lager, Henneberry, Coia, Libonati, Noonan, McClugage, Jenkins, and Ruddy.

Possibly the most important question before the subcommittee is that of the license fee, both state and community, which is to be charged against the new beer. There is a general feeling that these charges may raise the price of beer per glass beyond the reach of the workingman.

Among the amendments pending are these:

1. To fix the license fee for dispensaries at not to exceed $200, except in Chicago and Cook county, where the fee is not to exceed $300.

2. To impose a state tax of $100 per year upon persons engaged in the sale at retail of malt or vinous beverages, other than upon railroad cars, boats, or vessels. For the latter the license fee is $100, paid to the department of finance.

3. To require each person desiring a license to execute a penal bond. For the state the bond shall be $500, and in the case of other licenses an amount fixed by the issuing authority.

4. To prohibit jobbers or their agents from procuring licenses of any kind and from equipping the place of business of a licensee.

One Requires $5,000 Bond.

5. To require distributors to secure a permit from the department of finance and to furnish a $5,000 bond.

6. To impose a tax of 2 cents a gallon "on all malt and vinous beverages sold by such distributor in the course of such business."

7. To require distributors to make a return under oath to the department of finance between the first and fifteenth day of the next calendar month after the taking effect of the act showing the amount of beer and wine sold and paying the tax.

8. To require distributors to keep complete and accurate records of sales.

9. Permitting the department to make such reasonable rules and regulations as may be necessary for the administration of its duties under the act.

The subcommittee will start actual deliberations next Tuesday.

FEAR N. Y. WILL NOT GET LEGAL BEER ON APRIL 7

Governor, Legislators Are in Row Over Bill.

Albany, N. Y., March 24 [Friday].—[Special.]—Gov. H. H. Lehman and the Democratic and Republican leaders of the legislature, after a conference which came to a close shortly before 2 o'clock this morning, failed to reach an agreement on legislation for control and sale of beer.

Senator John J. Dunnigan, Democratic leader, returning from the conversation at the executive mansion, said there had been frank exchanges of views on points at issue in connection with the proposed regulatory measures and that some progress had been made.

Hopeful to Agree on Bill.

It was admitted by one of the conferees that no definite agreement had been reached on any detail of the bill, but it was asserted that legislative chiefs of the two major parties and the governor were hopeful that a measure mutually acceptable to him and them could be evolved in time for introduction today.

Meanwhile it was predicted in an official quarter that in all probability the state would not be in a position to provide prospective consumers with beer legalized by congress by April 7, when the federal statute giving sanction to 3.2 per cent beer becomes effective, but would be able to do so shortly thereafter.

Beer Bill Is Delayed.

Lansing, Mich., March 23. — [Special.]—Michigan's chances of obtaining legalized beer April 7 were considered poor today.

Members of the house liquor traffic committee revealed that the Baginski-Bischoff bill to modify the state prohibition law to permit beverages of 3.2 per cent alcoholic content probably will never be reported.

Smothering of that measure in committee is in line with the program of Gov. William A. Comstock to await a most comprehensive prohibition law revision now being framed by a special committee appointed some time ago.

The governor wants this state to be among the first to line up for repeal of the 18th amendment. Any action which would jeopardize that goal is opposed. The people vote April 3 on the question of and delegates for a repeal ratification convention.

Iowa Senate for Repeal.

Des Moines, Ia., March 23.—[Special.]—Knocking down all hostile amendments, the Iowa senate this afternoon passed a constitutional convention bill on prohibition repeal.

Louisiana Repeals Dry Laws.

Baton Rouge, La., March 24 [Friday.]—(AP)—The house of representatives of the Louisiana legislature early today passed the Dugas senate bill repealing the Hood state prohibition law and sent it to Gov. O. K. Allen for his signature. The vote was 78 to 13. The action permits the sale of beer in Louisiana April 13. The bill previously had passed the senate.

Minnesota Ready to Act.

St. Paul, Minn., March 23.—(AP)—A regulatory beer measure permitting the manufacture and sale of "non-alcoholic beverages," with no alcoholic content mentioned, was passed by the Minnesota house of representatives, 99 to 29, late today. The bill, passed Tuesday by the senate, now goes back to the upper house for action on a minor amendment. Wet leaders declared the amended measure would be acted on in time to permit signing by the governor before midnight April 6.

It's Legal in Missouri.

Jefferson City, Mo., March 23.—(AP)—The Missouri senate voted 18 to 13 in favor of repeal of the state prohibition law today. Representative Edgar J. Keating, majority leader of the house, said:

"They might as well keep it over there, as the house won't pass an outright repeal measure this session."

Missouri already has legalized the sale of 3.2 per cent beer.

Maine Senate for Beer.

Augusta, Me., March 23.—(AP)—The senate without debate today accepted and passed an amendment to legalize the manufacture, sale, and transportation of beer in Maine, often called "the birthplace of prohibition."

Considerable opposition was expected in the house.

Legalizes Repeal Session.

Columbus, O., March 23.—(AP)—Gov. White late today signed the bill providing for a state convention to pass on federal prohibition repeal. The bill calls for election of 52 delegates-at-large next November. The convention will be held four weeks later, Dec. 5.

Acting Mayor Frank Corr was guest of honor last night at a stag party given in the Cameo room of the Morrison hotel by the Iroquois club of Chicago, Chicago's oldest Democratic organization. Boxing matches were a feature of the program. Irvin Rooks, president, presided.

Mr. and Mrs. Corr will be guests at the annual banquet of the Women's Bar Association of Illinois tomorrow night in the Drake hotel. Other guests will be Norman Hapgood, Judge Lila Neuenfelt of Dearborn, Mich., and Charles P. Megan, president of the Chicago Bar association. Mrs. Bertha L. MacGregor, president of the Women's Bar association, will preside.

IS FREE LUNCH TO RETURN? BEER DRINKERS INQUIRE

Recall Savory Dishes of Bygone Days.

Beer drinkers of bygone days yesterday recalled the free lunch that formerly was had without the formality of asking and wondered if it would return. Who can tell?

In the free lunch days, the old-timers said, loop bars abounded in tidbits that tempted even a dyspeptic. Outlying beer dispensaries had their appetizers and their substantial meals, more or less cheerfully given to the beer purchasers. Every beer emporium furnished iced radishes, green onions, pickled beets, sliced tomatoes—and where could one go without having a pretzel bowl within reach?

Caviar sandwiches abounded in the more pretentious places. Piping hot fried oysters were ready in season in many places. Crisp potato pancakes that melted in the mouth were free with a glass of beer. Cheese straws and French fried potatoes were munched between beer sips.

And Juicy Fried Chicken.

There were places where the juciest and tenderest morsels of fried chicken were offered day and night. Every beer store downtown had spiced hams and joints of roast beef from which an employé would gladly cut a generous slice for the patron.

Roast turkey was served in season—on holidays—all the trimmings accompanying a big helping. Venison, bear meat, wild ducks, and other game were served gratis with 5 cent beer. Old timers also recalled with joy the fine cheese and sausage to be had wherever beer was on sale.

It was an epicure's delight until, a few years before the war, the saloonkeepers made up their minds that the free lunch was too expensive. A city ordinance was passed prohibiting free lunch. It was proclaimed as a health measure. After that the food served with beer was better, if possible, but a small sum was charged for it.

What About New Bars?

The question heard in many quarters now is: Will there be free lunch with the new beer? Those having an idea on the subject yesterday conjectured that there will not be. The old ordinance, of course, is no longer in effect.

"It will cost $2,000 at least to fit up a beer store," said an expert on the subject. "If the place is downtown the rent will be about $200 a month. Daily expenses would be about as follows: License, $1; porter, $1.50; two bartenders, $10; linen, 60 cents; ice, $1.50; breakage and replacements, $3; electricity, 50 cents; gas (if any cooking is done), $1.50.

"A barrel of beer is supposed to contain 31 gallons, but really it holds only 30 gallons or 480 glasses, 8 ounces to a glass. The expected price now is $15 a barrel. At ten cents a glass the most that can be realized from a barrel is $48. But there is a large loss per barrel and a reasonable expectation is that the proprietor could realize $35 a barrel. His daily expense is $18.50 without taking into account his own time or interest on his investment. Even a place selling two barrels of beer a day couldn't afford to give free lunch."

Acting Mayor Corr is to confer today with city officials and chairmen of city council committees regarding ordinances to regulate the sale of beer.

NO CHICAGOANS TO BE FREED BY BEER AMNESTY

The proposed federal program to liberate all prohibition prisoners who are serving sentences imposed solely for the possession, sale, transportation, or manufacture of beer will have little or no effect on prisoners from the Chicago district, it was disclosed in a survey made yesterday.

At present there are 270 prisoners serving sentences imposed in the federal courts of Chicago. An estimated 60 per cent were sentenced for prohibition law violations. But none of them is serving a sentence for a beer violation alone.

In Chicago the manufacture and transportation of beer has been closely allied to the distilled liquor industry. Most of the beer has been handled by the large syndicates which also have handled the hard liquor traffic. As a result the arrests and convictions have been on conspiracy charges.

District Attorney Dwight H. Green said yesterday that no accurate summary of the beer and liquor cases is at hand.

ASK 139 MILLION IN BONDS TO OBEY DIVERSION EDICT

Sanitary Board to Appeal to Legislature.

The sanitary district of Chicago will ask the state legislature next week for authority to issue sanitary district bonds to the extent of $139,000,000 to complete the sewage disposal program ordered by the United States Supreme court, Thomas J. Bowler, president of the district, revealed yesterday. In his report to the Supreme court on Wednesday Special Master Edward F. McClennen of Boston recommended that the state of Illinois appropriate funds necessary for the project.

The master's report was ordered by the Supreme court in connection with the application of Wisconsin, Minnesota, Ohio, and Michigan for action to compel the sanitary district to complete the program and reduce water diversion to 1,500 cubic feet per second by the end of 1938, ordered by the court in 1930. At hearings held by the master in Chicago local officials explained that the district was without funds to bring the construction up to date because taxes had not been collected.

No Referendum Contemplated.

The bond issue proposed by Mr. Bowler would be without referendum, the securities bearing probably 6 per cent interest. Included in the bill to be introduced in the legislature, which was drafted by William Rothmann, attorney for the district, is a provision that the district may also issue $16,000,000 in refunding bonds to replace the bonds on which it has defaulted.

"In the past sanitary district bonds have paid 4½ per cent interest," said Mr. Bowler. "With these new bonds, issued at 6 per cent, an attractive investment will be offered to large banking syndicates."

Meanwhile Attorney Rothmann and his staff were plunging into the task of preparing for a hearing on the master's report before the Supreme court on April 17. The issues in the case are without precedent for the most part and involve the rights of the sovereign state of Illinois.

Says Court Loses Jurisdiction.

Mr. Rothmann took the view that the Supreme court had lost jurisdiction in the matter with the opening of the Illinois waterway.

The power over water diversion for the district is now in the hands of congress, according to Mr. Rothmann. In the rivers and harbors act of 1930 congress accepted the amount of diversion fixed in the Supreme court decree, but also provided that the army engineers should report how much is needed to make the Illinois waterway a commercial success.

Whether the Supreme court has the power to direct a state legislature to levy a tax, as is proposed in the master's report, has never been decided, Mr. Rothmann said.

Virginia Case Similar.

One case, which has the closest bearing on the present controversy, is the judgment suit of the state of Virginia against the state of West Virginia, Mr. Rothmann said. When West Virginia separated from Virginia, the former state agreed to assume a proportionate share of the bonded debt.

In 1915 Virginia was granted a judgment of $12,393,929 by the Supreme court, but West Virginia failed to make payment. Virginia then asked for a mandamus to compel the West Virginia legislature to levy a tax for the debt.

What would have happened had the Supreme court mandamused a state legislature was never brought to issue for in an extraordinary session on April 1, 1919, the West Virginia legislature made provisions to pay up the judgment.

TRAIN KILLS WOMEN IN AUTO.

Elwood, Ind., March 23.—[Special.]—Mrs. Ocie Jones, 33, was killed, and Mrs. Mary Thomas, 42, was seriously injured when their automobile was struck by a northbound passenger train here this afternoon. The women were on their way to a club meeting.

AT LAST!

PILES

ACTUALLY REDUCED WITHOUT SURGERY!

Now it is possible to do more than merely soothe Piles. Now it is possible actually to reduce the swollen or enlarged blood vessels, which Piles are, without the cost of an operation. Now, for the first time, a home medicinal treatment is available which not only stops the pain and itching of Piles, but at the same time actually shrinks the enlarged veins.

Pazo Ointment is a complete and effective treatment for Piles because it does three things. It soothes the sore and inflamed parts. It heals the irritated and torn membrane and tissue. It shrinks or reduces the swollen blood vessels. Thus, it not merely relieves Piles, but actually tends to correct the condition as a whole. The relief you seek is supplied in Pazo Ointment—and the method of application. (See picture below.) Thousands say that Pazo gave them the first real relief they ever had from Piles. Thousands say it saved them the need of a painful operation. One trial of Pazo will convince you that it is YOUR relief, too! All drug stores sell Pazo Ointment in the Collapsible Tube with Special Pile Pipe, complete for 75c. Try it today.

Perforated Pile Pipe Attached to Collapsible Tube Makes Application Correct and Easy

The PAZO Collapsible Tube and Perforated Pile Pipe make it very easy to apply the Ointment high up in rectum, where it can reach and thoroughly cover all the affected parts. Complete interior treatment in all cases of Piles is plainly important.

SENATORIAL IMMUNITY TO BE LONG'S PLEA IN ANSELL SLANDER SUIT

Washington, D. C., March 23.—(AP)—Senator Long of Louisiana indicated today in District of Columbia Supreme court that he would invoke his congressional immunity as a defense in the $500,000 slander suit brought against him by Samuel T. Ansell, former judge advocate general of the army.

Ansell brought his suit as a result of statements by Long in an address in the senate.

In his answer, filed today, Long asked that Ansell make his declaration more definite as to the exact place and time of the utterance alleged to be slanderous.

Long's answer contended that if the words were spoken on the floor of the senate the senator would not be held liable for them in a slander proceeding.

BANDITS HOLD 6 CAPTIVE; $4,000 TAKEN TO GANG

While eating breakfast with his family yesterday in his home at 6250 North Talman avenue, Lee Schimberg, member of the investment securities firm of Schimberg, Trahan & Co., 120 South La Salle street, was called to the front door. Three men, well dressed and carrying revolvers, forced their way into the apartment.

"We know you have $16,000 at your office," said one of them. "We want you to telephone and have it brought out here."

Schimberg denied having any such sum, but finally admitted that he could obtain $4,000. It was delivered three hours later. In the meantime the bandits kept Schimberg and four members of his family prisoners in the dining room.

Shortly before Roy W. Ander, cashier of the securities firm, arrived with the money, Benjamin Trahan, the other partner of the firm, arrived to inquire after Mr. Schimberg's health. He was ordered into the dining room with the others. Before leaving with the money the robbers herded their prisoners into a bedroom and locked the door.

HEAR POLITICIAN WHO EVADED JAIL WILL SURRENDER

Suspend Deputy for Failing to Find Koppel.

Sam Koppel, a west side Democratic precinct captain, who has been a fugitive from justice since last November, is expected to walk into Sheriff Meyering's Criminal court office this morning and surrender. James G. Gabriel, chief bailiff of the Criminal court, said yesterday that he has confidential information that Koppel will surrender this morning, and if not then surely tomorrow morning.

Koppel is under sentence of one year in the Bridewell on a charge of obstructing justice by attempting to bribe and scare off a state's witness in a robbery case. After his conviction on April 14, 1932, in Judge George Fred Rush's Criminal court, he announced his intention of appealing the case, but failed to perfect the record. A $1,500 cash bond was forfeited last Nov. 26 and since that time no trace of him has been descovered by the sheriff.

Takes Part in Election.

Residents of the west side recently wrote to the Chicago crime commission wanting to know why Koppel, who they say worked diligently at the polls in the last election, was not serving the sentence imposed on him.

Sheriff Meyering's employés said they could not find him, although a deputy made frequent visits to 1416 South Springfield avenue and 1332 South Harding avenue, the addresses where he was supposed to reside. Arch Lewis, the deputy whose job it was to find Koppel, was temporarily suspended last evening by Sheriff Meyering pending an investigation as to whether he had been negligent. Lewis explained that he has had hundreds of legal documents to serve and that he could only devote a part of his time to searching for Koppel.

State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney yesterday said it was not the duty of his office to seize Koppel.

"Our office prosecuted and convicted Koppel. That was the end of our duties in the matter," said the prosecutor. "It is not the duty of this office to try and find him. That job is up to the police department or the sheriff."

Koppel was defended in the case by Attorney Emanuel Eller, west side Republican leader in the 20th ward and a former Superior court judge.

3 EXPERTS ON WORDS JUDGES OVER SUIT ABOUT CIGAR CONTEST

New York, March 23.—[Special.]—Three learned philologists of Columbia university are poring over a twelve letter word which is the name of a cigar, trying to decide how many standard English words it contains, and their verdict will probably decide a $1,000 suit brought by Ira Gillman of Astoria, against the Consolidated Cigar corporation.

The philologists—George Philip Krapp, Ph. D.; William Cabell Greet, Ph. D., and Harry Morgan Ayres, Ph. D.—were appointed by President Justice Edgar J. Lauer of the Municipal court as judges, and they are to report on April 3.

Some months ago the cigar company decided to have a contest with a capital prize of $1,000 for the longest list of words compiled from the name of their product which, scrambled, is "Sretsamhctud." They got 153,000 word lists and awarded the prize to George H. Cameron of River Forest, Ill., whose list of 1,100 words contained 86 of the 904 which the three philologists compiled as a master list.

Gillman's list contained 1,177 words but only 819 were accepted. The cigar company contends that the remaining 358 were not standard English words and that some contestants submitted many more than Gillman. Included in the papers in the case is Gillman's list, including such little beauties as "smeath," meaning a small merganser, "crame," to peddle small wares, and "desma," a stout, irregular spicule formed by precipitation of silica on a spicular nucleus.

HELD ON CHARGE OF THREATENING COL. LINDBERGH

Miami, Fla., March 23.—(AP)—Gilford Clobridge, 35, formerly of Staten Island, N. Y., was arrested here today and charged with sending Col. Charles A. Lindbergh at Hopewell, N. J., an extortion letter demanding $50,000.

He also was charged with attempting to send through the mails a pint of liquor to Federal Judge Halsted L. Ritter.

The Lindbergh extortion letter was disclosed while Edgar O. Jones, post office inspector, investigated the discovery of the pint of liquor in the mails. The letter written to Col. Lindbergh was sent here by Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf of the New Jersey state police.

Attached to the liquor package was a note reading:

"Take a good drink of this; will do you good," and signed "Nan," which Clobridge said was his wife's nickname.

DOES RHEUMATIC AGONY DRIVE YOU CRAZY?

You cannot hope to get lasting relief from cruel, crippling rheumatic aches and pains if you are a slave to laxative drugs.

Medical authorities make no secret of the fact that often sluggish bowels contribute the poisons and acid conditions which result in painful, swollen, inflamed limbs and joints. You must stop these poisons at the source.

The Cream of Nujol treatment does this at a cost of only a few cents a day. Doctors specially recommend this new form of Nujol treatment for those suffering from rheumatic conditions. Cream of Nujol lubricates laxative-dried bowels, gives them new elasticity and activity, so that poisonous wastes are thrown off daily by natural peristaltic action. The new harmless Cream of Nujol treatment will make you regular as clockwork and will not interfere with your work or your play. Moreover, it is delicious and easy to take. Get Cream of Nujol tonight at any drug counter.

NEW MARKETS AWAIT ADEQUATE BARGE SERVICE

Midwest, Far West, and South Due to Benefit.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Commercial experts, dwelling upon the traffic possibilities of the Illinois waterway, now open for navigation, pointed out yesterday that inland towns in the states of the upper Mississippi valley and the great lakes basin will be able to seek new markets through lower haulage costs as fast as barge service is developed. The rapidity with which private waterway carriers are put into operation and expanded, they set forth, is likely to depend upon the shippers themselves in making known that cargoes are available.

The states of Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa, Michigan, Minnesota, the Dakotas, Ohio, Indiana, Kansas, and Nebraska, in the opinion of the shipping authorities, will all derive transportation benefits from the lakes-to-gulf route. The new waterway passage, through the Chicago gateway, gives opportunities to capture new markets in Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Louisiana, Missouri, Mississippi, and Alabama and in Central and South America.

Benefits for Pacific Coast.

By easing the constriction of the Panama canal, which has given the seaboard the advantage of low transportation rates from Atlantic ports to those on the Pacific, the coast states, California, Washington, and Oregon, as inland water transportation develops, it was pointed out, will derive mutual advantages with the middle west from the waterway, while the southern states, will have cheaper outlets into the north.

Word from Washington yesterday was that extension of the river service of the government controlled Inland Waterways corporation from the Mississippi river over the Illinois waterway to Chicago within three months will be recommended to the war department by Maj. Gen. Thomas G. Ashburn, chairman of the corporation. Decision as to whether the operations of the barge lines activities are to be extended rests with the secretary of war. Formal opening of the waterway is set for June 15, a day of celebration up and down the valley, and Gen. Ashburn has decided to ask that the barge service be extended into Chicago about the same time.

Favor Publishing Through Rates.

It is contended by many that the government should get out of the barge business, now that the waterway is finished. Shippers yesterday pointed out that if the extension of service is granted, through rates can be published via Chicago, which will demonstrate how the water haul is a saving to shippers.

The through rate, traffic experts said, will apply via Chicago to all the western trunk line territory. The through rate, for rail and barge carrying, is 20 per cent less than the rail rate over the portion of the journey which is made by river.

A three way rate, rail-barge-rail, would give shippers in inland towns in Wisconsin, Michigan, Indiana and other midwest states, the advantage of a 20 per cent cut in carrying charges for the distance the freight is carried by barge.

Negotiate for Cargoes.

Negotiations are now reported for cargoes of sulphur from Texas to be used in paper mills in Wisconsin and Michigan. In the Gary region 600,000 tons is reported as being contracted for haulage by the waterway to southern points. Meanwhile private barge lines are preparing for an expansion in the carrying of grain. For years there has been a considerable volume picked up by barges at points along the Illinois river and then shipped by rail from Pekin and Peoria and other points. Traffic experts estimate that a saving of at least 3 cents a bushel is being made in the grain now transported by water.

Among one group of shippers yesterday there was discussion of using a combination of trucks and barges to get into old market territory which has been lost to seaboard competitors by reason of the Panama canal. It was suggested that trucks might be loaded in Chicago or in Wisconsin, Indiana and Michigan towns, and then placed on barges for transportation to river ports between Chicago and New Orleans.

The trucks would leave the barges under their own power and the concrete roads, now running everywhere, would bring remote points into the zone of trade. For some months a similar process has been going on by rail, loaded trucks being placed on railroad cars and carried from Chicago to St. Louis.

WITNESS IN TRIAL

MAE MURRAY.
[Acme Photo.]

New York, March 23.—[Special.]—The $250,000 damage suit brought by Mae Murray, the dancer and motion picture actress, against the Fox Theaters corporation and three other organizations for a foot injury allegedly suffered in a Fox theater on Dec. 1, 1928, went to trial today before Supreme Court Justice Peter Schmuck and a jury.

Miss Murray took the stand immediately after counsel for either side had outlined their cases to the jury and described the manner in which she allegedly injured her foot with the result that her dancing work was hampered for several months.

Ever since the alleged accident, she said, she has had to wear low heels, and for dancing has had to use specially constructed slippers. The injury changed her natural gait, she insisted.

FRANCE HUSHES DEBT TALK; WAITS FOR U. S. STAND

Enthusiasm for Payment Takes Sudden Drop.

PARIS, March 23.—(AP)—Payment of the defaulted $19,261,482 war debt payment, owed to the United States since last Dec. 15, appeared to be going into an eclipse tonight.

A message from Premier Daladier to members of the Socialist party saying he would not act until the American policy was made fully known, and a sudden drop in enthusiasm on the part of many deputies made a majority for a pending resolution calling for the payment appear impossible.

Deputy Rene Richard last Saturday introduced such a resolution, mentioning in a preamble what he characterized as a money and credit crisis in America.

Denies United Front.

The decision of the premier to await definite knowledge of the American attitude on war debts was conveyed to the Socialists today by Deputy Pierre Renaudel. The deputy explained he had been informed by the premier that many deputies and a number of ministers had urged payment, but he thought it wise to await a clear definition of American policy.

Meanwhile Georges Bonnet, minister of finance, denied that a united front on the American debt issue had been formed by Great Britain and France. During a recent visit to London in connection with the forthcoming world economic conference, debts were not discussed, he said.

Socialists Block Payment.

Payment last Dec. 15 was defeated by Socialist opposition, and advocates of the present resolution have admitted that heavy Socialist support was necessary.

Renaudel also confirmed opposition of the French premier to the four power peace plan proposed by Premier Mussolini last week end at Rome in conferences with Prime Minister MacDonald of Great Britain.

The deputy, who talked with Daladier before the Socialist meeting, said the premier believed France would be confronted by two revisionist powers, Germany and Italy, seeking changes in post-war treaties, under the plan, making French opposition to revision dependent upon the support of Great Britain. Some structure within the league of nations, where other support could be found by France, was favored by Daladier, the spokesman said.

DOCTOR ACCIDENTALLY SHOT.

INDIANA FLOOD WATER SPREADS OVER WIDE AREA; HEAVY DAMAGE

Indianapolis, Ind., March 23.—[Special.]—Flood waters were believed tonight to have reached their crest at Ohio river towns in Indiana from Madison to New Albany. Lower down in its course the Ohio continued to rise slowly and spread over a wide area of bottom lands.

Caring for flood refugees continued to tax efforts of relief associations at New Albany, where 1,399 persons now are listed as receiving food or coal.

Madison, where the Ohio river began receding after reaching 56 feet, estimated its loss to be at least $100,000.

Evansville, where a stage of more than 45 feet is expected, tonight reported flood water threatens damage to the Indiana approach to the Indiana-Kentucky bridge. Sandbags bolster the approach on the Kentucky side.

Tobinsport in eastern Perry county is isolated by the spreading Ohio. Mail is carried in on small boats. Schools at Tobinsport, Derby, and Union township in Perry county are closed.

WOMAN DEBTOR JAILED AS RESULT OF DOCTOR'S SUIT

Mrs. Lydia Rowland, 68 years old, 2151 Warren avenue, a chiropractor, was sent to the county jail yesterday by Judge J. G. Van Keuren in the County court after he had dismissed her petition to be declared an insolvent debtor.

The petition was dismissed on the representation of Dr. John O'Neil, 2148 Washington boulevard. Several years ago Dr. O'Neil, a physician, treated Mrs. Rowland during a long illness, and submitted a bill of $2,799. Mrs. Rowland paid him $404 and gave him a mortgage on her home for the balance.

Dr. O'Neil discovered, however, that through flaws in the mortgage he was unable to foreclose on the property. He sued and obtained a judgment against Mrs. Rowland, charging that she had "fraudulently and maliciously" given him the defective mortgage. Under the so-called malice clause in the verdict he obtained an order committing her to jail for nonpayment of the judgment.

Does His Wife's Reducing in His Own Quaint Way

Mrs. Helen Kley, 6023 North Maplewood avenue, was using a reducing machine in the basement of her mother's home. Her husband, Herbert, hauled her out of the machine and turned her over his knee with the remark, "If there's any reducing to be done in this family I'll do it in my own way." She cited the incident as an instance of cruelty yesterday in receiving an uncontested divorce decree from Judge Walter T. Stanton in the Superior court.

Star Student in Village High School Is Missing

Chicago police were asked early today to assist in the search for Lois Nelson, 16 years old, an honor student in the York High school in Villa Park. She failed to return home from school yesterday, and her father, Louis Nelson, reported her missing. Teachers and schoolmates joined in the search of the roads and country side between her home, 550 South Yale street, Villa Park, and the school. Police fear the girl, a reputed beauty, has been kidnaped or is suffering from amnesia.

TAX BOARD TOLD IT LACKS POWER TO ORDER 15% CUT

Courtney Will Be Asked for an Opinion.

George F. Nixon and Fred W. Brummel, members of the board of tax appeals, were informed yesterday by leading tax attorneys that they lack legal power to order a blanket 15 per cent cut in 1931 assessments on residences and small flat buildings which they did on Wednesday. At the close of a conference on the subject George W. Lennon, attorney for Mr. Nixon, admitted that it "might be advisable" to ask State's Attorney Courtney for an opinion as to the legal status of the order.

Assessor Jacobs, who on Wednesday informed the appeals board members that their order was illegal and that he would therefore ignore it, called a conference on the subject in his office, which was attended by members of the citizens' committee on public expenditures, of the assessor's own advisory committee, and by attorneys for various local governments and public officials. At the invitation of Mr. Nixon and Mr. Brummel the meeting was moved to their office.

Powers of the Tax Board.

The discussion there turned on the exact powers of the board under the section of the Kelly law creating the board, which sets forth that the board "may, upon the complaint of any taxpayer, revise the entire assessment, or any part thereof, of any taxpayer."

"The board overlooked the three vital words, 'of any taxpayer,'" declared County Attorney Hayden N. Bell. "They may act only upon individual complaints under this section. The blanket order is a usurpation of power which might subject Mr. Nixon and Mr. Brummel to fines of $10,000 and removal from office."

"You're neglecting the construction of the word 'entire,'" said Attorney Lennon. "The board of appeals may revise the entire assessment, or any part of it. That means the entire assessment roll, and not one property."

"That means the land and building portions of any particular assesment," disputed Attorney Bell. "In order to reach your decision, you have to throw out the three words 'of any taxpayer,' and that's what you did."

"We've been through hell, as everybody knows," Corporation Counsel Sexton told the board members. "We met our adversaries in the County court, the Circuit, Superior, Appellate, and Illinois Supreme courts, and in the United States Supreme court, and we were successful. Now that litigation seems to be over, and we think we have reached the downward portion of the road, leading to an easier path.

Whether There Is Power.

"We are here to discuss, not whether your order had any merits, but whether you had any power to issue it. I don't want to be understood as opposing a decrease in taxes for anybody. But what we want is a legal, valid assessment roll, so that we won't have to travel the road of strife again.

"What you ought to do is ask an opinion from the state's attorney. If the board has the power, fine. If the penalties for nonpayment of the first would have to be settled in court, which would be most unfortunate. In that case, the best thing to do is to drop the order. I am sure you will comply with the opinion of the state's attorney."

On behalf of the Chicago Real Estate board, Attorney Daniel S. Wentworth filed yesterday in the Superior court a bill for injunction to restrain the county treasurer from collecting penalties for non-payment of the first installment of 1931 taxes before April 3.

$3,859,005 TAXES COLLECTED IN DAY, MOSTLY BY MAIL

Tax payments totaling $3,859,005 were recorded yesterday in the office of County Treasurer McDonough.

The majority of the payments were on the first installment of 1931 real estate taxes, and were received by mail before March 15, the penalty date. Because every available clerk in the treasurer's office was required to receive the payments of the thousands of taxpayers who descended on the office to make payments in person in the final days before the penalty date, no attention was given to mail payments until after that time.

Since then the majority of the mail payments have been recorded. George Hagenauer, auditor of the office, said that the complete collections of the city towns before the first installment penalty date would probably be known late today. The present total of city town collections is $37,524,929, of which a considerable proportion, however, consists of second installment payments by small taxpayers who paid their bills in full.

The country town collectors, thirty in number, have taken in approximately $9,000,000 to date. They are no. required to return their tax books to the treasurer, who will continue the collections, for another week.

CANADIAN COURT DELAYS HEARING IN INSULL CASE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TORONTO, Ont., March 23.—Free again under $5,000 bail, Martin J. Insull tonight returned to his Orillia boarding house while the Supreme court of Ontario adjourned indefinitely the application for his extradition to Chicago. Insull is wanted in Illinois to stand trial on charges of larceny, embezzlement and theft by bailee in connection with the collapse of the Middle West utilities company.

Justice Kingstone today refused to order Insull's deportation on the basis of depositions of evidence taken in Chicago in support of the warrant under which he was arrested. The judge will study the depositions before a date is set for resumption of the hearing. Edward Bayly, acting for Illinois, claimed a prima facie case for deportation had been established and argued that this was all that was necessary under the Canadian law.

Insull's attorneys charged bad faith and suppression of facts in the depositions secured in Chicago. They argued evidence had been suppressed which showed no such crime as was charged against Insull had been committed. The judge gave the defense permission to produce any witnesses required, but reserved a ruling on a petition that it rested with the state of Illinois to produce its witnesses.

FATHER PLEADS FOR RUTH JUDD; BEGS FOR MERCY

Phoenix, Ariz., March 23.—(AP)—A plea for "justice tempered with mercy" was made by the Rev. H. J. McKinnell today as the final witness for his daughter, Winnie Ruth Judd, who seeks to escape the gallows in the Phoenix "trunk murder" case.

The aged father made a brief statement before the Arizona board of pardons and paroles. Mrs. Judd's fate rests with the board.

Mr. McKinnell decried the fact that matters other than those pertaining to the actual slaying of Agnes Anne Leroi had been presented.

Mrs. Judd is under sentence to be hanged April 14. In her story to the board she said she killed both Mrs. Leroi and Hedvig Samuelson, in defense of her own life on the night of Oct. 16, 1931, in a fight in the kitchen of the women's duplex apartment here.

U. OF ILLINOIS CHIEF HOPING TO SAVE MORE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Urbana, Ill., March 23.—[Special.]—President Harry Woodburn Chase tonight told about fifty visiting legislators that the university is making a rapid survey to obtain further economies, while impairing as little as possible the essential work of the University of Illinois.

He pointed out that for the present biennium the university will turn back more than $2,600,000 of the $11,280,000 appropriated, due to savings of more than 25 per cent by a reduction of more than $1,200,000 in operation and by not spending $1,400,000 on the medical school building unit in Chicago.

President Chase said that while the cost of operating the university may seem large, that cost is spread over the entire state. Thus the burden on the individual taxpayer is negligible. He said the per capita cost of state government in Illinois is less than in any other state in the union.

Twenty years ago, he asserted, approximately 15 per cent of the total taxes collected from property went to the state, while about 7 per cent is the present share.

"Only about three-fourths of 1 per cent of all general property taxes levied goes to the University of Illinois. The cost of the University of Illinois to the average payer of taxes on property is less than three-quarters of a cent on the dollar of his total tax bill," President Chase said.

The University of Illinois, he added, is operated at the lowest per capita cost to the citizens of the state of any of the other great state universities. Actually the per capita cost this year is 58 cents, since the university is not spending all of its appropriation. The per capita costs of all other state universities, comparable to the University of Illinois, are in excess of 69 cents.

"The University of Illinois," he asserted, "is for all legitimate economies, but any serious attempt to reduce public expenditures should proceed through careful analysis, not through indiscriminate slashing of budgets," he said.

Vaudeville Actors Accept Pay Cuts Up to 25 Pct.

New York, March 23.—[Special.]—Wage reductions ranging upward to 25 per cent will be accepted by some 500 vaudeville actors throughout the country, beginning either tomorrow or Saturday and extending until Sept. 1. This was learned tonight from E. A. Schiller, chairman of a committee composed of managerial heads of the four major circuits, which last week made an appeal to the vaudeville artists for coöperation.

HOUSE APPROVES CUTS IN PAY OF MINOR OFFICIALS

Fight Expected Over Move to Abolish State Fair.

BY PERCY WOOD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., March 23.—[Special.]—The swing toward approval of the Burns economy program was more pronounced in the Illinois house of representatives today as three of the bills passed in an atmosphere of melting resistance.

While they would not put major salary reductions in effect, the measure passed open the way for support of the program at its first big test next Tuesday when the sponsor, Representative James T. Burns [Dem., Kankakee] will seek approval of bills to cut the pay of state officers and justices of the Supreme court.

Today's action reduced the salaries of secretaries to the Supreme judges, the marshal and librarian of the court and the fees paid masters in chancery at sales and to downstate sheriffs for serving witnesses and defendants.

Brush Between Roe and Libonati.

The proceedings were enlivened by a brush between Speaker Roe and Roland V. Libonati [Rep., Chicago], who has opposed most of the Burns program. He was in that role today while Mr. Burns was explaining the provisions of his bill to cut the court employés. Libonati fired question after question with great rapidity and gave Mr. Burns small opportunity to answer any of them.

This had not proceeded far when Speaker Roe, who disapproves of heckling, banged his gavel for silence.

"I have a right to ask a question," persisted Libonati, "and I——" the gavel's thunderous tattoo almost drowned him out, but Libonati raised his voice. Then, in the ensuing clamor, the speaker's voice cut through clearly:

Speaker Orders Him to Sit Down.

"You sit down," Mr. Roe commanded, his temper worn to threads. "I mean this now." Libonati raised his voice once more.

"Sergeant at arms!" shouted the speaker, "if the offending member does not resume his seat remove him from the floor!"

Before the sergeant at arms could carry out the order, however, Libonati desisted, smiled genially, and bowed toward the chair. "I entertain all possible respect for the authority of the speaker," he said, and this closed the incident.

In addition to voting on bills to reduce all state officers' pay from $10,000 to $7,500—save the lieutenant governor, who would be cut from $5,000 to $2,500—and that of the Supreme judges from $15,000 to $12,000, the house probably will become embroiled over another Burns bill to abolish the state fair.

Would Abolish State Fair.

This measure will be heard in the efficiency and economy committee, of which Burns is chairman. He holds that abolition of the fair would save the state $800,000 annually. His simple explanation when asked his reasons for the abolition has been, "Why a state fair?" Downstate representatives are expected to provide plenty of fireworks against this bill, both in committee and on the floor of the house.

Another bill, presented in the name of future economy for Chicago, was introduced today by Benjamin S. Adamowski [Dem., Chicago]. This was the much publicized budgetary control measure sponsored by the Sargent committee on public expenditures and Prof. Charles E. Merriam, head of the political science department at the University of Chicago. It had won the approval of the late Mayor Cermak of Chicago.

By its provisions a board of control of three members—the mayor of Chicago, president of the Cook county board and a third person, appointed by the others—would have the power of fixing the maximum amount each of the Chicago taxing bodies could spend. The units under their control would be the city, county, board of education, the park and sanitary districts, and the public library.

Broad powers in abolishing duplication of governmental services and passing upon proposed legislation would be given the board of control. This bill probably will come to the attention of the house committee on municipalities next week. The senate judiciary committee will consider Senator Earl B. Searcy's measure to consolidate state departments.

The Searcy bill would consolidate the department of mines and minerals; purchases and construction with public works and buildings; registration and education with public health and public welfare, and conservation with agriculture.

In addition it would abolish the department of finance and the positions of assistant directors and departments. Other retrenchments would include the bureau of food standards and sundry positions on the pay roll. Searcy claims that his program, if enacted, would cut down governmental costs fifteen million dollars.

Reduce Salaries and Expenses.

Mr. Burns' plan would save the same amount. It differs from Searcy's in that it would scale down expenses and salaries instead of making such extensive consolidations.

Another bill of importance was introduced by Representative William G. Thon [Rep., Chicago]. It would abolish the party circle on the ballot and group candidates' names by offices. He presented the measure at the request of the Illinois League of Women Voters, Thon said. In its behalf he claimed it would discourage election corruption and force candidates "to stand on their own merits."

Three bills introduced by R. M. Soderstrom [Rep., Streator], president of the State Federation of Labor, would limit the use of injunctions in labor disputes and prohibit "yellow dog" contracts.

ROBBED BY "STOP LIGHT" BANDITS.

Two "stop light" bandits early yesterday robbed Alfred Donohue, 1427 East 72d place, of his automobile after forcing him to drive them from Jackson boulevard and Cicero avenue to 79th street and Cicero avenue.

RULE FOR COLLECTING SALES TAX ON APRIL 1 TO BE READY MONDAY

Springfield, Ill., March 23.—[Special.]—Director Joseph J. Rice of the state department of finance, who will collect the statewide 3 per cent sales tax, beginning April 1, expects to announce tentative rules and regulations for its collection on Monday.

By next Wednesday, he said today, he hopes to have these regulations in the hands of retailers, together with a copy of the act. The law becomes operative the first of next month and collections will begin May 1. Retailers will be given until May 15, and of each succeeding month, to send in their returns.

Special Deportation Train Heads East with 100 Aliens

A special deportation train with 30 aliens from this district and approximately 70 more from western states left Chicago last night over the New York Central lines. All of the aliens from this district, comprising parts of Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin, and Iowa, were from European countries, said C. A. Palmer, director of immigration. The majority were deported for overstaying permits or because they entered by illegal means.

MORTGAGE AID PLAN APPROVED BY ROOSEVELT

Program Intended to Help Farm Owners.

"How," Speaker Rainey was asked, "would the Illinois or Iowa farmer be helped?"

"It might be done in one of two ways," the speaker replied. "The government through the farm loan bank might loan the money direct to the farmer. The farmer would pay up arrears and interest on his mortgage and arrange with the holder to purchase the mortgage at a reduced rate. The land bank would then take a new mortgage on the farmer's land. The interest rate would not be more than 5 per cent and agreement would provide for complete payment over a long term of years, probably thirty.

Sees Chance for Discount.

"It would also be possible for the land bank to purchase the mortgage direct from the insurance company or holder, paying either in cash or with a government bond. I think it would be possible to obtain the mortgages at a discount. The land bank would then give the farmer a new mortgage and collect. The big aim is to restore the farmer's purchasing power and put him on his feet so he can go ahead and make a living."

Speaker Rainey said the big insurance companies indorsed the financing program and would coöperate. It was his opinion that it would be possible to sell government bonds to finance the new mortgage plan at a low rate of interest.

DAY IN WASHINGTON

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Congress approved a bill permitting nonmember state banks and trust companies emergency borrowing from federal reserve.

House passed bill allowing sale of 3.2 per cent beer in District of Columbia to persons over 18 years of age.

President Roosevelt signed measure for $5,000,000 in Reconstruction corporation loans for California earthquake relief.

Plans were advanced by administration leaders to add farm mortgage refinancing to pending farm relief bill.

Sargent Gives Teachers Two Places on Committee

Fred W. Sargent, chairman of the citizens' committee on public expenditures, yesterday appointed two Chicago school teachers to the committee. They are Harry L. Tate, principal of Whitney Elementary school, and John Fewkes, instructor at Tilden High school. More than 200 teachers met in Mr. Sargent's office while he told them of plans to seek $15,000,000 from the Reconstruction Finance corporation for public employes' pay rolls.

PROBATION FOR RIOTER.

Found guilty of inciting a riot outside a relief station, Harold Carlson, 30 years old, 2408 North Halsted street, yesterday was fined $25. The fine was suspended by Judge R. J. Dunne and Carlson was placed on probation for six months.

HORNER DEPARTS TO SEEK RELIEF LOAN FROM R. F. C.

Public Pay Roll Advances Also to Be Sought.

Gov. Henry Horner left for Washington yesterday with Edward L. Ryerson Jr., chairman of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission, to confer with the Reconstruction Finance corporation on further loans for idle relief until revenue from the 3 per cent state sales tax becomes available. Prospects of aid under the Wagner bill are also to be canvassed.

Seek Tax Warrant Loans.

The question of loans for meeting public pay rolls is to be taken up. Federal advances are being sought for Chicago on its tax warrants, to finance overdue pay rolls of teachers, firemen, police and other employés, to be repaid as tax collections come in.

The relief commission estimates that Cook county will need $5,196,275 next month for aid of the idle, and that 65 downstate counties will need an aggregate of $1,100,000. All sources of revenue now reported by the commission as in sight will amount to only $5,332,379, and this includes a possible loan of $4,748,000 from the Reconstruction Finance corporation on Cook county relief bonds, which will exhaust the present quota available from the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

Patronage to Be a Topic.

Federal patronage is expected to be discussed during Gov. Horner's trip. Patrick A. Nash, newly elected Democratic leader of Illinois, is now in Washington. He and the governor are expected to hold conferences with Senators James Hamilton Lewis and William H. Dieterich, and later with President Roosevelt and Postmaster General James A. Farley.

Regarding a few names of possibilities for federal jobs mentioned in some of the printed reports yesterday as being sponsored by Gov. Horner, the governor remarked it was all news to him.

INVESTORS PASS UP COUNTY RELIEF BOND ISSUE OF $4,478,000

County commissioners held a special meeting yesterday to open bids for the sale of $4,478,000 of county relief bonds for the purpose of continuing idle relief. No bids were received. The commissioners notified officials of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission. The state has already obtained its full quota of $45,000,000 from the Reconstruction Finance corporation. County commissioners believe officials of the relief commission will seek to have the R. F. C. act amended so that an additional loan may be made to Illinois.

Park Ridge Man Hanged Self While Insane, Verdict

A coroner's jury yesterday returned a verdict of suicide while temporarily insane at the inquest into the death of Albert W. Bookman, 37 years old, a member of the firm of Bookman, Jantzen & Co., certified public accountants. He ended his life Wednesday night by hanging himself in the garage at the rear of his home, 523 Grand boulevard, Park Ridge.

PLAN TO AID IDLE MEN IS DEFENDED BY MISS PERKINS

Labor Secretary Appears Before Committee.

Washington, D. C., March 23.—[Special.]—Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins made her debut before a congressional committee today to defend in terse language President Roosevelt's plan to enlist 250,000 idle in a conservation corps to work on reforestation and similar projects.

FRANCES PERKINS.

She was the principal witness before a joint session of the senate and house committees dealing with labor problems at the first public hearings on the relief program.

Some of the committee members attempted unsuccessfully to draw from Miss Perkins admissions of flaws in the program as outlined by the President and incorporated in bills pending before the house and senate.

Attired in black, wearing her celebrated tricorne hat, Miss Perkins stood during her testimony. Her replies were reminiscent in tone and form of appearance of former Secretary Mills under similar circumstances, except that he went before committees to defend budget and tax proposals.

Chides Her Questioners.

While onlookers crowded the committee room, the new secretary of labor told one inquirer that his question did not "make sense" and again cautioned another to "be realistic."

Much of her testimony was recorded by sound motion picture apparatus and she testified literally in the spotlight.

The plan which she defended is considered generally as her own, and she spoke of it with authority in the face of criticism. Tomorrow the committee will receive critical testimony regarding the enlistment plan from William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor.

The principal criticisms of the bill were aimed at the wage scale of $1 a day provided for the men so enlisted, which some committee members maintained would tend to lower all wage scales.

Representative Connery of Massachusetts, chairman of the house labor committee, said flatly that he would refuse to introduce the administration bill in the house. Representative Byrns of Tennessee, house majority leader, said he would call out the measure if Mr. Connery persisted in holding it in the committee.

"Doesn't Make Sense."

Then Miss Perkins herself replied sharply to Mr. Connery's complaint:

"That doesn't make sense. If all common labor were reduced to $1 a day we would have a complete national collapse. Such labor provides the bulk of the purchasing power of the country, and I believe industrialists realize it. They know they cannot sell their output to a dried up consumption market, and that is what they would have under a dollar a day wage."

Miss Perkins went on to say that the plan is "primarily a relief measure to provide honest occupation to self-respecting Americans who have been forced to panhandling and similar practices against their will."

DIES OF SELF INFLICTED WOUND.

John Hanzel, 57 years old, 2112 South May street, died in the Bridewell hospital yesterday from self inflicted knife wounds.

FARM ASSOCIATION FILES PROTEST ON AGRICULTURAL BILL

Bloomington, Ill., March 23.—[Special.]—The Farmers' National Grain Dealers' association, through the office of the secretary, Lawrence Farlow of Bloomington, today dispatched the following telegram to Senator Ellison D. Smith, chairman of the senate committee on agriculture, in Washington, D. C.:

"The Farmers' National Grain Dealers' association, the largest farmer cooperative group, representing 900,000 farmer stockholders and patrons handling 50 per cent of all grain marketed in the surplus grain states, urgently protests against enactment of the farm relief measure before congress. It is another costly, dangerous experiment, which even its authors do not clearly understand.

"It was framed by the same group of so-called farm leaders who wrecked the last administration with the farm board. This experiment cost taxpayers 500 million dollars and farmers fully a billion dollars more in price collapse, and left the farmers' markets demoralized. The bill is a communistic setup giving autocratic power over farmers to one man. It means armies of government employes stirring up trouble for independent cooperative farmer groups who don't want to be dominated by organizers or government money. Its enforcement and operation will incur bitter opposition from farmers.

"We favor a sound farm program, easily operated, simple and effective, aiding the mortgage situation, reduced taxation, reciprocal tariff arrangements, and reduction in freight rates. Dirt farmers are strongly opposed to further experiments contained in this measure. We respectfully ask that this protest be read on the floor and placed in the congressional records."

VETERANS' GROUP BALKS AT JOINING POPPY TAG DAY

The Disabled American Veterans have sent resolutions to the Veterans' Poppy Day association voicing a refusal to join in the annual poppy tag day unless certain requirements are met by the association, it was learned yesterday. Chief among the causes of the Disabled Veterans' objections has been the use of the poppy on the united tag day instead of the forget-me-not, the symbol used heretofore on separate tag days by the Disabled Veterans.

For several years an effort has been on foot to reduce the number of tag days authorized by the city council. The Veterans' Poppy Day association was formed with the idea of holding a single veterans' tag day a year. All recognized veterans groups joined in this last year except the Disabled Veterans.

At the headquarters of the Illinois department of the Disabled Veterans it was said that the Cook county council probably would file an application with the city council to hold a separate tag day this year unless the other veterans' groups meet its terms. Forrest F. Colburn is commander of the Cook county council.

DICTATOR BILL IN CANADA PASSES SECOND READING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OTTAWA, Ont., March 23.—The government's 1933 relief bill, sanctioning 20 million dollars in direct expenditures and conveying to the government dictatorial powers to meet national emergencies, passed second reading in the house of commons today, 115 to 63, a record majority.

A former liberal minister, Fernand Ringfret, mayor of Montreal, bolted his party to vote with the government and independent agrarian members also were with the government. Five Laborites, fearing stringent steps against social reformers, voted against the bill.

ATTACKS FARM RELIEF MEASURE AS SOCIALISTIC

Horse Association Chief Sends Out Warning.

"The so-called 'farm relief' bill introduced March 16 is one of the most dangerous measures ever introduced in congress; it is state socialism."

This is the warning sent to a thousand business men and farmers yesterday in a letter written by Wayne Dinsmore, secretary of the Horse Association of America. He made a trip recently through seven states, interviewing farmers and reports that they are not interested in such schemes as this, that their chief interest is to see taxes reduced and a reduction in interest rates, without violation of contract.

Czarlike Power for Secretary.

"This bill," he says, "proposes to make the secretary of agriculture an absolute czar over the production, processing and marketing of wheat, cotton, corn, hogs, cattle, sheep, rice, tobacco, milk and other products [so-called basic agricultural commodities] and over any competing agricultural commodities, which would take in virtually everything produced on the farm.

"It would probably lead, in the end, to the employment of spies, in every industry processing or handling farm products, and in every farm neighborhood, to report violations of the law and regulations issued to enforce it, said spies to be paid a share of the penalty imposed.

"The principle of the whole bill is bad. Americans have fought, generation after generation, to maintain their independence and freedom. Will they be coaxed now by glittering promises of 'rentals' and 'cash benefits' and 'higher prices' into surrendering their freedom?

Already on Upgrade, He Says.

"We are already on the road back to higher prices. Wheat raisers, financially handicapped, are raising less acreage of wheat. Unfavorable weather conditions in the southwest make lessened production certain. Low prices for hogs always reduce their production. Less fertilizer is being used in cotton, which will reduce the yield. Farmers generally are diversifying their crops, increasing the amount of family living from the farm, and reducing cash expenditures for luxuries and non-essentials. Local taxes are being cut down by an outraged citizenry.

"If this bill passes, if farmers are to be bossed by a dictator, every industry, including your own, will eventually be placed under the same type of control by a dictator and you will do what a government bureaucrat tells you to do."

MASTER McCLENNEN AS A NEW FOREFATHER.

In the series of amazing proposals and procedure flowing from the hostility of some of the lake states to the Chicago river diversion a new high spot is reached in the recommendations of Special Master Edward F. McClennen of Boston to the United States Supreme court. Mr. McClennen does reject the suggestion of the hostile lake states that a carpetbagging commissioner be sent into the Chicago sanitary district with an army of subordinates to act as receiver and enforce the decrees of the court and the will of the states so far as they can make it prevail. But he advanced the idea that the state of Illinois should be ordered to make appropriations to complete the Chicago sewage program by 1938. Dec. 31 of that year is the date when the water diversion is to be limited to 1,500 cubic feet a second.

The master pronounces Illinois' financial structure sound and declares it is able to issue and sell its bonds and should be required by the court to take over the responsibility for the Chicago situation. Citizens who are interested in this controversy have become familiar with the ipse dixit. The process of reaching extraordinary decisions by the "sez I" method was seldom more overworked.

Gov. Horner, Attorney General Kerner, and officers of the sanitary district have commented adequately upon this extraordinary proposal that the Illinois legislature be put under a mandate to do things in which the American theory of government would find a strange species of coercion applied to a state by branches of the federal government. The complete answer is that no federal authority, judicial, administrative, or legislative, could be given any such power. The only power which exists runs in another direction and in Chicago we think it has been exercised discriminatingly and without fair consideration of the various interests as balanced against each other. The power is to stop the diversion of water from Lake Michigan into the Chicago river. That, as a fact or a threat, is the authority which gives rise to the alternatives which are proposed or decreed, as if they were within the discretion or ability of courts, congress or an executive.

Because congress, controlling navigation, can place an unfair limitation upon the use of the water of the lake, and because the courts can enforce congressional acts, it therefore seems possible for the federal government to undertake to compel the state of Illinois or one of its political subdivisions to do things which are wholly within its own discretion and judgment to do or not to do. The impression grows that the right to order such action as Mr. McClennen recommends, or even the more astounding things which the lake states from time to time demand, exists. It is worth while noting the fact that it does not. Chicago has not proved politically powerful enough in congress, even with the aid of its Mississippi valley allies, to make headway against the determination of lake carrier interests to do the most possible damage to the newly opened waterway to the gulf. That the health of the metropolitan area is directly involved in the controversy has been a small deterrent to the prosecution of the interests of the lake carriers. But as Gov. Horner says, the suggestion may be interpolated, it must indeed be insisted upon, that the American constitutional form of government does not contemplate that the United States shall destroy one of its states. And it may be added that what the Illinois farmers would say and think of the master's recommendation that they help pay for the Chicago sewage disposal would be sulphuric.

There is another thought which may be extended to regions in which it might be most interesting. If a state can be ordered to issue bonds and make specified improvements other states might be ordered to pay bonds which they had repudiated and make a specified improvement in their reputations and credit. That is a thought which may be interesting south of the Ohio river.

PROVISION FOR THE SALE OF BEER.

Lawyers who have been consulted by the city agree that Illinois now has no regulations covering the sale of alcoholic beverages. It is the predominant opinion that the old dramshop acts were not revived by the repeal of the state prohibition acts.

The chief issues of liquor control do not arise until the 18th amendment has been repealed. The immediate question affects only the sale of beer and fruit juices or so-called wine of the same alcoholic content permitted in beer. No one can foretell when the various states will have to deal with the whole question, but such as permit the sale of beer have only until April 7 to make their provisions.

It has been thought that the Quebec licensing system would be tried by some of the states. It permits the sale of beer with fewer restrictions than are imposed upon other alcoholic drinks. The tavern keeper under it can be licensed for the sale of malt beverages to be drunk on the premises. The immediate problem is the least controversial of the whole subject. In the old dramshop acts of Illinois were contained the results of many years of study of what was called the liquor problem. Many of the provisions were prudent and wise, although some of them were ignored, and, being ignored, helped to bring about the prohibition which proved to be a failure.

Few states will be dealing with a new issue or breaking new ground when they take the matter up. It should not therefore be difficult for the Illinois legislature to find in its old statutes groundwork for legislation covering the present situation. If it is to be understood that Illinois is without regulation specifically covering the restored trade in alcoholic beverages it should not be difficult for the assembly in the time remaining to produce adequate laws which will provide an ordered method for the release of beer in manufacture and wholesale and retail trade. It is mandatory that such provision be made at once if revenue is to be obtained and order preserved. It is also to be kept in mind that the new source of revenue should be handled with discretion. It can be a producer of new and easily borne taxation, but it should not be taxed to death. The consequences of excessive taxation will be found in the handling of this commodity, just as they will be found everywhere else.

FRANCE DESTROYS THE GERMAN REPUBLIC.

Little doubt can persist regarding the German republic. It is dead for the present and probably for generations. Nor can there be much doubt that the return of the Hohenzollerns impends. In 1870 and '71 Germany was engaged in overturning the French empire by successful force of arms. The French republic arose again. The next time these two nations went at each other's throat France with its allies destroyed the German empire and the German republic arose. France has now destroyed that republic.

France broke the constitution of Weimar down and with it the German republicans by exactions and repressions which the spirit of the people could not tolerate. Conservative German statesmen, one after another, were broken when their peaceful overtures to France brought nothing but humiliation to the Germans. The best hopes of Europe might have been realized in the development of a strong German republic well rooted in the affections of the mass of the German people, serving their purpose and seeking their reasonable national destiny in peace, such peace as the common run of people everywhere desire nearly all the time.

The conservative German republicans could not maintain themselves at home when it became apparent that the humiliations and exactions were to continue. The republic survived the Red attacks upon it. It held its own against Moscow and might have continued to do so if it could have been freed from the oppressions of its western neighbor. Resentment in Germany swelled with injury and finally the land became a battlefield where communists and Hitlerites fought for control and the republic disappeared.

The national spirit abroad in Germany now is the militant spirit of the Hohenzollern empire. The kaiser's sons receive the salutes of the present authorities. They participate in the ceremonies which celebrate the overthrow of democracy and the return of autocracy. The liberalism of constitutional democracy gives way to terrorism, the suppression of criticism and opinion, and the imprisonment of political opposition. There are proscriptions and persecutions.

The Germans who have gained control are devoted to the cause of national injuries. They seek the restoration of lost lands and lost privileges. They are regimented, disciplined, and armed. Their hatreds are strong. Their zeal is at fever heat. France's policy was supposed to be based on considerations of its own national security and of the peace of Europe. Both have been badly served. Europe is again in turmoil and the consequences may be apprehended as both dark and doubtful.

Editorial of the Day

DANGEROUS PROPOSAL.

[Kansas City Journal-Post.]

A dictatorship over farm prices would be dangerous to farmers, the rest of the country and the reputation of President Roosevelt.

There is no need to present the arguments against price fixing. They have been given countless times and their soundness proved every time they have been ignored. Attempts to fix prices were made even in antiquity. They failed then, they failed since then, and they will fail if resorted to now.

Giving the President control of the banks and the budget is different from giving him control of farm prices. He can control the banks and the budget; he cannot control prices. It is the difference between attempting the possible and the impossible.

Mr. Roosevelt is making a good President. Let's not ask him to be a magician. It is possible to change banking laws; it is not possible to suspend the law of supply and demand.

Plans are being made to abolish one agency that tried futilely to ignore economic facts, the federal farm board. Let's not injure the farmer again by creating another such agency.

The best way to help the farmer is to let him alone. Conditions are changing and they may bring higher prices for agricultural products. But they will not do so if we repeat the mistakes that aggravated the farmers' woes in the last three years.

It is reported that President Roosevelt is shying away from the price fixing proposal, and it is to be hoped that the report is true. If he tries to perform miracles he will run into the same popular disappointment that defeated Mr. Hoover, whose followers had advertised him as a miracle man.

Secretary Wallace is sponsoring this price fixing scheme. When the President is relieved of the pressure of the banking emergency he would do well to tame his secretary of agriculture, lest the latter make the administration ridiculous by advocating more unsound proposals.

Price fixing worked in wartime—to keep prices down—when there was a world shortage of grain. It will not work in peace when there is a world surplus and our farmers raise more than the American people can consume.

FACT IS FACT.

Teacher—Do you think George Washington could have pitched a dollar across the Rappahannock river, as he is said to have done?

Bright pupil—I dunno. It says in our history that Washington pitched his camp across the Delaware river when the British were pursuing him.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

By S.S.

"WELL, I JUST CAN'T keep up with Mr. Roosevelt," the woman on the bus was telling her friend. "I know we've got beer back, but I don't think he's repealed the 18th amendment yet, but I wouldn't know; I haven't seen a newspaper for all of an hour. He's sending three hundred thousand or nine hundred thousand of the unemployed into the woods to make beer kegs or chase the gold hoarders or both. Then there's the new farm bill; the farmer fixes the price he wants for what he raises, and goodness, I hope they won't charge too much, because if you don't pay it they can put you in jail. And now they're going to turn the Potomac river through the White House grounds so that Mr. Roosevelt can go swimming any time he wants to, and they say congress will come up and hold sessions on the lawn so they can pass Mr. Roosevelt's laws as fast as he wants them because it's a long way over to the capitol and Mr. Roosevelt does move so fast. Goodness knows what he may have done the last hour. I must get a paper right away and find out. Isn't it exciting?"

SPRING RHAPSODY.

Or,

MORATORIUM SALUTAMUS!

Sing heigh, sing ho, sing the garden Hoe!
The little green shoots begin to grow.
The aconite
Is a cheery sight
As its little gold face peers through the snow.
Get out the catalogue, write your list
Of things that in gardens must not be missed.
And hey, nonny, nonny!
Good bone-meal smells bonny
To any true hor-ti-culturalist!

Buy some sandpaper. Polish the spade.
Hunt up the trowel, that saucy blade
That always is missing. Paint her up bright
So she'll be findable morning or night.
File the hoe sharper. Look after the teeth
Of the rake. Of the raffia make a neat wreath.
Point up the labels
And study the fables
Told in the seedsman's gardening tables!

Put on old garden-gloves. Don a thick sweater,
Stockings of anciently, antique galoshes.
Ready for chill winds, for mud and for sloshes.

Hear Mr. Cardinal up in the elm—
Anxious-eyed robins go hunting each squirmer,
Helping to cultivate old Terra Firma.
Squirrels call down from the maple-bough,

Call, squirrels! Sing, birds; Dig, sisters, dig!
Hey, nonny, nonny, we don't care a fig!
Troubles go glimmering,
Gay hopes come shimmering.
Dream come to send us
Annuals tremendous
Perennials stupendous first prizes lend us!
Only the pessimist lets out a wail
Down with the Garden Blues!
Up with the cheery news,
Summer's a-comin' in. Loud sing cuckoos!

THE LATEST FROM Herr Hitler is that he is going to form a German-Austrian alliance and that he will demand back all the German islands in the Pacific that Japan grabbed off after the great war. The union with Austria may be all right, but if we were Herr Hitler we would not take any very active steps regarding the islands over which Japan is now brooding. There was a man, Herr Hitler, who one time thought it would be great fun to monkey with a buzz saw—but it's an old story and Herr Hitler must have heard it.

IT'S GOING TO BE a great celebration that will greet the return of beer, and rightly so. But we should keep a little confetti, ticker tape and enthusiasm in reserve, for remember that the return of beer only starts things. After that comes the repeal of the sacred 18th, then the return of gin, whisky, hard cider, Martini cocktails, Jamaica rum, champagne, and brandy. If we greet each one of these individually it's going to keep things pretty well stirred up for some time. Maybe we'd better lump 'em and receive 'em all back at one and the same time.

THE LEGISLATURE in New York has made a state law requiring pedestrians on country roads to keep on the left side of the road and when an auto approaches to turn to the left off the road. In this way the walker will see the car coming in plenty of time to avoid it. It's a grand law, but try to make the free and independent citizens of this great commonwealth obey it. Durned if they wouldn't just as lief be hit on the south elevation by an auto as to be run into from the front. Our citizens, and especially our sturdy yeomanry, take the position that half of the road is theirs, and, by gum, they're going to claim what belongs to 'em. Add famous last words—"Half of it's mine."

WHAT AMERICA NEEDS.

What America needs
Is not a speedier car,
Not a poem, not a play,
Not a five cent cigar.

What America needs
To place mankind on par,
Is a hand that can hitch
Old hopes to a new star!

THAT THREE AND TWO-TENTHS per cent beer seems to give its own answer to the question whether it is intoxicating. At best a man could only get three and two-tenths per cent intoxicated on it, and most of us can get exhilarated on a peach melba or a chocolate sundae. R. H. L.

EPIDEMIC PNEUMONIA IN 1812.

JUST fifteen years ago the house was being made ready for the great epidemic of influenza of 1918. That epidemic did not begin to terrify us until much later in the year, but the caldron in which it was being brewed was boiling in the winter and spring preceding. Great waves, such as that of 1918, sweep over the world at intervals of a little more than twenty years. Minor waves of the kind we had earlier this winter and two years ago are imitations of the real thing.

Experience teaches that we may expect another world wave in less than ten years. While the laboratory workers and health directors are trying to learn what to do and how to be ready for what is to come it is well that the people should at least keep informed, that they may act intelligently rather than run in circles when the clouds run into view.

Dr. L. C. Duncan reports that New England and, in some measure, the remainder of what was then the United States suffered an epidemic of pneumonia in the course of the war of 1812. It seems that experience has been trying to teach us something on the subject for more than a century. The experience referred to developed in the winter of 1813 in an army camp located across the river from Albany, New York.

In this connection it is worth noting that one of the theories about the epidemic of 1918 is that it was caused by bringing soldiers from Africa and the orient into camps occupied by western Europeans and Americans. The soldiers from far away were exposed to the microbes and viruses located in the bodies of soldiers with no resistance to them were built up into a special kind of a cold known as influenza. When the newly fashioned cold got out among European soldiers and citizens it found them poorly equipped to fight back.

Whence came the man in this Albany camp is not known. Nor do we know what microbes they brought into camp with them, or how they built it up into epidemic pneumonia. The report read that the epidemic spread from one military camp to another. From the military camps it spread to the civilian populations round about the camps. At first it was rather easy to trace local civilian epidemics to camps of origin but later it seemed to spread from one civilian group to another. In that day communication was slow and difficult and the rate of spreading did not compare with that of the 1918 epidemic. While in the main this was a New England epidemic it finally prevailed to some extent in Virginia and the states around and in such of the west as was then settled.

The accounts of the course of the disease are not very good. It was said to start with a common cold and the pneumonia followed about two days later. It was not a measles pneumonia, though it resembled that kind of pneumonia more than it did the pneumonia of 1918.

TO LOSE WEIGHT.

S. P. writes: I want to lose thirty pounds. Please tell me how to do it. I want to have my picture taken.

REPLY.

The first necessity is to have fixedness of purpose. You think you want to lose thirty pounds and maybe you do have a faint but transient yearning. It is a long way from a faint and transient yearning to the frame of mind necessary for great and permanent weight reduction. After you have forged your determination the next step is to get a diet and follow it.

SWELLING OF ANKLES.

H. L. B. writes: What causes swelling of the legs and ankles? I have had this trouble for four or five days at a time I am on my feet very little. My heart action seems to be normal as far as I can determine.

REPLY.

Among the causes of this effect are heart disease, Bright's disease, cirrhosis of the liver, varicose veins, pelvic obstruction, wearing tight leg bands, local acidosis, and hot weather. Find which cause is responsible in your case.

ENLARGED HEART.

L. L. writes: What is the cause of an enlarged heart?

REPLY:

Among the causes are crippled heart valves, strenuous exercise as in major athletics, and pericarditis.

STATIONARY ENGINEERS' LICENSES.

Chicago, March 19.—[Friend of the People.]—I would greatly appreciate any information you can give me concerning the requirements necessary for obtaining a stationary engineer's license in Chicago and the procedure for obtaining such a license. B. B.

In reply I quote the following extract from the city ordinance: "An applicant for an engineer's license shall be at least 21 years of age, temperate, of good habits; he shall have had at least two years' practical experience as a fireman, engineer, or machinist in the operation or construction of steam engines and boilers; all of which shall be vouched for in writing by two citizens of Chicago." Application blanks and such other information as may be necessary may be secured at the office of the board of examining engineers, 1008 city hall.

AUTOMOBILE INSURANCE.

Chicago, March 15.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—We carried an insurance policy on our car with a certain insurance company and some time ago borrowed money on this automobile. When the insurance company found out about this loan they terminated the policy. Now, as this policy was paid in full, we should have part of the premium returned to us, as the policy had been in force only part of the stipulated time. When taking the matter up with these people they tell us they handed this money over to the broker to be remitted to us. We haven't seen or heard from this fellow yet and, despite our efforts, can't find him, and when calling the insurance company are informed they don't know where he is either and have washed their hands of the case. What is your advice? T. C.

The facts stated do not show that the broker was authorized to collect for you or that you had held him out as having such authority. It would follow that the insurance company could be required to pay again to you.

PROFESSIONAL CONFIDENCES.

Princeton, Ky., March 19.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Is it unlawful or unethical for a commonwealth attorney to question a witness in the grand jury room in regard to the witness' private conversation with his attorney? The witness' attorney was not being investigated. J. W. T.

In general professional confidences between attorney and client are privileged, so that neither party is obliged to answer questions with respect to them, but we know of no legal objection to the asking of questions nor to the answering of them.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

MARCH 24, 1917.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—At a momentous meeting of the cabinet President Wilson and his official advisers determined the policies which, in their judgment, should govern the United States in prosecuting war with Germany. It is not to be a full fledged waf, but something akin to the "partial war" with France in 1798. America is to fight Germany from the safe side of the allies' land and sea barrier. Here are the principal decisions reached by the President and his cabinet: That every department of the government shall rush preparedness measures to consummation and that the war shall be "vigorously prosecuted"; that the chief object of the government in the initial stage of the conflict shall be to produce and transport the food and war munitions needed by the allies; that the navy shall be employed to fight submarines and to patrol American waters under a plan which will release allied naval units from duty on this side of the Atlantic; that no American army shall be sent to the European trenches, but that the regular army shall be recruited to the strength of 220,000 men; that the National Guard shall be called out after the assembling of congress and recruited to a war strength of 300,000 men for home defense; that free facilities for the floating of loans in this country shall be accorded the allies and that eventually a large loan or perhaps an outright contribution for war purposes to be made by the American government to the enemies of Germany; that the war bound German merchantmen in American harbors shall not be seized unless such action becomes an imperative necessity, in which event Germany will be compensated for the vessels after the war; that a complete plan of harmonious coöperation but not alliance with the entente allies shall be formulated by negotiations with these governments already in progress.

LONDON.—"The Grand Duke Nicholas Michaelovitch," a Times dispatch from Petrograd says, "was banished to his estates in December for telling Emperor Nicholas the truth concerning the situation and for denouncing the Rasputin scandal."

WAR SUMMARY.—French troops pushed back the Germans north of St. Quentin canal and more ground northeast of Tergnier was gained. The British beat off German attacks and made further gains southeast of Arras. There was considerable activity along the entire battle front between the Scarpe and the Aisne. Three separate Russian armies made advances against the Turks in Asia Minor. The Russians regained trenches lost to the Germans in the vicinity of Lida. The Russians also resumed the offensive in the Braila section of the Rumanian front. The French admit the loss of the battleship Danton in the Mediterranean on March 19, with 296 lost and 806 saved by the destroyer Masseu and patrol boats. The Danton displaced 18,028 tons.

CHICAGO. — Official confirmation reached Paris that James R. McConnell, the Chicago aviator, was lost. Whether he was killed or made prisoner was unknown, but he fell within the German lines on March 19. McConnell was flying with Edmund Genet, another Lafayette Escadrille member, doing reconnaissance duty over the Somme region, which the Germans were evacuating. Mrs. Mitchell D. Follansbee, 65 Bellevue place, is a sister of Aviator McConnell. The cablegram from Paris when read to her revived hope that her brother may have escaped death.

AL SMITH'S TRIUMPH.

Chicago, March 17.—There's an old saying that "Everything comes to those who wait." Take the case of Alfred E. Smith, for instance. Four years ago he advocated beer and was defeated. Last year Roosevelt was nominated on his platform. Now we've got beer back, Roosevelt and Al Smith are firm friends, and Bishop Cannon is getting his reward for his misdeeds. Al might well loll back in his chair, cock his brown derby at a dangerous angle, and send whirls of cigar smoke sailing heavenward.

DAVID L. FLYNN.

BEER AND PROSPERITY.

Chicago, March 17.—Although I strongly favor the outright repeal of the eighteenth amendment, I believe that the benefits which will be derived from the abolishment of prohibition have been highly exaggerated. Kindly remember that the enforcement of prohibition did not create this depression; therefore, the abolishment of prohibition cannot destroy it.

Our political leaders are merely using this beer question as a smoke screen to divert the public from the thing we need most of all at the present time, namely, a reduction of at least 50 per cent in all government costs. JOHN J. MANGAN.

AN IDEA.

Chicago, March 13.—Anyway, the abandoned bank buildings scattered about town can be used for beer gardens.

M. D. S.

FREE BEER.

Chicago, March 18.—To settle a controversy, will some one please advise me if I can purchase beer on my charity orders? As I am one of the forgotten men I claim I am entitled to the new deal and should not have my personal liberty interfered with. R. S. M.

ON THE FIRING LINE.

Chicago, March 18.—Your Voice of the People department of March 18 carries a letter commending THE TRIBUNE for its steady, consistent fight against the eighteenth amendment, the Volstead act, and that cruel law, the Jones 5 and 10.

I join with the writer in throwing a flower your way, but ask leave to mention a comrade of mine who for years, wherever many have congregated, has voiced his continual objection to the legislation in question, Mr. Charles V. Falkenberg, past commander Logan Square post, No. 405, American Legion, a total abstainer.

At Legion conventions he has yearly been on the firing line advocating abolition of so-called prohibition and the legalization of good, wholesome beer. With yearly regularity he has been defeated by those who have missed but two drinks since 1921, once when they weren't there, once when they didn't hear. Finally at the Detroit national convention his resolution was adopted by the resolutions committee. However, when it was to be presented to the convention proper the big shots, hitherto dry as, pushed Charlie away from the loud speaker. They quarreled among themselves which should be the first to urge the Legion to repudiate prohibition, so called. What THE TRIBUNE has done nationally Charlie Falkenberg has done locally. Through this column I ask to send him greetings from his comrades, and hope he will long be spared to fight the mental output of charlatans, chameleons, mountebanks, and false alarms, whether they be in veteran circles or legislative councils.

THOMAS K. DAVEY,
Chaplain, Chicago Veterans' council.

THE POWERS OF CONGRESS.

Chicago, March 16.—I note your editorial in this morning's TRIBUNE entitled "Shaky Democracies." In the last paragraph you state: "Power is being given the federal executive to dispense with congress." May I ask who is giving him that power? Congress does not have that power, so why go through the mockery of pretending to have it? And even if the congress did have the power the President has no power whatever to use it. The constitution of the United States, article I., section 1, says: "All legislative powers herein granted shall be vested in a congress of the United States, which shall consist of a senate and house of representatives." Subsequent sections define and limit the powers of this congress, but nowhere does it bestow on it the right to delegate its powers to any other power.

Article II. of this constitution defines the power of the President, but it makes no provision for him to assume the legislative powers of congress at any time.

Furthermore, the President and each member of the congress on assuming their duties take upon themselves an oath to uphold and protect the constitution of the United States. Therefore, the President by requesting the above delegation of power and those members of congress who have voted for it, have each and all of them violated their oath of office in this, the most vicious piece of legislation ever attempted.

MORE ADVICE TO THE RAILROADS.

Lowell, Mass., March 16.—As one who has worshiped these forty years at the shrine of TRIBUNE editorial infallibility, "More Advice for Railroads" comes as a distinct shock. The brilliant savant who suggests attaching coaches to the fast hog express is worthy of writing the prospectus for the impending pussywillow planting at Muscle Shoals. Mixed trains are the oldest form of train service. Also, what about federal, state, and railroad regulations concerning the operating of passenger and freight equipment in main line service? What the railroads need is not editorial advice but the annihilation of the interstate commerce commission and its forty-eight bastard daughters. Given a free hand and no favors to illicit competitors the railroads would most undoubtedly prove the cheapest, safest, convenient, comfortable and reliable means of toting man, beast, and goods from point to point, over land. NED ALVORD.

REBATES AND THE I. C. C.

Chicago, March 16.—The letter from Mr. T. B. Gavin is a generous defense of the interstate commerce commission, but Mr. Gavin is in error in crediting that body with the purging of rebates from the relations between the railroads and the shippers. There was a prohibition against rebates in the first interstate commerce law, but it did not stop rebating, with or without the I. C. C., until the passage of the Elkins act. This act is not part of the document known as the interstate commerce act or of the latest transportation act of 1920.

It stands alone in that it punishes the receiver as well as the giver of any concession. THOMAS C. POWELL.

BABE RUTH'S PAY.

Chicago, March 15.—I would suggest Ruppert sign a contract to give the Babe $1,000 for each home run of the season. This would also give the fans a thrill watching the Babe go over the top.

FAIR TO CONVERT 350 SANDY ACRES INTO GAY GARDEN

Between the exposition buildings and along the numerous thoroughfares of A Century of Progress on Chicago's lake front an elaborate natural landscape of trees, shrubs, grass, and flowers will spring up by June 1, opening day of the exposition. Plans were announced yesterday by Herbert W. Schmitt, head of the landscape division.

Transforming the 350 acres of sandy waste into vistas of greenery in three months will be the most rapid and pretentious job of horticulture ever accomplished, in the opinion of experts.

The spacious grassy lawns of the fair will be seeded, nurtured, and mowed twice in one month, Mr. Schmitt declared. Topsoil will be spread early in April and the planting will begin immediately. Trainloads of fertile loam from Kankakee county are arriving daily. This dirt will be mixed with 5,000 bales of peat moss imported from Germany.

200 Big Trees Already Planted.

The peat moss, Mr. Schmitt explained, is a soil conditioner, being loose and spongy in texture, capable of retaining moisture required for the rapid growth of grass.

About 200 large trees are already planted at the exposition. Yesterday the first of 264 thorn trees were moved into the grounds. On April 1 the workmen will start planting 500 conifers, mostly junipers.

Later will come 94 elms and 272 trees more than 40 feet tall, with 106 tub trees, most of them catalpas.

After the trees are in place Mr. Schmitt and his crew will start on the fibrous shrubs, such as honeysuckles, vibernia and dogwood, which have all been hand dug and "puddled," dipped in mud baths to protect the root fibers. For hedges the exposition will have 18,000 lineal feet of privet amurense and Japanese barberry.

24,000 Square Feet of Flowers.

Flowers will be synchronized into the landscaping scheme after the last frost. The exposition beds will cover 24,000 square feet, a riot of color with such flowers as begonias, ageratum, geranium, heliotrope, Madagascar periwinkle, petunias, salvias and marigolds.

Such organizations as the Peony Gladiola and Dahlia societies will have their own garden exhibits at the fair. Besides these formal gardens there will be gladioli in an avenue of color stretching 1,000 feet on either side of Leif Erikson drive from the Hall of Science to the Hall of Religion.

Background for Beer Garden.

The flowers and vines, including bittersweet, rambling roses, matrimony vine and forsythia suspensa will also have much to do with background in the beer gardens of the exposition. The fair officials have signed contracts allowing seventeen places for the sale of legal beverages.

Among the beer emporiums will be the Old Heidelburg inn, Victor Vienna café, Blue Ribbon inn, Streets of Paris, Atlas Model Beer garden, Swedish restaurant, Rutledge tavern, Dance ship, and an oasis known as Edward's Adobe rancho.

BABY SON SEES POLICEMAN FIRE ON FOUR BANDITS

While his son, John, 20 months old, looked on yesterday, Policeman Edward Quinn of the Marquette station fought a gun battle with four bandits in the real estate office and money exchange of F. H. Halvorsen & Co., 3104 West 63d street. The robbers fled without loot after the exchange of shots. None was wounded. Ten employés in the office, four of them women, dropped to the floor when the shooting began.

Quinn, off duty, had gone to the office with his son on personal business. He was talking to an official when the robbers entered. One of them carried a sawed-off shotgun. He commanded all to raise their hands. Instead, Quinn drew his revolver and started firing.

Newark City Pay Overdue; Bond Issues Are Unsold

Newark, N. J., March 23.—[Special.]—With the semi-monthly municipal pay roll of $400,000 overdue one week, the city was advised today by Newark bankers who have been aiding the commission on finances that they were unable to sell any new Newark bond issues. The city had been expecting a loan of $1,000,000 for immediate needs. Today's announcement means, it was stated at the city hall, that, except for possible advance tax payments, the city is faced with lack of money to meet pay rolls and other current needs until June 1, when the first 1933 tax installment is due.

France Refuses to Place Exhibit at Chicago Fair

PARIS, March 23.—Lucien Lamoureux, minister of the budget, announced in the chamber of deputies today that France will not participate in the Century of Progress exposition in Chicago. His announcement was in reply to a complaint by Deputy Charles Pomaret, who said the Chicago fair presented an excellent opportunity to display French products.

SKY RIDE FRAMEWORK FINISHED; RUN UP FLAG AT CEREMONY TODAY

Completion of the steel framework of the Sky Ride, an amusement feature of A Century of Progress, will be marked today by the running up of the flag and a dedicatory speech by Richard Latell, 7 years old, pupil of Fabre school, 414 Diversey parkway. The flag will be started upward by Richard and by Patsy Reynolds, 6 years old, also a pupil at the school. Capt. J. A. Anderson of the United States coast guard and a crew of his men will fire a line from a breeches buoy gun across the towers as the band of the Morgan Park Military academy strikes up "The Star Spangled Banner."

The framework reaches a height of 625 feet, approximately 64 stories. When the cables are suspended from one tower to another, the next step in the Sky Ride's construction, they will compass a distance approximating that between the Board of Trade building and Lake street.

ANNUL MARRIAGE OF D. R. KIMBARK TO CLUB HOSTESS

An annulment of the marriage of Virginia Miller, night club hostess, and Donald R. Kimbark, 1015 Hinman avenue, Evanston, was granted yesterday by Superior Judge Joseph Sabath. Mrs. Kimbark, who is 21 years old, testified that she was married on Feb. 24 "while intoxicated," after she and Kimbark had "jokingly discussed marriage" at the 100 club, 100 East Superior street, where she was employed. Kimbark is an official of the Butler Paper company.

MRS. McLAUGHLIN QUIZZED ON PIGS AT TRIAL OF SUIT

Case Is Expected to Go to Jury Today.

Mrs. Irene Castle McLaughlin, wife of Maj. Frederic McLaughlin of Lake Forest, yesterday told a jury in the Circuit court of Judge Ralph J. Dady at Waukegan much of what she knew about pigs. She was defending herself against the charges of false arrest and malicious prosecution made by William Schroeder, Lake county farmer, who is suing Mrs. McLaughlin for $10,000 damages.

Cross-examined by the attorney for the plaintiff, Richard Miller, Mrs. McLaughlin reiterated her statements of Wednesday that she had caused Farmer Schroeder's arrest in May, 1931, because he mistreated the hogs on his farm. Schroeder, who was convicted and fined $10 at the time, later won a reversal in the Criminal court of Cook county.

Reveals Knowledge of Pigs.

"Do you want me to tell all?" she replied, and then testified that she had read a book on swine husbandry and that when a little girl she had watched when pigs owned by her father were fed and vaccinated. Earlier she had repeated in detail her assertions of finding "filthy conditions" at the Schroeder farm when she made three visits to the place in the interest of the Illinois Humane society.

Mrs. McLaughlin's attorney, Albert L. Hall, objected and was sustained when Attorney Miller asked her to "outline a perfect diet for hogs."

Rebuttal testimony was completed at the afternoon session after a short recess during which Judge Dady attended the Lake county judiciary convention. Final arguments will be heard this morning and the case is expected to go to the jury about noon.

Obscene Photographs and Literature Burned by U. S.

Obscene photographs and literature confiscated by the government and valued at "bootleg" prices, at $15,000, were burned yesterday in the federal building furnace under supervision of Postal Inspector Paul Blake. Most of the material was seized from Ira O'Neal, former policeman, now serving a prison sentence.

MULLEN OFFERED U. S. JUDGESHIP BY ROOSEVELT

Cummings May Stay in President's Cabinet.

Washington, D. C., March 23.—[Special.]—Arthur B. Mullen, Democratic national committeeman from Nebraska, who has figured as a possibility for attorney general, was formally offered appointment as United States Circuit judge in the eighth district by President Roosevelt late today. He is expected to accept. Coincident with this selection, it was said in official circles that Homer S. Cummings would remain as attorney general.

Mr. Cummings had been selected for governor general of the Philippines, but when the late Senator Thomas J. Walsh, attorney general designate died on his way north from his honeymoon, President Roosevelt named him to the cabinet post. At the time of his appointment the President stated that Mr. Cummings would continue as head of the department of justice for a short time. But since that time he has greatly impressed Mr. Roosevelt, and this is said to be responsible for his reported intentions of retaining him in the post. Felix Frankfurter, Harvard professor of law, is slated to be named as solicitor general within the next few weeks.

Other Appointments.

Despite the holiday on patronage, the administration is gradually making a few appointments to places necessary for the efficient conduct of the government. These were named today:

James W. Collier of Mississippi, former chairman of the ways and means committee, to be United States tariff commissioner for the term expiring June 16, 1937.

Grew Keeps Post.

James H. Hanley of Nebraska, vice chairman of the Nebraska Democratic state committee, to be federal radio commissioner for the term expiring Feb. 24, 1936.

In addition, it was learned that Joseph C. Grew is to be retained as ambassador to Japan and Nelson T. Johnson will continue as minister to China. Both officials are regarded as indispensable at their posts in view of the disturbed conditions in the far east. Both are career diplomats, with many years of experience, and are familiar with the far eastern problems.

GERMANY FREES A. BUSCH KIN ON BAIL OF $119,500

BERLIN, March 23.—(AP)—Paul Von Gontard, retired industrial banker who was arrested March 15 on a charge of tax evasion and failure to declare funds at Dutch and Swiss banks, today was released on bail of 500,000 marks [approximately $119,500] pending a rehearing.

Von Gontard declared at the time of his arrest that the funds concerned belonged to his wife, the former Clara Busch, daughter of Adolphus Busch of St. Louis, Mo., and that declaration was not required of him.

IDENTIFY SLAIN MAN AS SUSPECT IN KIDNAPING

After an investigation of nearly six months the police of Joliet and of Kenosha, Wis., have established the identity of a man whose body, bullet-riddled, was found Oct. 1 beside a road ten miles south of Joliet.

RAY NOLAN.

The victim was Ray Nolan, 32 years old, who was arrested on Sept. 28 in Glen Ellyn as a suspected kidnaper. At that time Nolan said he lived at 7020 Jeffery avenue. He had previously resided in Joliet, where he was known as Phil Wilson, and was engaged in the alcohol racket.

Nolan was seized by the Glen Ellyn police as he was making a call to the café of Jesse Minkowski in Kenosha. Minkowski had been kidnaped the day before and the police asserted that Nolan was demanding ransom when, with the aid of an alert telephone operator who had heard a previous conversation, they found and trapped him.

Minkowski was released by his captors soon afterward. Nolan was taken to Kenosha Sept. 30 and viewed by Minkowski, who failed to identify him. The next morning Nolan was dead. His fingerprints were sent to Washington, but it was not until a comparison with those of the supposed kidnaper was made that actual determination of identity was completed.

ASSERTS HOOVER REGIME DELAYED HARRIMAN CASE

Cummings Orders Inquiry in Detroit, Too.

Washington, D. C., March 23.—[Special.]—It was revealed today by Attorney General Cummings that instructions from Washington held up for several months the prosecutions now going on of officials of the Harriman National Bank and Trust company of New York.

While criticism of the delay blazed in the senate, the attorney general said he did not wish to cast any reflections on his predecessor, William D. Mitchell, or that staff.

With the Harriman investigation well under way in New York, the department of justice is turning its attention to Detroit. Investigators have been sent there to make a thorough survey and to look especially into the question of interbank deposits in Michigan, Mr. Cummings indicated.

Committee Gets Data.

Information about the delay, under the Hoover administration, of the Harriman investigation has been turned over to Ferdinand Pecora, special counsel of the senate banking committee. That committee will look into the problem, Chairman Fletcher of the committee said today.

Mr. Pecora is to develop that information as part of the general inquiry into the Harriman bank which he is planning for next week.

After disclosing that the condition of the Harriman bank was discovered by national bank examiners last December, Attorney General Cummings made it clear that he did not intend to imply any criticism of the Washington officials who held up the inquiry.

Must Consider Times.

"Things of that sort must be judged as circumstances then were," the attorney general explained. "Apparently it was the view that the delicate situation of banks at that time would be further disturbed by a prosecution. The prosecution could be deferred as there was no statute of limitations to be considered. It was a matter of honest judgment at the time. I have no personal criticism to make."

Senators were not so generous in their view of the action of the Hoover officials. Several senators joined in criticizing the delay. Senator Connally [Dem., Tex.] said the department was almost guilty of criminal negligence. Remarks by the senators made before the attorney general issued his statement were based on reports from District Attorney Medalie in New York.

Full Detroit Inquiry.

The Detroit investigation now being launched will be broad, the attorney general said. He indicated that the refusal of Detroit banks to allow the withdrawal of the deposits of small banks which they held might be the focal point, however.

Doubt exists whether the deposits of state banks in Detroit banks were not trust funds immune from the holiday restrictions. Small banks had no discretion about the placing of their deposits because the Michigan law set forth where the money must be kept. Although the governor's holiday exempted the interbank deposits they were not released.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 23.—[Special.]—Suits were filed at Carmel, N. Y., today to recover $225,000 from the National City company and the National City bank, jointly, and $27,625 from J. & W. Seligman & Co. for losses allegedly sustained through purchases from those companies of securities of Cuba and other governments and Cuban and other industries. The suits were brought in the Supreme court of Putnam county.

David M. Neuberger, New York attorney, instituted the actions in behalf of Robert J. Seymour of Carmel, N. Y., as assignee of Thomas Wolstenholme & Son Company, Inc., of Philadelphia, and others.

False representations and concealment of material information in the sale of the securities are charged in both suits.

Five more witnesses testified today before the federal grand jury, which is hearing evidence against Charles E. Mitchell, former chairman of the National City bank, who is charged by the government with evading an income tax of $657,152.40 in 1929. Tax return for 1929 and his bank records, it is understood, were among the exhibits presented to the jurors.

LIMITS ON CAB CRUISING AND PARKING URGED

A. of C. Sends Proposals to Aldermen.

Limitations of taxicab licenses to fit the public demand for cab service and stricter regulation of taxicab cruising and parking at cab stands were recommended yesterday to the city council by the Chicago Association of Commerce.

Revision of the present regulations covering taxicab stands has received little consideration to date from the joint council subcommittee on taxicabs. The association recommends that the stands be confined to "in" and "out" use, as distinguished from long time parking, and that where inspection of a stand indicates that it is being used for long time parking the stand be shortened or abolished.

Revision of the present list of stands, to conform to present traffic and service demands, is also recommended.

To control cruising of empty cabs in search of passengers, the association recommends a charge for mileage of such cabs sufficiently high to eliminate all unnecessary cruising.

It is recommended that the council subcommittee determine the actual public demand for cabs, by comparison of present daily mileage of taxicabs with mileage of former years and limit the number of licenses to be issued in accordance with that demand.

As to fares, it is recommended that parties offering to operate cabs at reduced fares be required to establish that the proposed fare will secure financial responsibility to pay all damages resulting from accidents, adequate maintenance of cabs in accordance with city regulations, effective control by operating companies or associations over drivers, and a living wage for drivers.

Four Selected for Jury in City State Bank Trial

Four members of the jury which is to try five former officials of the defunct City State bank on charges of receiving deposits after the bank became insolvent had been selected when Judge Francis B. Allegretti adjourned his court session yesterday. Selection of the jury, which has been in progress two days, will continue today. The defendants are Seymour Stedman, Alexander Jarema, William C. Hartray, Edwin G. Rellihen, and Morris Castle.

"HIGHEST TEST" at the price of ordinary gasoline

Today there is one big, outstanding topic of discussion whenever experts talk about gasoline.

At the conventions of petroleum technicians . . . in the meetings of automobile engine designers . . . in almost every issue of the magazines devoted to the oil and gas industry . . . the subject that comes up over and over again is VOLATILITY.

Everywhere, there is greater recognition, than ever before, of the fact that volatility is the most important property in gasoline.

You may not care for technical details. You may not know that volatility is defined as "the ability to evaporate and become vapor." But since high volatility (high test) gives truly startling improvement in performance, you can't help being vitally interested in the fact that

Phillips 66 has 78% more volatility than any other leading gasoline

This is a powerful, outstanding fact. It tells you why Phillips 66 saves you money. Every gallon, every drop of this greater gasoline has more volatility, has higher gravity, is higher test.

Right now, Phillips 66 gravity ranges from 65.6° to 80.5°. And it does not cost 3¢ extra per gallon. No, sir! As the world's largest producer of natural high gravity gasoline, Phillips can afford to give you amazingly high gravity gasoline at the price of ordinary motor fuel.

The very first time you try a tankful, your engine quickly tells you that this high test and high anti-knock gasoline IS different. You actually feel the added power and snap, the new speed of get-away and smoother running. You get more miles to the gallon and . . . the fastest cold weather starting you have ever experienced Higher test (more volatility) is the quality in Phillips 66 which brings you this wonderful combination of motoring improvements. And this high test is yours, without a single penny of higher price, at every Orange and Black 66 shield. For the gas that is easy on your engine and your pocketbook, Phill-up with Phillips 66 . . . and don't forget, when you drain—refill with Phillips 66 Motor Oil, the new scientific lubricant which offers the same extra value always given by Phillips 66 gasoline.

What is CONTROLLED VOLATILITY?

Everyone knows that weather affects ordinary gasoline, that temperature affects engine performance. Obviously the weather cannot be controlled; so Phillips insures perfect performance by CONTROLLING the VOLATILITY of the gasoline. Phillips pioneered this scientific method of matching gasoline to driving conditions. Always, it makes full allowance for differences caused by climate and geographical location. Whatever any engine in any city needs, to attain maximum efficiency and ideal performance under its climatic conditions, is exactly what Controlled Volatility puts into Phillips 66.

ARREST OF TRIO CALLED ROUNDUP OF KIDNAP GANG

Also Wanted for Beloit Bank Robbery.

Sterling, Ill., March 23.—(AP)—Arrest of Joe Varsalona, John Ticiliana, and Rocca Garreffa in Des Moines completes the roundup of the gang that kidnaped Adhemer Huughe of East Moline and John Di Fillippi of Spring Valley, Sergt. O. W. Kempster of the Illinois highway police said tonight.

Informed of the arrests, Kempster telephoned to Des Moines for descriptions of the trio and then announced that the description of Varsalona tallied "perfectly" with that of the leader of the gang he had sought for four months under three aliases.

"There's no question about it," Kempster said. "Varsalona did not know that we knew his true name. He thought he was known to us only as Joe Bruno, Sam Falleo, and Joe Mandano. The only time he ever used his right name, as far as I know, was the occasion when he was arrested in River Forest, Ill., last year for carrying a gun. He didn't know we had a record of it."

Seek Extradition Warrants.

Kempster said he and Patrolman Hal Roberts of the highway force, his partner in the kidnap investigation, would go to Springfield tomorrow and seek extradition warrants against the trio as well as Edward Patterson and Archie Brown, arrested with them.

The officers hold federal and Illinois warrants charging Varsalona with the kidnaping of Huughe last October and of Di Fillippi last December.

Dempster said Garreffa and Ticiliano also were members of the kidnap gang and would be "shown up" before the victims. He said he would not oppose Beloit, Wis., authorities in extraditing Patterson and Brown on charges of bank robbery, as he had not been able to connect them definitely with the kidnapings.

Varsalona, Patterson, Brown, and Tony Columbuo, once arrested in Chicago as an associate of the gang, all came originally from Arma, Kas., Kempster said. The kidnap letters were written on the typewriter of Columbuo, a barber, he said.

Arrested on U. S. Warrants.

Mike Talarico, Dan Zook, Jules Vey, and Frank Delbono of East Moline, Vince Burman of Spring Valley and Angelo Vota of Rockford were arrested last February on federal warrants, charging them with the two kidnapings. Delbono, also known as Frank Castagna, alleged leader of the actual kidnapers, has been reported indicted by the federal government in Chicago, but indictment of the others was held up pending arrest of Varsalona.

Delbono served a prison term for murder in Missouri and for bank robbery in Illinois.

GLENCOE POLICE RESCUE GIRL IN RAPIST'S HANDS

Stanley Kasper, 20 years old, 946 Glencoe road, Glencoe, was seized by two policemen late last night as he was raping a young woman after robbing her. The arrest was made in a clump of trees near Sunset lane and Vernon avenue in Glencoe.

Kasper's victim was a maid in a Glencoe home. Returning from church in Evanston, she left the North Shore line station in Glencoe on foot. Kasper, she said, followed her. He first took her money and then dragged her into the woods.

The woman's screams were heard by a resident of the neighborhood and he called the police. Lieut. William Helke and Policeman Paul Hanson hurried to the scene and found Kasper still detaining the girl. He was taken to the village station and charged with rape and robbery. The police said that Kasper, who formerly was a garage attendant, claimed that he did not remember anything that happened after he left the railroad station.

Police Volley Halts One of Three Auto Strippers

A dozen shots fired early today by Policemen Adam Klanowsky and Arthur March when they interrupted three youths as they were stripping an automibile in the rear of 1736 North Wood street. DUCE PREDICTS FASCIST RULE IN ENTIRE EUROPE

Italy Hails 14th Year of Party's Existence.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, March 23.—With his project for a four power "peace club" of Europe striking snags in France and the Balkans, Premier Mussolini today commemorated the founding of the first Fascist combat squads and proclaimed the advent of a period of Fascist civilization for the world.

The purpose of the founding of the Fascist combat squads in Milan 14 years ago has been realized under his régime today, Mussolini said in a message to his "black shirts."

"Fascism tomorrow will be a reality for Europe," the premier added.

Ceremonies in Milan.

Commemorative ceremonies were held in Milan today in the same building in which Mussolini organized a group of his friends into fighting bands to combat strikes and civic disorder early in 1919. The speech made at that celebration was broadcast throughout Italy at noon. Bells rang and sirens shrieked tonight in celebration of the event.

For the first time a motion picture, reviewing the rise of the Fascist party, was shown tonight. It glorifies the march on Rome and the Fascist organization of Italy's civic life. Il Duce decreed that the exposition of the Fascist revolution shall remain open another month. He spent some time last night before the chapel in the exposition dedicated to "Fascist martyrs."

Mussolini in his speech today said that his revolution in 14 years had favored Italy's intervention in the war, had swept out Italy's pusillanimous d mocratic directing class, and demolished parliamentary government.

Spreads to Other Countries.

"All these motives were developed during these 14 years and are still immutable principles of our march. Our words now have gone beyond the frontier of Italy, our doctrine is now universal, and our work is already testimony to us for future generations.

"Fascist Italy is climbing to the summit of its new history and giving its words of ancient and modern wisdom to other peoples."

NEW CHINESE CONSUL GENERAL ARRIVES IN CITY

Robert Kah, new Chinese consul general in Chicago, arrived yesterday from Nanking to assume his duties here. He was met at the North Western station by a delegation including members of the consular staff, Chew Low, president of the Chinese Consolidated Benevolent association of Chicago, and Tom Cham, local leader of the Nationalist party.

The new consul general said that his aim would be to maintain cordial relations between his country and the United States. He was of the opinion that China in the Manchurian situation would resist the invasion of the Japanese. Mr. Kah was a student at the University of Chicago for a quarter in 1917.

DISARM PARLEY REFUSES TO QUIT FOR DUCE'S PLAN

GENEVA, Switzerland, March 23.—(AP)—The world disarmament conference declined to adjourn today to make way for four power conversations among British, French, German, and Italian representatives as proposed in the Mussolini peace plan.

The decision was generally interpreted as a veto by the small powers to a proposal for an European directory by the great powers.

[France objected to the Mussolini plan, demanding that its allies, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Rumania, and Jugo-Slavia, be treated as equals. It demanded that the plan be held within the framework of the league of nations. France and its allies believed this would prevent an Italo-German bloc against them. The disarmament conference is a league agency.]

A general discussion of the disarmament plan of Prime Minister MacDonald of England, proposing definite reductions of armies and navies for various nations, will begin Friday afternoon.

Report 2 Ships En Route to Britain for Jap Munitions

MONTREAL, Que., March 23.—(AP)—Two former Canadian steamers, the Gazette will say tomorrow, are reported en route to the United Kingdom for cargoes of munitions. It is understood that Japanese interests have or will soon obtain possession of the two craft, the newspaper adds.

9 YEAR OLD GIRL EARNS 23 CENTS FOR HUNGER FUND

Helps Feed School Pupils by Running Errands.

Muriel Himmel, 9 years old, of Winnetka, wanted to help the needy children in the public schools get free noonday lunches, so she volunteered to help her mother with errands about the house. When she had earned 23 pennies she slipped them into an envelope and sent them to the Hungry School Children's fund. They arrived yesterday.

Another contribution came during the day from Neva Martin of Darlington, Wis., who had read of the efforts to feed the needy in the public schools. She sent 50 cents and praised the fund's efforts to alleviate hunger among Chicago school children.

The day's total, however, was discouraging because it added only $19.83 to the fund. Further gifts are needed by loyal readers if the children are to be assured of this nourishing lunch every school day until the summer vacation. Yesterday's contributions were as follows:

$2—Anonymous, Mrs. T. P. Barber.
$1.10—Fees.
$1—"S." Mary L. Humberstone, Rev. M. W. T.
50 cents—Neva Martin, Darlington, Wis.
23 cents—Muriel Himmel.

Total	$ 19.83
Previously acknowledged	22,518.27
Grand total	$22,538.10

Contributions should be made payable to the Hungry School Children's fund and sent to the cashier of THE TRIBUNE, Tribune Tower.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul; skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at all stores. (C) 1931 C. M. Co.

OLD ENGLAND'S BAKERS BUSY AT TIME OF EASTER

Rival Bunmakers in Hot Competition.

It sneezed in his hous of mete and drinke,
Of all deyntees than men coude think,
—Chaucer.

BY MARION BUTLER.

A toast to the days of old when every man was a bit of a gourmet, and the tables really groaned on feast days! Much has been related of the spiritual observances of merry old England at the Eastertide, and too little told of the culinary achievements that tickled the palates of peasants and courtiers alike on that great feast day.

Not only were these Easter dishes intriguing in appearance and taste, but they were made doubly fascinating by folk ceremonies that attended them.

A Dish a Day for Britons.

Nearly every day of the old English Easter week had its own special dish and unusual practices to go along with it. Shrove Tuesday was, and still is, in some sections, known as "Pancake day." Although the term "shrove" was originally derived from the Anglo-Saxon "scrifan," meaning to levy a penance, the English epicures evidently invented a most delightful way of paying up, for on this day it became traditional for every family to bake thick, mealy pancakes, flavored with sherry, and serve them sizzling hot for breakfast.

Maundy Thursday was the day on which the kings of England used to distribute baskets of food, known as "maunds," to the poor. These were especially coveted for the fine, white bread that they contained, loaves such as those being rare delicacies of that time. James II. was the last sovereign to perform this ancient ceremony with all the elaborate church rites that attended it.

Hot Cross Bun Selling.

Good Friday fairly abounds in curious legends and customs connected with hot cross buns. In the early hours of Good Friday morning, Englishmen used to be abruptly torn from their pleasant slumbers by the great hue and cry of the bun vendors, who paraded the twisting, narrow streets of the towns, pushing their unwieldy bun carts before them, and chanting from dawn to dusk the familiar, old refrain: "Hot cross buns! One a penny, two a penny! Hot cross buns!"

Since modern warming contrivances were unknown in those days, these vendors had a difficult time keeping their wares hot. They carried them in large wicker baskets, such as we still use on wash days here. The buns were placed in layers of flannel to keep them warm, and then covered over with an outer cloth of white or green. It is related that the bun vendors of old were also extremely cautious in the manner in which they handed out the buns to customers, permitting only one hand to slide gingerly beneath the covers in drawing out their wares, thus allowing only the smallest possible breath of air to penetrate inside.

Older Buns Different.

The hot cross buns of yesteryears were much more crisp and crunchy than our softer modern ones. They also were more highly flavored with spices, and had a sticky coating of browned sugar. So favorite a dainty did these old pastries become with the English, that more than two hundred years ago in Chelsea, two royal bun houses sprang up, waging the bitterest of "bun feuds" over the all important question of which baked the best buns?

Each contended that the English kings and queens, themselves, patronized its house. One took the name of The Chelsea Bun House, and the other that of the Real Old Original Chelsea Bun House. Popular taste seemed to shift, at intervals, from one to the other.

Glory Enough for All.

Both occupied large, frame buildings with covered counters, stretching along their fronts. People used to travel miles on foot and horseback, getting up at the first flush of dawn on Good Friday morning, to eat fresh hot cross buns there, or to buy them in square, black boxes to take back home.

Although the Christian sign of the cross has been imprinted upon these hot cross buns for many centuries now, they were really products of pre-Christian times! Egyptian priests used to sell buns in front of their temples, compiling small fortunes from these strange "admission tickets."

In primitive England, pagan tribes rudely mixed ceremonial buns of coarse grain and water as an offering to the coming of the spring sun, an event which they celebrated at wild festivals. With the coming of Christianity, the clergy waged warfare against this pagan practice, but met with such scant success that they evidently decided to make the best of a bad bargain by converting the buns into Christian symbols through the holy mark of the cross.

Some Used as Talismans.

Another strange kind of bread, baked by old English cooks on Good Friday, was a loaf of very hard biscuit dough, having the sign of the cross perforated in it. The peasants carefully hung these loaves from their cottage roofs, leaving them there until Good Friday morning of the following year as special talismans to protect their homes from fire. In the dark, superstitious days prior to modern medicine, to these curious loaves were attributed the healing powers of the family doctor of modern times.

Whenever an illness fell upon them, these devout peasants of long ago would dissolve small bits of the bread in water, and drink it with as much faith in its curative qualities as we would have in the scientifically prescribed medicine or tonic of today!

Egg Dishes Are Satisfying from Morn to Night Snack

BY IRENE STEYSKAL.

Nothing more effectively arouses the latent fairy godmother powers of a cook than does a carton of eggs. Here are a dozen smug, prosaic, repressed, shellbound little entities. We wave a mixing spoon over them, execute a few more Houdini gesticulations, and—presto! In their place is a fluffy blonde omelet, a tantalizing satiny custard, a suave soufflé, or a provocative salad.

And any time from breakfast to midnight snack time is the witching egg hour. For every mealtime mood, the home economics experts maintain, there is an appetizing and nutritive egg dish. Particularly acceptable are these egg courses in the spring, when the digestive system registers a plaintive plea for a lighter, more versatile fare than we have been providing it with during the winter months.

It is well to remember that slow cooking at a low, even heat—between 250 and 300 degrees Fahrenheit for baking in the oven and a temperature below boiling for cooking in water—is essential to success in the preparation of egg dishes. At a more intense heat the whites toughen and become difficult to digest.

Orange Omelet Delicious.

Any inventive urge you may have should be given carte blanche in the omelet field. Here the veriest amateur can hope for a triumph in flavors. Our most recent successful culinary experiment was an orange omelet, which can be reproduced by this process:

Beat the yolks of 2 eggs and stir into them a pinch of salt, the grated rind of half an orange, 2 tablespoons of orange juice, and 4 tablespoons of powdered sugar. Into this mixture fold the egg whites, which have been beaten stiffly. Cook as a plain omelet. When cooked spread with orange marmalade, fold, and sprinkle generously with powdered sugar.

Stuffed Egg.

Another old story that lends itself delectably to new variations is the stuffed egg. For luncheon or a late supper you may enjoy stuffed eggs prepared in the following manner:

Cut hard cooked eggs—as many as are desired—lengthwise. Carefully, in order that the whites may not be broken, remove the yolks. Smooth the yolks, stir in a little cream, salt, pepper, and flakes of salmon or tuna fish. Fill the egg whites with this mixture, dressing each cup with mayonnaise. Sprinkle with paprika. Place on top of each cup a slice of stuffed olive. These eggs should be served on slices of tomato in nests of lettuce or on square molds of tomato jelly garnished with perky sprigs of parsley or watercress.

Try Them This Way.

Instead of frying or scrambling them try the breakfast eggs this way some morning:

For each egg toast a circular slice of whole wheat bread. Separate the eggs carefully. Make a nest of stiffly beaten egg whites on each piece of toast. Into each nest drop a yolk. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and dot with flecks of butter. Cook in a moderate oven. Serve with crisp bacon.

Menus Tomorrow

MARY MEADE'S menus for Saturday and Sunday will appear in tomorrow morning's Tribune. Watch for them, together with the Saturday food marketing news story. Miss Meade's menus will enable you to take advantage of week-end food bargains and to plan attractive meals more economically.

Best Meat Buys Now Are Fresh Pork and Veal

In its regular weekly report, issued for the guidance of consumers, the committee on marketing information of the Meat Council of Chicago states:

"All cuts of fresh pork are recommended to the housewives of Chicago as the most economical meat buys over the coming week-end. Shoulder of veal is also selling at attractive prices in retail meat stores at the present time.

CAN READERS HELP WITH THE "GA-HOCKDAS"?

Recipes from Across Sea Given.

Economical tips for week-end food shoppers—a Saturday morning radio feature—will be presented tomorrow by Mary Meade over station W-G-N. Tune in at 9:45 for Miss Meade's market chat.

BY MARY MEADE.

Mrs. K. H. asks: "Could you or any of your readers send me the recipes for the kosher dishes 'gahockda liver' and 'gahockda herring'?"

Well, I've searched and hunted, but the files and usual sources of information don't seem to give up one "ga-hockda," so if any of you are friends with these dishes, would you like to pass them on?

Now for the recipes we do have. First, for Mrs. H. M. B., is a French fried cake, known by the name of "beignets soufflés." These delectable bits of puffiness, by the way, grew up in the courts of Saladin and constituted, so we are told, that ruler's final compliment to his royal prisoner, Louis, king of France, upon his release to return to his gay capital with pleasant memories of eastern cookery—and a purloined recipe for what the guileful French chefs straightway renamed "beignets soufflés."

FRENCH FRIED CAKES.

(Beignets Soufflés.)
1 cup water.
¼ teaspoon salt.
1 teaspoon sugar.
¼ cup butter.
1 cup sifted flour.
5 eggs.
Deep fat for frying.

Heat the water, butter, salt, and sugar to boiling. Turn the fire low and quickly mix in the flour, smoothing out lumps and stirring until the batter leaves the pan. Cool and then add the unbeaten eggs, one at a time, blending each carefully before adding another. Have the fat hot [380 degrees F.] and drop in the batter by teaspoonfuls—about the size of a walnut. And then watch them puff! By the time they have become golden brown they will have blown themselves up to the size of an apple. Try to fry only about four at once lest they crowd each other. Take them out with a whip or a slotted spoon and drain. Sprinkle with powdered sugar and serve hot.

Next for a true British dessert sought after by one of our readers—Miss F. R.

NOTTINGHAM TARTS.

First butter individual baking dishes and sprinkle with powdered sugar. Now prepare thin slices of good eating apples and use them to line the dishes. Sprinkle the apples with water and place over a slow fire or in a moderate oven until the apples are tender. Meanwhile, melt a half cup [for four servings] of marmalade in a sauce pan and then strain through a fine sieve, pouring the liquid over the apples. Sprinkle with more sugar and then cover the top of each tart with stiffly beaten, sweetened egg whites. Brown in a hot oven. It's also quite properly English to make this little tart more substantial by first lining the ramekins with a thin layer of short pastry.

Next on the list comes a request from Mrs. A. R. M. for an old Creole favorite:

JAMBALAYA.

2-3 cup minced ham.
2 cups canned tomatoes.
½ tablespoon butter.
1½ tablespoons chopped pimiento.
Salt and pepper to taste.

LUNCHEON FOR A PRESIDENT AT ONLY 7½ CENTS!

It's Good, Too, Says Roosevelt.

Washington, D. C., March 23.—(AP)—President Roosevelt had an economy 7½ cent luncheon the other day and declared it "good."

It was served Mrs. Roosevelt in the executive mansion under a menu prepared by the home economics department of Cornell university.

Not to be outdone, the President had the same luncheon sent to him at his desk in the executive office. He ate all of it.

The cost was estimated at 7½ cents per person. It included hot stuffed eggs with tomato sauce, mashed potatoes, prune pudding, bread, and coffee.

If others want to lunch as the White House family did, at very low cost but with balanced diet, here are the recipes:

HOT STUFFED HARD BOILED EGGS.

Cut five eggs in half lengthwise, removing yolk thoroughly. Mix the yolk with other ingredients, which are one-half teaspoonful minced onions and one teaspoonful vinegar; mix to paste consistency with tomato juice and one-fourth teaspoonful salt and pinch of pepper; stuff filling back into egg white.

TOMATO SAUCE.

One cut tomato, one-fourth cup cold water, one teaspoon sugar, one tablespoon fat, preferably bacon; two tablespoons flour, one-fourth small onion chopped fine, one-half teaspoon salt. Cook tomato, onion, sugar, water, and salt for five minutes. Put through coarse sieve. Melt fat and blend with flour thoroughly. Add tomato mixture slowly, stirring constantly. Cook until thickened.

PRUNE PUDDING.

One-fourth pound prunes, one-half cup cold water, one-half cup sugar, two cups prune water, one inch thick stick of cinnamon, one-fourth teaspoonful powdered cinnamon, four tablespoons of flour, and four tablespoons cold water. Soak prunes overnight in one and a half cups cold water. Cook in same water until tender over slow fire in covered dish. Drain. Save liquid. Remove seeds, cut prune into bits. Add sugar, cinnamon, and hot prune juice. If juice does not measure two cups add enough water to make up measure.

Bring to boiling point and simmer ten minutes. To the flour add the four tablespoons cold water and mix to a smooth paste. Add slowly to the prune mixture, stirring carefully, and cook for ten minutes over a low fire or over boiling water. Remove stick of cinnamon and pour into a bowl or mold. Serve cold.

Chicago Dogs Await Opening of Show Today

Final Beauty Treatments Given Them.

BY RUTH DE YOUNG.

While society's sportsmen have been taking some valuable lessons the last several months in "wildcats" that have left them scarred and torn, they have also been devoting themselves to canine investments that have remained faithful on the journey from penthouses to kitchenettes, from juicy steak bones to dry dog crackers.

In gratitude for this devotion the best of the dog fraternity . . . the terriers and the Scotties, the Dachshundes and the poodles with pedigrees several pages long . . . are being plucked and powdered for entry at 10 o'clock this morning in the 32d all-breed show of the Chicago Kennel club at the First Regiment armory, 16th street and Michigan avenue.

And if you think these little four legged creatures with wiggly tails and rubber nosed heads don't receive the beauty treatment equal to that of any debutante or gold coast baby, you have another guess coming. For every day of the show [and this means today, tomorrow and Sunday] there is an hour or more with a skilled beautician. The terrier breeds are plucked [never clipped], their toenails trimmed, even their eyebrows plucked. Finally comes the powder and sometimes a bit of rouge to bring out the colorings, as with the English bulls. Some of these hairy aristocrats demand an oil treatment for the sheen of their coats. The most elaborate treatment of all, however, is reserved for the hour before they walk into the ring for final judging.

Society is planning to attend the show in goodly numbers because the list of entries from north side households and kennels north and northwest runs into the dozens. Among them there is no dog with a prouder mistress than Zy, who answers the doorbell at the Horace Newcomets apartment at 1242 Lake Shore drive with a friendly bark. He is a Russian wolfhound [his full title is Lasky's Russian Zyclon], he is six months old, and his mistress is Miss Marian Newcomet, a student at the Latin School for Girls. This is the first year the Newcomet family has been represented in the Kennel club show.

Conspicuous by their absence this time will be the pugs of Mrs. James B. Waller and the German shepherd dogs owned by Mrs. Geraldine Rockefeller Dodge of New York. Yesterday Mrs. Waller made a quick decision not to bring in her string of six prize pugs. As she explained, "There is no one else entering any pugs and it's rather useless to bring mine in to have some one tell me which is the best." In her kennels at Libertyville Mrs. Waller has 30 pugs, four litters of new puppies, and several Great Danes. The reason, says one dog fancier, that pugs have lost the popularity they used to enjoy is that they are such enormous eaters.

Mrs. Waller's withdrawal is no deterrent, however, to her good friend, Mrs. W. Harold Cluxton, who will have three Russian wolfhounds in the show. As far as popularity is concerned this year there is nothing to equal wire haired fox terriers. [The prince of Wales is responsible for this popularity, you may recall.] Alexander Stewart, president of the Chicago Kennel club, who owns the well known Strathway kennels at Barrington, is to have several entries, including a prize winner he recently brought from London, and Dr. and Mrs. Samuel Milbank are bringing a "wire hair" from New York . . . according to custom.

Prominent in the terrier class also will be the string of six Airedales Harold M. Florsheim is transporting from Highland Park. Last year Mr. Florsheim took the trophy . . . the John C. Eastman in Memoriam award, which every owner covets . . . with Walnut Barmaid of Harham, one of the sextet. Then there will be the two Kerry blue terriers of Mr. and Mrs. Orrin H. Baker of 3800 Lake Shore drive, lively little fellows that look like animated chrysanthemums, and the Sealyham . . . a terrier the size of a Scottie, but broader of beam . . . that Mrs. Brayton Witherell of Winnetka owns.

Mrs. John B. Barnes, who was Helen Howell before her marriage, has just returned Tobey of Barrington, one of her two English bulls, from the Westminister Kennel club show in New York in time to enter him here. He took a blue ribbon down east so she has high hopes this weekend. Mrs. Barnes' father, Thomas M. Howell, who likes nothing better than his kennels of Irish wolfhounds and Labrador retrievers out at Barrington, will have two entries.

And then there will be Morris V. Reynolds trying for the $1,000 Eastman trophy or some one of the other cash awards that mount to $8,000 with his Doberman Pinschers . . . . these are the real German police dogs, though German shepherds have been popularly named police dogs. . . . Darwin Custer of Winnetka with his Irish setter, Mrs. Lawrence Stern of Glencoe with Alldin-les-Noir, her cocker spaniel, and the Stanley Stones of Milwaukee with their three Scotties. And who doesn't love a Scottie?

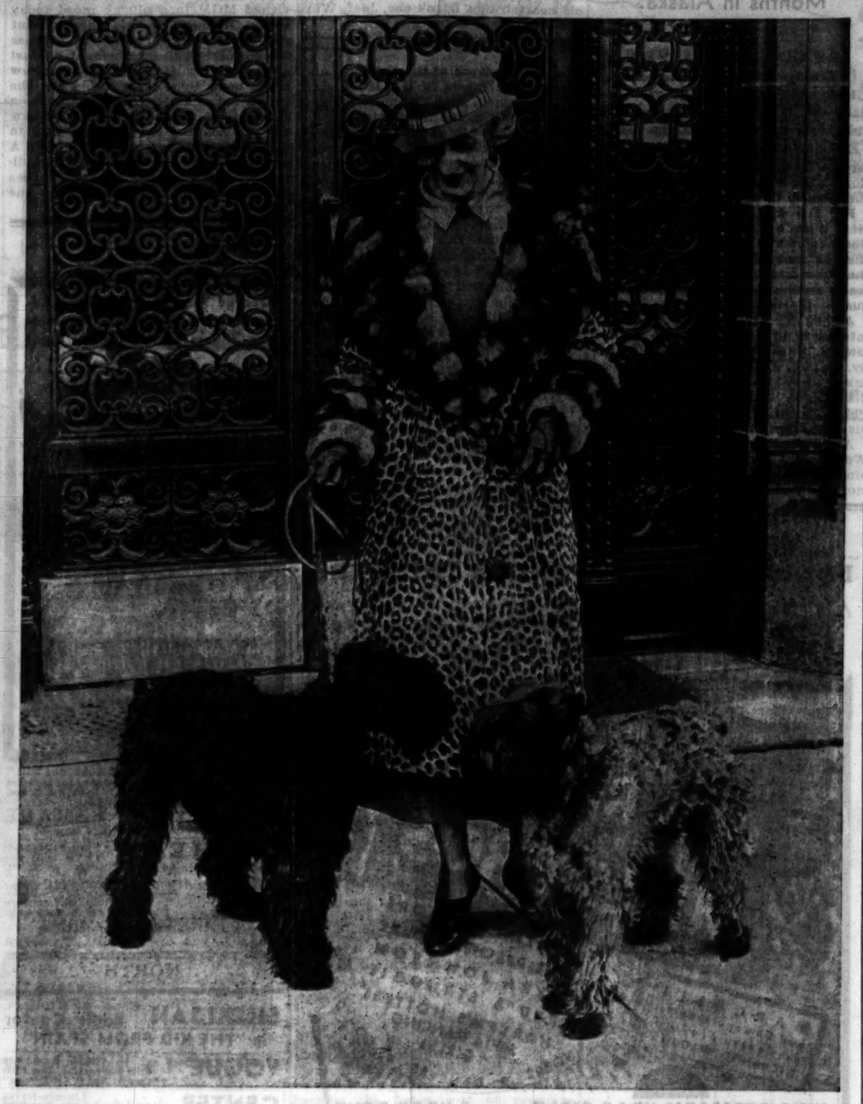
Miss Phillips to Report Congress of Women Plans

Miss Lena Madesin Phillips of New York, president of the National Council of Women, will arrive next week to tell Chicago club women of preparations for the congress of women to be held in connection with A Century of Progress. On March 29 she will be the guest of honor at "the president's luncheon" at the Chicago Woman's club. The following day she will speak at a tea at the Palmer house, where Mrs. Gertrude Loys Hoffman will be hostess to representatives of organizations affiliated with the national council. A massmeeting of women to be held March 31 in the theater of the Chicago Woman's club will also be addressed by Miss Phillips.

Two Entries for Chicago Dog Show



Mrs. Orrin H. Baker and her two kerry blue terriers, "Princess Blue" and "Blue Chip," both of Oak Crest. The dogs will be among the aristocrats of dogdom that will be shown in the 32d all-breed show of the Chicago Kennel club at the First Regiment armory, 16th street and Michigan avenue, which opens this morning.

Two Societies of Art Institute to Hear Talk on Oriental Rugs

Mrs. David B. White Will Lecture and Display 35 Choice Specimens from Collection.

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE Antiquarians and the Orientals of the Art institute, who know so much about so many kinds of art, are to add to their knowledge about oriental rugs next Tuesday afternoon when they hear Mrs. David B. White of St. Louis talk about them—how they are made, the meanings of their designs and how to judge their standards of quality.

Mrs. White is the former Nellie Ballard, daughter of the late James Franklin Ballard of St. Louis, one of America's greatest rug collectors, and she will have thirty-five of the choicest ones of the collection with her for illustrations for her talk.

After the talk, which will be given in the Oriental galleries of the Art institute and will start at 3:30 o'clock, there will be a tea for Mrs. White. Mrs. Potter Palmer, president of the Antiquarians, and Mrs. Alfred E. Hamill will pour, and acting as hostesses will be Mrs. Chauncey B. Borland, Miss Kate Buckingham, Mrs. Richard T. Crane Jr., Miss Naomi Donnelley, Mrs. George T. Langhorne, Mrs. Chauncey McCormick, Mrs. Silas H. Strawn, Mrs. Joseph L. Valentine, Mrs. J. Paul Welling, and Mrs. Walter B. Wolf. Russell Tyson is chairman of the Orientals and he now is traveling in the orient. When he returns in May he undoubtedly will have much of interest to impart to his fellow members.

Mrs. White's sister, Miss Bernice Ballard, spent most of last summer in Chicago, at the Drake hotel, and shortly after her return to New York, where she and her father lived during the last few years of his life, she was married to Harold Arthur Barker of that city.

Two Chicagoans in Daisy Chain

There is no doubt about it. Miss Elizabeth Eckhart and Miss Dorothy Darby are two of the two dozen prettiest sophomores at Vassar college. Yesterday they were selected by their classmates to carry the traditional chain of daisies on Vassar's senior class day next June.

Miss Eckhart, the daughter of the Percy B. Eckharts of Kenilworth, has given her family all sorts of reasons to be proud, for it was just two weeks ago that she wrote home she had been elected president of her class. She is the tallest of the Eckharts' four daughters, a blonde, and athletic. In fact, she has a whole room full of trophies at Vassar that she has won in basketball, hockey, tennis, and equestrian competitions.

Miss Darby is the daughter of the R. J. Darbys of Winnetka and she is also a lovely, tall, slender blonde. She went from Pine Manor to Vassar, where her primary interests are dramatics and economics. Both Miss Eckhart and Miss Darby are honor students.

Junior League Sale Is Usual Riot

At noon yesterday thirty-five weary Junior leaguers threw down their salesbooks, straightened their backs, looked ruefully at their soiled and blistered hands, and congratulated themselves on the success of the annual spring second-hand clothes sale.

Crowds had been waiting outside on North Wabash avenue since 7 o'clock and at 8, when the sale opened, a policeman was pushed through the glass door by the pressure of the eager shoppers. For the next three hours women pushed, tugged and scrambled for desired articles.

In the armfuls of clothes that salesgirls brought to be wrapped were complete wardrobes—everything from the skin out, including hats and shoes. Girls guarding the shoe counters were cautioned to watch that the customer did not trade the patent leathers she was wearing for a newer and better pair "swiped" from the stock.

"Cries of alarm were heard as photographers' flashlights exploded and also as the women got too roughly treated in the mob entering the shop. Through the windows mounted police were seen keeping the people in line. After the rush, Miss Catharine Noyes climbed upon a table and became an energetic and capable auctioneer, getting the best offers on higher priced, unbought clothes.

The bowler, shirt, collar and tie belonging to the much advertised full-dress suit brought 35 cents, but as they were never paid for or called for at the package counter, the bowler was at last sold alone for five cents at the final auctioning of odds and ends. At this final auction one woman who would always pay a nickel more than the others could afford incurred the enmity of two neighbors and they encouraged every one to bid against her, and asked the girls not to let her have any more things.

The eager buyer, however, would snatch the article out of the girls' hands, throw a dime on the counter

Mrs. Peterkin Describes Her Art of Living

Play Your Role Gracefully, Advice of Novelist.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"In spite of the evidence in much of modern literature, life is not a comedy, not even an elegant comedy," Julia Peterkin said yesterday when she spoke before the Arts Club of Chicago on "The Art of Living," in what she apologetically said was an accent without "ing's" and "r's," but which sounded, as one of her audience said, like the soft quiet of a slow moving river instead of the babbling of a brook.

Every person, to make an art of living, must know his or her rôle, and play it with as much grace as it is possible to achieve, she said, and told about her own rôle as mistress of a great plantation, a rôle which she assumed overnight, she said, when she went, as a gay, carefree bride, to Lang Syne. Immediately she became an idea to the Negroes on the plantation, and she knew that it must be as that idea that she must live. She illustrated her point by an anecdote. "One time I was driving two guests over to see an especially beautiful view of the river when I got mired in a mud hole. The two guests got out and tried to help, but we didn't make any progress. In about a half hour Ellis, the plantation foreman, rode up. One of my guests said to him: 'Ellis, do you think Mrs. Peterkin is going to get out?' He replied: 'Miss? My God, Miss pull out of hell!'"

That confidence in "Miss," the attitude of every black [and white] person for miles about, is evident to any one three minutes after they set foot on Lang Syne, as I know from a visit there last fall. Everything, birth, death, joy, tragedy, is brought to "Miss" to be "pulled out." Mrs. Peterkin always says that Lang Syne is "out of the world." In a peculiarly subtle fashion, Lang Syne is not out of the world, but a world self-contained. And as mistress of Lang Syne Julia Peterkin is a very great lady, indeed, and it is considered merely one of the idiosyncracies of her position that "Miss" writes books.

If it hadn't been for the help she had from Chicago, she said to the Friends of American Writers who entertained her at tea the day before, she would never have gone on with her writing, and 1933 marks the tenth anniversary of the publication of her first work in Poetry magazine. Miss Monroe by that publication and Carl Sandburg by his enthusiasm for her accuracy of observation and her genius in translating without transmuting the Negro spirit were really responsible for her persistence in writing.

But she resents the popular part—to go back to her lecture at the Arts club—which Chicago plays. "Why so you ALLOW your city to play the rôle of the city of crime?" she asked with vehemence. "Why do you allow this vital, young, eager, forward looking city, as clean and upstanding as any young athlete, to be known as the wickedest city in America?"

The old south knew the art of living, she pointed out. It was not the civil war which destroyed the south. "That is only an excuse. The destruction of the south began when it became more interested in material prosperity than in preserving its ideals."

Mrs. Peterkin has a supremacy in South Carolina which most of her Chicago admirers never even suspect. The Peterkin asparagus is famous and Julia Peterkin, author of "Bright April," "Green Thursday," "Bright Skin," and "Scarlet Sister Mary," winner of the Pulitzer prize for 1928, is inordinately proud of being the best asparagus grader in Carolina. I publicly nominate her as the best human grader in the south.

MINUTE MYSTERY CAN YOU SOLVE IT?

BY H. A. RIDLEY

[Copyright, 1933: By The Chicago Tribune.]

OFFICER HELLUM'S OVERSIGHT.

The broken wires of the window screen where a bullet passed through caught and held the lace curtain when Ann Goodward clutched it as she fell to the floor in a faint. When she regained consciousness Officer Hellum was standing beside her.

"I heard my husband put the car up, professor. He seemed to be unusually long at it," explained Mrs. Goodward. "Suddenly there was a shout—then the report of a gun! I ran to the next room for my husband's revolver, rushed back here to the window and saw him lying on the grass. That's all I remember—I fainted!"

"She's got her story all fixed," remarked the officer in an undertone to Inspector Kelley. "Why didn't she rush out the door instead of coming back here if she was going to her husband's assistance?"

"Good point, Hellum. We'll ask her!"

"I—I——" stammered the excited woman in reply to Kelley's questions.

Just then Fordney entered the room after making an examination of the body.

"Only one shot hit him and that passed clear through," he said. "I found no footprints or sign of a struggle. Apparently the man was taken unawares.

"It's my belief, sir, that she shot her husband. There certainly wasn't any one around when I ran up!"

Fordney shook his head in disagreement. "I don't think she did, son." Turning to Kelley he remarked, "You might examine that gun, but I'm confident you'll find it hasn't recently been fired. I believe Mrs. Goodward is telling the truth!"

WHY?

Small People Get Their Day in City Shops

Sizes Have the Swank of Larger Models.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Small clothes, prissy little frocks with a total lack of any kind of a kick, have at last disappeared from the collections especially designed for small shoppers. Up to this time shopping for clothes with a certain amount of adult appeal has been rather discouraging, but now all the elevens, twelves, thirteens, and fourteens can find clothes with all the sophistication of a perfect thirty-six.

You can find suits that are tailored with all the swank imaginable . . . stunning looking gray flannel models, fashioned with clever curves, discreet pockets, notched collars and a slim straight skirt, a coat and skirt combination that simply shrieks of British tailors direct from Saville row.

One gray suit tailored within an inch of its existence boasts of three pieces, a cutaway jacket, a straight coat and a regular vest-waistcoat affair of small checked wool fabric. The jacket and skirt are of plain stone-gray flannel.

Another small sized suit that can swank down any boulevard, with the critical spectators viewing it with great approval, is a copy of a Schiaparelli original . . . it is of soft dove gray wool with widened shoulder effects as only that inventive designer can plan. It is double-breasted so that you can wear it closed high, sung and wide across your throat line, or opened with wide military looking lapels slanting across the chest section.

Look for the soft dressmaker suits, the distinctive knee length coats with either a colorful printed silk one piece dress or a separate skirt and wide checked gingham, cotton or silk blouse. Another long coat affair is a honey. It is made with a dashing swinging shoulder cape and no sleeves, the collar line is simple and a huge flower of the same gray wool mixture as the coat is pinned to the moderately designed lapel.

Afternoon dresses are more than plentiful, distinctive creations that any small shopper can be proud of . . . you will see small patterned prints. . . . stunning black and blue and solid colors, lavishly trimmed with sheer organdie collars that are fitted and small, so they do not look flyaway and unmanageable on a short silhouette. Perfect gingham frocks in cotton, and the same check gingham pattern in silks and taffetas, are very alluring future buys with jade green belts or any other color contrast you may desire.

But the evening gowns are the gowns that will amaze you. . . you can find sleek clinging crinkled crêpes, frosted with circular ruffles of organza of the same shade as the crêpe silk, or the same gown in black with white organza contrast . . . or the new white crêpe gowns with shoulder bretelles of two shades of organza. One uses two shades of rose against oyster white and other colors are available contrasted with black dresses. A pale green taffeta fashioned with bias seams is dramatized with shoulder bows of almond green velvet.

If you are one of the many eager shoppers looking for smart small sizes this is the time to find those hitherto elusive styles scaled down to petite silhouettes.

The Changeling Bride

By Martha Ostenso

SYNOPSIS.

The Hendersons—Meryl and Margaret, sisters; Flint, their older brother, and Andrew, the father, have lived for twelve years in poverty in a fishing settlement on the shores of Lake Superior, after losing their fortune in Chicago. Andrew went to pieces after the death of his wife. Great-Aunt Letitia, formerly dean of a girls' school in Ohio, is the liaison between the Hendersons and a cultured past. Flint and his friend, Ned Bremner, hope to build up a great export business. Ned is in love with Meryl, but she dreams of a better future. A forest fire brings Blake Lawrence, injured and lost, to the Henderson cottage. There were two great names in nearby Agate Bay and its environs—Lawrence and Greer. Blake is in love with Greer's wife, Christine, and is glad to have two weeks in seclusion with the Hendersons while his broken ankle mends. Meryl falls in love with Blake, who is fond of her, though still enamored of Christine. Christine discovers where Blake is and motors to see him. He tells her he is going to marry Meryl.

INSTALLMENT XI.

AN ACCEPTED PROPOSAL.

Meryl was seated on the grassy roof of the vegetable cellar, the last cold light of evening touching her blown, fair hair. She had her knees huddled up in her arms and she looked somehow forlorn and pathetically young.

She must have heard the tapping of his cane on the pebbled ground, Blake thought, for she started up suddenly and proceeded quickly toward the house.

"Meryl!" he called. "Wait. I want to talk to you."

She paused, and when he seated himself with some awkwardness on the sod incline of the cellar she returned reluctantly and stood before him.

"Please sit down for a minute," he urged.

She looked down at him questioningly and was half frightened by the stern expression on his face. He so rarely smiled, she thought, and she was glad that he did not smile now. For when he did something crumpled helplessly within her. She crouched down on the slope at a secure distance from him, and crossed her arms tightly before her against the wind.

"I'm going away, Meryl," he said presently.

"O, I know, I know!"

Something almost like despair was in her voice.

"It is only because I must go," he added.

"Of course, Blake. I understand." She dropped her hands beside her and looked out over the darkening lake. "I have known—from the first—that you would have to go some time."

He leaned forward and sought her eyes. "I don't want to go away and leave you here," he told her. "I have never been so fond of any one in my life as I am of you."

That was true. One could hate or worship Christine, but fondness would never be a part of one's emotion for her.

Meryl seemed to shrink away from him in bewilderment. Her eyes were fixed upon him in inarticulate questioning. Her half parted lips and her backward blowing hair brought suddenly to his mind a singularly beautiful statue of a dryad he had once seen in an exhibition.

He reached out and gathered her hands into his hand. "You know I mean it, Meryl," he said simply. "When I go, I want you to go with me."

It was curious and disturbing the way she examined his face, as though in his mouth, and eyes, and his brow she hoped to find the hidden answer to some unspoken question. He pressed her fingers in an effort to recall her from whatever strange journeys her thoughts were taking.

"Go with you?" she asked.

Blake smiled. "Meryl, dear—I want to marry you."

She swayed slightly toward him and then straightened like a reed, releasing her hands and leaning back on them as she looked up at him. But her heart was beating so wildly that she had to close her eyes. He was a strange person she told herself, not impetuous and vehement like herself. Why did he not take her in his arms and crush her to him? She wanted that. But she loved him. No matter who or what he had been, she knew that she would have surrendered to him.

"Don't you——" he hesitated. He couldn't ask her if she loved him. He had come to hate the word. "Don't you care for me, Meryl?"

It had grown almost dark. Meryl moved suddenly closer to him and raised herself to her knees. "O, you know I do," she whispered. "Only I wish you weren't you. I wish you were poor and humble, so that you'd know I love you only for yourself."

Blake had never been so profoundly, so solemnly moved. He drew her toward him and kissed her warm mouth with something more closely approaching reverence than he had ever felt before in his life. The touch of her lips went through him with an odd, starting twinge. He held her close.

"Then—you'll come?" he whispered.

"If you really want me I'll go with you—any way at all!"

Then as though she suddenly remembered where she was, she drew away from him and got abruptly to her feet, her hands gathered nervously against her breast.

"Why didn't you ask me a while ago, when we were down on the shore?" she said very low. "Any one might be watching us—here."

Blake smiled ruefully. "I was too stupid, I guess, or I would have asked you long ago," he said gravely. "But they might as well find it out one way as another."

She turned to him with a quick laugh. "When can I tell them?" she asked.

"We'll go in and tell them now," he replied. "I want it to be right away. We leave Agate Bay, you know, in a week or two."

He rose as he spoke and she slipped her arm through his in a friendly way that he liked. They would be friends! He and Christine had never been that. Resolutely he checked the trend of his thought.

He stooped and kissed her again, and together they went toward the house.

Meryl stood on the flat rock overlooking the inlet and watched the boat as it rounded the point and headed shoreward. How often she had stood there and watched her father and Flinty come in from their early morning task, unload their dripping nets and carry them to the racks for drying. But it was different this morning, as all the world was different and would never be the same again. In her utter happiness she caught a glimpse of the regret she would feel tomorrow when she would turn from the life she had known to enter the strange world of Blake Lawrence.

Blake had gone out on the lake with them this morning—she could see him now sitting between her father and Flinty. Perhaps he had gone with them because of the loneliness he knew they must be feeling at the prospect of Meryl's leaving. She knew what they felt, although they had shown little of that last night when Blake had led her into the house and broken the news to the family. Andrew Henderson had laughed a little in surprise, then grown pensive and had murmured, "It is fate, and there's no balking fate." Aunt Letty had knotted her thin old hands together and had looked rather sickishly romantic. Flinty had been lofty, withholding any comment. And young Margaret had been so completely bowled over that she was unable even to gush. But there had been no protest, and only a decently brief discussion of the approaching event.

She turned quickly at the sound of a car that had come in from the main highway and was making its way toward the house. It was not Dr. Trevor's car. She waited until it came to a stop before the Henderson doorway and a modishly garbed lady stepped down and stooped to ruffle Don's ears as the dog climbed upon the running board. Meryl knew at once that the visitor was Blake's sister, Theresa. A quick apprehensiveness smote her as she left her place on the rock and went to meet the woman.

A Friend in Need

If you are in need, perhaps I can help you. If you have household articles or clothing you can no longer use, please tell me. I can place such things with needy families. Address Sally Joy Brown, The Tribune Chicago.

Request for Wall Paper.

"We have never had to ask for help before, but my husband is out of work and we are behind in our rent so we must come to you with this request. Our bedrooms are in dire need of papering and painting and we can't ask the landlord to do the work for us because he has been so nice about the rent. I wonder if some one has a supply of wall paper which we could have. MRS. L. F."

Clean, newly decorated rooms would help to lift the spirits of these depressed people and add a note of cheer to their homes. Perhaps some one with a surplus of several rolls of wall paper would donate them to the F. family.

Eskimo Actors Are Frightened by Hollywood

Van Dyke Returns After 10 Months in Alaska.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., March 23.—[Special.]—W. S. Van Dyke and most of his troupe of actors from the cast of "Eskimo" returned from Alaska yesterday, and their enthusiastic discussion of the wonders of Hollywood was summed up in one word, "Uh."

For the cast, all except for Anna May Wong's sister, are all Eskimos. Their command of the great northern silences proved more extensive than their command of English, and they really seem articulate in only one language—the walrus.

Among the cast Director Van Dyke introduced to Hollywood were the following: Carl Kamesuk, and his family, Gaguk, Disana, and Buank; Dortuk, "the Garbo of the Arctic circle"; little Upik, child actor in the film; Philip Noonfunk, walrus hunter, and his son, Romeo Noonfunk.

Also in the party, besides Miss Wong, were Peter Freuchen, a strapping Norse giant and author of the story, who is guide, interpreter, and adopted patriarch of the Eskimos, and ten male members of the MGM staff of cameramen, sound technicians, and other skilled movie mechanics.

They had all spent ten months in the Arctic, except for bearded Freuchen, who spent 30 years there, and the Eskimos, who spend their lives on Prince of Wales Island.

Dortuk, "the Garbo of the North," wore a three-fourths length white reindeer coat full of little brown flecks, and ornamented on the lower hem with a design of triangles, like a Navaho blanket, white reindeer leggings, white fur soft soled shoes. She has soulful dark eyes and prettily curved lips and chin. Like the real Garbo, she wouldn't say a word, not even "Ay tank ay go home."

Van Dyke, who is unmarried, was greeted by his mother, Mrs. Laura Van Dyke; Albert [Pop] Arnold, the "Grip," who came back with a six inch beard, was greeted by Mrs. Arnold, who brought his 5 month old son, whom he never had seen; Miss Wong was greeted by her Los Angeles high school girl and boy pals of the Chinese quarter, and Capt. Freuchen rumbled a Norse greeting—or maybe it was a malediction—to the unusual noises and complicated sights that beset his Eskimo charges, and sent them into a frightened huddle in the middle of the pavement, where automobiles charged down to bear them to the studio, where a little village has been built to house them.

Hard luck Mae Clarke is out of the hospital after suffering a broken jaw in a recent automobile accident. She visited MGM in a plucky mood today seeing friends and said the accident was a blessing in disguise because she formerly had had to fight against a tendency to let one side of her jaw lower more than the other, while she talked out of a corner of the mouth—a family trait. Now her mouth and jaw are uniform and she looks forward to more success than ever in films. A game girl, and the film colony is pulling for her after her two year series of illnesses and bad breaks, each one removing her from a good part.

Address Doris Blake, The Chicago Tribune regarding problems of the heart. Enclose stamped, addressed envelope for personal reply.

Sounds Like Love.

"Dear Miss Blake: I take a girl out frequently. Afterwards I say I will never see her again but I always call up again. What is it?

"PUZZLED JOE."

The girl sure has some pull on the old heartstrings, hasn't she, Joe? Why are you trying to get away?

with a lordly gesture, and tell them frankly, "I pay you good money—why bother with those other silly womans?"

Miss Margot Atkin, president of the Junior league, said that not only did the sale end sooner than ever before but it was also the most orderly and most efficiently run of any so far. Miss Jean Armstrong, Miss Noyes, and Miss Margaret Wilder were indefatigable workers. Miss Noyes introduced a new type of price tag that saved hours of work in preparing the clothes. Miss Dorothy Dewes, just in town from the east, helped Miss Barbara Eldridge, Miss Grace Flitzmeris, and Miss Anne Smith with wrapping. Miss Katherine Cowin was chairman of the price committee.

Jean Armstrong Going to Bermuda.

As soon as Miss Jean Armstrong had counted the last dollar paid in yesterday to the Junior leaguers, she hurried out to Winnetka and packed her bags for Bermuda. She is taking the afternoon train today, meeting her mother, Mrs. Horace White Armstrong, and her sister, Miss Mary Armstrong, who is a student at Miss Madeira's, in New York tomorrow morning and boarding the Monarch of Bermuda almost immediately for southern climes.

The list of passengers going out on this steamer tomorrow reads like a register of the north shore's prominent residents. Most of them are going "en famille," since the next couple of weeks are an Easter holiday for most of the young men and women in school.

Besides the Armstrong family there will be from Winnetka Mrs. Henry L. Gardner with Miss Mary Gardner and Gifford Gardner and the Clifford Offs with their three sons, Clifford Jr., Samuel, and Robert. The William H. Lyons are taking their two daughters, Mary and Kathryn, as well as a governess.

On the same boat Evanston is to be represented by Kenneth and Richard Burnee, Mrs. R. M. Roloson, Mrs. Burt Denman, who is taking her son, Draper Denman; Miss Dorothy Dayton, and Miss Jean Dunbar. And still a third north shore town, Glencoe, is sending the Alvin Bastiens with their two small daughters, Nancy and Barbara.

From town Edgar J. Uihlein with his son, Edgard J. Uihlein Jr., is going to meet Miss Paula Uihlein, who decided a week ago to stay on in Bermuda for another three weeks when she heard the good news that her father and brother were coming. Mr. and Mrs. Weymouth Kirkland will act as chaperons to a gay party including their son and daughter Weymouth S. Kirkland and Miss Eleanor Kirkland, and the two daughters of his law partner, Miss Josephine Fleming and Miss Lilly Fleming.

And still others who will sail for Bermuda tomorrow morning will be Miss Martha Lee, a debutante of the last season, who is going with her mother, Mrs. T. George Lee; Miss Frances Lasker, daughter of the Albert D. Laskers; the Wallace F. Kirks, and Samuel A. Culbertson II. and Miss Vesta Culbertson.

Bridal Dinner for Miss Carr

Mr. and Mrs. Hunter S. Marston of New York, who are here as the house guests of Mrs. George R. Nichols Jr. of North State parkway for the marriage tomorrow of their son, Edgar L. Marston II., and Miss Florence Carr, are giving the bridal dinner for their future daughter-in-law tonight at the Casino. The party will be a dinner dance with cocktails beforehand at the residence of Miss Carr's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. W. Press Hodgkins of Lake Shore drive. Mr. and Mrs. Marston will return to New York on Sunday.

Miss Eleanor Wheeler, who is to be one of Miss Carr's attendants tomorrow, has returned from Castle Hot Springs, Ariz., and her mother and sister, Mrs. Seymour Wheeler and Miss Christabel Wheeler, have proceeded farther west to a ranch at Palm Springs, Cal.

Alfred H. Granger has taken an apartment at 900 North Michigan avenue in anticipation of the return week after next of Mrs. Granger from Vienna.

Many Attend Arts Club Lecture.

The Arts club was so popular at luncheon time yesterday that a number of tables had to be set in the gallery, for the small and large dining rooms and stage all were filled. It was an unusually smart and gay crowd, too, all in a pleasant mood brought on by listening to Julia Peterkin's delightful talk on "The Art of Living." The crowd for the lecture was so large that many had to sit in the corridor and round gallery outside the living room and they couldn't hear the slow and charming voice of the southern author.

After the talk Mrs. Peterkin, who wore becoming soft greens, had luncheon with Alfred E. Hamill, chairman of the literature committee, whose other guests were Mrs. C. Barney Goodspeed, president, looking smart as usual in navy blue with sleeves with big cartridge pleats at the shoulders; Miss Alice Roullier, Miss Fannie Butcher, Arthur Heun, Arthur Meeker Jr. and Eugene Stinson.

Others present were Mrs. Alfred P. Shaw and her sister, Mrs. Shreve Badger, Mr. Badger and his sister, Mrs. William D. Reichmann; Mrs. Lyell Ritchie, Mrs. Jacob Bischof, Mrs. Eames MacVeagh, Mrs. Albert J. Pardridge, Mrs. Horace J. Bridges, Mrs. Joseph E. Otis, Miss Harris, Mrs. Arthur D. Bissell and her sister, Mrs. Frederic C. Bartlett Jr.; Mrs. Chauncey B. Blair, Mrs. Frank J. Loesch, Mrs. Louis K. Boysen, Mrs. Oliver Pincher, Mrs. Gabriel F. Slaughter, Mrs. Wesley Dixon and her aunt, Dr. Julia Strawn; Miss Agnes Foreman, Mrs. Sidney S. Gorman Jr., Mrs. Frank R. Wheeler, Mrs. Edward A. Leight, Mrs. Otho F. Ball and Mrs. Sidney H. Heap.

Mary Senior Returns Home.

Miss Mary Senior, daughter of the John L. Seniors, returned yesterday from a class reunion at Concord academy.

Mrs. Howell B. Erminger Jr. and Miss Carolyn Erminger left yesterday for the east. They will be at home again in a week.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Forgan sailed yesterday on a West Indies cruise. Mrs. William E. Smith, the former Margaret Forgan, and the two other Forgan children are with them. They will all be at home again in three weeks.

A group of north siders who take their golf very seriously are polishing up their clubs preparatory to going to French Lick April 7 for the second annual Mid-West golf tournament. In the party will be the Paul Walkers, the Frank Blossoms, Mr. and Mrs. Alden B. Swift, the Donald MacMurrays, the Harold Scotts, the Peter Berkeys, and the Tom Finnegans.

The Friday night roller skating parties in the drill hall at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station that have been held all winter for the benefit of the navy relief have become so popular that new invitations have been sent out and they will have to be shown at the main gate.

James B. Forgan Jr. will address the newly formed volunteer service committee of the Chicago chapter of the American Red Cross at 11 o'clock Monday at the chapter headquarters at 616 South Michigan avenue. Mr. Forgan is chairman of the local chapter and he will outline a plan of action for the spring and summer months.

Mrs. C. Morse Ely and Mrs. Charles Garfield King, the co-chairmen of the service committee, are down at the workroom at least five days a week, and so is Mrs. Edwin W. Ryerson, who is one of the vice chairmen. Other vice chairmen include Mrs. Duncan H. Browne, Mrs. Richard T. Crane Jr., Mrs. Marquis Eaton, Mrs. John MacMahon, Mrs. Charles P. Schwartz, Mrs. Patrick A. Valentine, and Miss Margot Atkin and Mrs. John Dern, who represent the Junior league and Service club respectively.

The honorary chairmen of this new group are Mrs. Joseph M. Cudahy, Mrs. George A. McKinlock, and Mrs. Frederic W. Upham, and the secretary, Miss Alice Bremner.

Hospitality . . . and that means that the Red Cross is to have a booth at A Century of Progress. It will be in charge of Mrs. Richard T. Crane Jr., Mrs. Philip K. Wrigley, and Mrs. John J. Mitchell. Miss Katherine Trowbridge will be called upon to make frequent trips to town from Lake Forest as hospital hostess.

Fatty Tissue Vanishes Under West Point System of Exercises

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

The great trick of getting a good head to wear with your new chapeau, ladies, or your new derby, gentlemen, is to iron straight that sway curve at the back of the neck.

This sway, as Maj. Rayner, head of physical training at West Point, observes, is a very common defect, preventing the snappy setup a self-respecting head should have.

"This sway [concave] neck," says Maj. Rayner, "is unsightly and exaggerates the rounded appearance of the shoulders. It is caused by the chin being thrust upward and outward, with a resulting drooping down of the back part of the head. This, of course, gives the upper part of the spinal cord a forward inclination at the junction of the neck and shoulders.

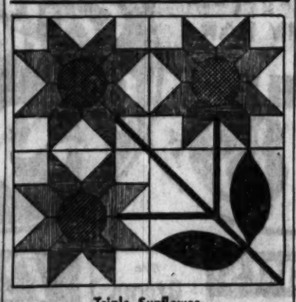
"The head carriage is square to the front, chin level and slightly drawn in. The upper rear part of the head is carried backwards and upwards in order to carry the neck back against the collar, thus insisting upon a straight neck carriage with no concavity.

Most people in their attempts to straighten up shove the chin up, doing thereby the very thing that causes the sway neck. The truth is the sway neck is one of the most neglected points. We haven't had it called to our attention often enough, I presume. We're much more familiar with the evils of the sway back and its effect on posture.

However, ignorance can no longer be an excuse. Throughout this week, daily, I've been calling attention to the importance of the straight line at this point of the anatomy. Each day an exercise has been given to strengthen and straighten neck muscles to give a better head carriage.

Today, we have another valuable neck exercise, which I urge you to take not only for a better poise of the head, but to take off any fatty tissue that stands between yours and a younger throat, chin, and jaw line. For the hollow necked, too, the underdeveloped, these neck exercises are urged.

Warm Sunflower Colors Used in Unusual Design



Triple Sunflower.

BY NANCY CABOT.

In the colors of the sunflower this block should be pieced, making the flower centers brown, the petals golden yellow, the leaves and stems green, and all on a cream background. One of the more unusual designs, "The Triple Sunflower," will appeal to many who appreciates its colorfulness and uniqueness.

For a quilt pattern of this design, send five cents in stamps or coin to Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, printing your name and address clearly. Or call at the Tribune Public Service Office, One South Dearborn street.

Wagner's Best Fills Evening of Orchestra

Marks 50th Anniversary of His Death.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

This year is the fiftieth anniversary of Richard Wagner's death and Mr. Stock and the Chicago Symphony orchestra bore their testimony thereto in a full length concert last night at Orchestra hall.

It was an artful proceeding. It did more for the memory of Wagner than reading the whole library of biographies and appreciations that have accumulated in the last half century, even more than industriously attending the whole series of his operas—always supposing that one lives in a community where such attendance is permitted. It was two hours of high spots, omitting the long tracts of low levels that one will find in all his operas. Possibly its view of him as a composer was not altogether sound criticism, but as a tribute to a man who at his best wrote some of the finest and most enjoyable music ever composed, it could not have been bettered.

Even dealing with high spots as Mr. Stock did, he contrived to develop them into a good deal of a climax. By disregarding their historical sequence he evolved a piling up of mood which became the finest sort of program building. Thus "Parsifal," the last of the works, became the first of the program, and of it Mr. Stock presented the Procession of the Knights of the Holy Grail and then the prelude to Act I. "The Mastersingers of Nuremberg" came next, merely the prelude to Act III., to be followed by a set of excerpts from Act III., ending with the Love-Death.

This was a good place to pause for an intermission. When the bells rang again it was to call attention to "The Nibelungen Ring," excerpts from all four items. The finale of "The Rhinegold" led the procession, followed by the Magic Fire Scene, another finale, of "The Valkyrie." Of "Siegfried" there was the Forest Scene, and of the "Twilight of the Gods" Siegfried's Death Music and the finale.

This was Wagner as conferred upon last night's audience and to be conferred on that of this afternoon. It was the kind of concert to renew one's belief that music is one of the fine things of life.

Mother Works While Dad Does the Crabbing

She's a Bit Sarcastic About Situation.

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"Mother" doesn't think she's getting a square deal out of this depression business. Not when she reads such advice as was recently quoted here, emanating from the well known psychiatrist, Dr. George K. Pratt. Dr. Pratt cautioned wives not to criticize husbands out of work. He called attention to the several dangerous avenues of escape for the depression victim: Suicide, resort to alcohol, drugs, and gambling.

"It will be time and a stamp well spent," she said, "if my letter only reaches your waste basket. I will be greatly relieved just putting on paper words I cannot speak aloud. It concerns your article, quoting Dr. So-and-so on the subject of husband out of work and how they are to be pitied. But does the doctor consider the wife in such a family? Well, here she is:

"Mother comes home at night after eleven hours' work in some one else's home, when she wants to be working in her own, caring eleven hours for the children of other women when it is her own she wants to care for. It's wash, scrub, cook, iron for some one else. She finds father in the big chair, radio going, the article from the morning paper grasped in his hand, reaching to tell mother: 'There is the proof positive!' If she doesn't entertain him a little more and be more thoughtful of him he will land in a drunkard's or suicide's grave.

"She listens to a lecture on the subject as she does the family washing and ironing and patches Willie's underwear. Then, she sends Willie to bed while she presses his one pair of trousers—and at the end of father's discourse he mentions that he has asked the neighbors in for a game of cards. You know, father is out of work. He must have a little diversion and mother must smile and say, 'Yes, dear. Just so you don't get morbid and blue.'

"Father must have the papers and cigarets. It won't do to deny him. Bad for his morale. A few jig-saw puzzles to take up his time, while mother is working jig-saws with the patches. Father doesn't have patches. He must be kept presentable in case he finds a job.

"Mother must keep up her morale without seeing the inside of a beauty parlor and wearing clothes some one else has discarded. Mother hasn't time to consider getting drunk or committing suicide. She would be thankful for one hour of the rest and quiet the doctor thinks has such a good effect on father's nervous system.

"If father used a little more horse sense and less imagination and fewer articles of this kind mentioned were broadcast, it might cause our men, too ready for self-pity, to pull themselves through this depression."

COMPLEXIONS THAT FASCINATE

—even in snapshots

Even a snapshot can reveal no flaw in the exquisite complexions of the Hollywood stars! Laughingly they face the camera . . . serenely confident of the smooth perfection of their lovely skin.

How do they keep this irresistible charm? "We use Lux Toilet Soap for clear, smooth skin," say these three radiant girls. Actually 9 out of every 10 stars you see on the screen use this gentle care.

You try the Beauty Soap of the Stars! Begin today to use fragrant, white Lux Toilet Soap regularly for glamorously lovely skin!

Children Need Parents Who Like Laughter

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

"He's a swell teacher and he's got a swell sense of humor, too," was the comment I heard often during a certain school year in a young friend's life.

Occasionally a sample of this "swell sense of humor" would reach me, mixed up with odds and ends of the day's doings. And always I could see what a "lift" it gave the boys and girls in that teacher's class, whether it was some jolly quip made to an individual child or an amusing remark to the class. And what interested me was that even reproof would sometimes take the form of a joke. Of course, you understand I'm not talking about what is called "wisecracking," which usually has no connection with a real, warm, keen sense of humor.

We who are grown up, whether we're teachers or parents, sometimes forget how to laugh. No, not exactly that—we don't forget how, but we forget to do it. There's magic in laughter. We all should have it, but children actually need it.

Haven't you ever noticed how they laugh on the slightest provocation?

Little children adore to laugh—and older ones, too. Let something happen in a classroom at which the teacher and children can laugh together and see how they make the most of it!

A friend of mine who teaches told me the other day: "One of the girls said to me after school yesterday, 'Miss Johnson, you never smile any more. You used to smile a lot.' Do you know, I felt utterly ashamed." And she went on to say that she had been so absorbed in her recent engagement and her mother's opposition to her marriage that she had withdrawn, unconsciously, from her class.

We get so serious and solemn even, so absorbed in our adult affairs and emotions, or so frowningly intent sometimes on the everyday business of living that we forget to laugh with the children. Let's not.

CHICAGO GREETS NEW YORK GOLDEN GLOVES TEAM

INVADERS TOLD THEY'RE IN FOR GOOD BEATING

BY FRENCH LANE.

The Golden Gloves army from New York came trooping into Chicago yesterday morning for the annual Intercity battle with Chicagoland's champions at the Stadium next Wednesday night.

There were 44 in the party—34 of them boxers—and as they streaked through the loop en route to the Medinah Athletic club where the New York headquarters have been established, those who saw them came to the conclusion they were a rough and ready looking lot.

The New Yorkers were in gay spirits and five hours after their special section of the Broadway Limited steamed into the Union station they were hard at work in the Medinah A. C. gymnasium. The brisk drill took off just about all the extra poundage the New York boys had picked up during their trip.

No Weight Worries.

When the New Yorkers stepped on the scales one after another at the end of the drill, Jack Elliott, the head coach, wore a wide smile. "Our boys will not have much trouble making weight," he said.

A crowd of amateur boxing followers gathered at the Union station to greet the big New York party. In the front ranks was Leo Rodak, co-captain of the Chicago team, who extended a glad hand and gave the key to the city to the New York boys. Rodak then informed them they were in for a terrific lacing at the hands of the Chicago warriors next Wednesday night.

With the arrival of the New York team the sale of tickets for the spectacular and colorful intercity fistic carnival picked up. More seats were sold yesterday than on any one day since the pasteboards were placed on sale. There were plenty of good seats available in every part of the world's largest indoor arena, but if the pace made in yesterday's sale is maintained the Stadium will be packed when the intercity squabble starts.

Sixth Annual Battle.

Last year at Madison Square Garden in New York 21,000 watched the New York team whale the daylights out of the Chicagoans. In 1931 in Chicago a throng of more than 22,000 roared and cheered while the Chicago team gave the New Yorkers an unmerciful thumping. There is a possibility that a crowd just as large will gather at the Stadium next week for the renewal of the feud which now is six years old.

Rodak and Fred Casserio, the co-captains of this year's Chicago team, were members of that smashing Chicago team in 1931. Both won their bouts that year. And they declare they'll whip their New York opponents this year.

Rash Hinders Katz.

There was only one casualty in the New York camp. Julie Katz, the 118 pound champion, was being treated for a face rash which broke out the day after his victory in the Madison Square Garden finals.

It has not affected his physical condition, although it has prevented him from boxing for several days. Much improved after the breezes from Lake Michigan had whipped him about for several hours, he may be able to resume boxing this afternoon when the New York boys will step through one of the hardest drills of their training season. Katz expects to lambast Bud Ginter, the Chicago champion, around the ring when their scrap comes along.

The New York boys were most serious about everything they did during their first day in Chicago. "We'll have our fun after next Wednesday night," said Steve Dudas, the New York heavyweight champion. He appeared to be acting as spokesman for the New York fighting group.

DE PAUL DEFEATS MILWAUKEE FIVE AT LOYOLA, 37-24

BY HOWARD BARRY.

The De Paul academy quintet, Chicago Catholic league titleholder, was forced to play high pressure basketball last night to defeat St. John's Cathedral High school of Milwaukee, 37 to 24, in a first round game of the national Catholic interscholastic tournament at Loyola gymnasium. Ten other teams also advanced to the second round in the course of morning, afternoon, and evening elimination play.

De Paul's victory kept clear the record of the Chicago teams competing in the tournament, St. Rita having disposed of St. Leo of Minot, N. D., 36 to 16, in one of the morning games. St. Patrick's academy, the defending champion, won its first round contest Wednesday night. This morning St. George of Evanston, the only other local team competing, will make its first appearance in the tournament, with St. Mary's High school of Morris, Ill., as its opponent.

Milwaukee Off in Front.

Throughout the first half of the game between St. John's and De Paul the Milwaukee boys held the edge. Shortly after the opening tipoff William Werner surprised the spectators by emerging from a melée and swishing the ball through the net with one hand from a spot well beyond the free throw line. And just to prove it wasn't an accident, he made several similar shots later in the game. Milwaukee led, 15 to 13, at the intermission.

Then the height and weight of the Chicago team began to tell. Immediately after the beginning of the second half a field goal and two free throws carried De Paul to an advantage which it never surrendered.

Yost Leads De Paul.

Nicholas Yost, the big De Paul center, kept his quintet in the running at a time when the St. John attack was clicking to its best effect, scoring 10 of his team's 13 points in the first half. His total for the game was five field goals and five free throws.

In the other two games of the evening Catholic High school of Baton Rouge, La., beat St. Joseph academy of Enid, Okla., 24 to 22, and Central Catholic High school of Fort Wayne, Ind., overwhelmed St. Francis Xavier Cathedral High school of Green Bay, Wis., 48 to 7. The first of these two games was one of the most closely fought of the tournament and the second was the most one sided, the Fort Wayne team setting the high scoring record for the tournament

LOOKING FOR FIGHTS—THEY'LL GET 'EM

TINNING HASTENS HIS END AS CUBS LOSE, 13 TO 10

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

San Francisco, Cal., March 23.—Lyle [Fat Boy] Tinning, who last winter conspired with his grocer, butcher, and confectioner to eat himself out of the National league, today neared his goal when he permitted the San Francisco Missions, Coast league tailenders in 1932, to bowl him over for one run in the third inning, five in the fourth, and six in the fifth. The Missions made one run off Carroll Yerkes the rest of the way and won, 13 to 10.

The Cubs made 12 hits, including a homer with one on by Bill Jurges, and two triples by Kiki Cuyler, which accounted for the Cubs' first four runs.

The Cubs were riding along comfortably when Tinning put on his big wilting tableau and when Tinning waddled off the scene the Cubs were trailing, 12 to 6.

Missions Start Scoring.

The Cubs enjoyed a 4 to 1 lead at the end of the first three innings. Bill Herman opened the game by caroming a single off the pitcher's glove. English walked. Then Ki knocked triple No. 1 to drive home Bill and Woody, and scored when Demaree sent a long fly to Almada. In the third inning English singled and rode home on Ki's triple No. 2.

In the end of the third the Missions negotiated their first run. Eckhardt doubled and scored on Dahlgren's single. Jurges' homer over the far distant left field fence was good for two runs in the fourth. Bill's smack followed a pass to Campbell.

The Missions tied the score with a five run attack on Tinning in the fourth inning. A double by Walters, a single by Cascarart, a walk to Fitzpatrick, singles by Parker and Almada, and a two base throwing error by McCarron did the damage.

It Goes On and On.

Hafey opened the Missions' fifth inning with a double to left and was stopped at third on Walters' single. Cascarart was thrown out by English, Hafey scoring, and Fitzpatrick doubled, scoring Walters. Pillette singled to center and Fitzpatrick ran home. Almada continued the unfriendly demonstration against the Cub fat boy with a double past H. Taylor, Pillette stopping at third.

Sever walked, filling the bases. Eckhardt singled to center, scoring Pillette and Almada and putting Sever on third. Eckhardt stole second, and when Campbell threw the ball to center field Sever scored and Eckhardt pulled up at third. Dahlgren obligingly struck out, and Hafey, up the second time in the inning, flied to Demaree.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Santa Cruz, Cal., March 23.—After much difficulty the White Sox pounded through to a 13 to 8 victory over the Seattle Coast league team here this afternoon. However, the funeral-like pace at which the show was conducted was partially compensated for by the fact that the bat of Al Simmons finally functioned like its real self. Simmons collected four hits in six attempts. He also scored three times and drove in three other runs.

The game furnished a chance to two Sox pitching candidates to prolong their big league standing. Only one of the two was even fair. Curt Boone, who is attempting a comeback after being out of baseball with a dead arm, started and remained only until the going became tough in the fourth. He was charged with six runs and six hits.

Heving Has Little Trouble.

Boone was rescued by Joe Heving, former Giant, who went through to the finish on two runs, both of which could have been avoided if Luke Appling hadn't erred at short.

The two pitchers opposed to the Sox were left handers. The fashion in which their stuff was handled indicated the Chicagoans this year will not fear any except the best of southpaws. Ten hits were fabricated off Phil Page, ex-Penn State athlete, in seven innings. Then Dick Freitas, unrelated to the Athletics' star left hander, took charge and was rocked for four runs in the eighth.

Badgro Hits Two Homers.

Until this point the Sox hadn't been able to pile up any kind of a comfortable edge, mainly because Fred Badgro, one time Pacific coast football star and former member of the St. Louis Browns, hit two homers good for four runs. Both these were off Boone, but after Heving's arrival Badgro didn't get the ball out of the infield.

The Sox waited until the second inning before getting down to business. A pass to Kress and a double by Dykes, followed by a pair of outs, scored two runs. Badgro wiped out this advantage in the home half with his first homer after Muller had walked.

Doubles by Appling and Kress with some outs gave the Sox another pair in the fourth. This edge lasted only until the home half when four runs concluded the reign of Boone. Heving took over the pitching with one out.

Dykes' Triple Scores Three.

Fonseca, Simmons and Dykes conspired to collect three runs and put the Sox back in front in the fifth. Fonseca doubled and stopped at third on a single by Simmons. Appling struck out. A pass to Kress filled the bases. Dykes cleaned them with a triple into the right center field corner. Then the lead was lost again in Seattle's fifth. Heving walked Muller and hit Cox in the ribs. One scored on Appling's daily fumble and the other went home on a double steal, in which Appling made a poor return of Grube's perfect throw to second. This left the score at 8 to 7 for Seattle.

The Seattle third baseman made a two base bad throw on a grounder by Fonseca to start the seventh. Simmons' single and a double by Appling accounted for two runs. Then the eighth brought Freitas and the four runs that made victory a certainty. Funk walked, Hayes singled and Fonseca walked. Simmons scored two with a single. Appling sacrificed and Kress hit one past third like a bullet, sending home Fonseca and Simmons.

The Sox move over to San José tomorrow to fill a date with the Portland Beavers.

Thornton Wins, Lake View Loses in State Tournament

Champaign, Ill., March 23.—[Special.]—Springfield, Gillespie, Thornton of Harvey, and Benton were left to battle for the state high school basketball championship after today's opening round of the state tournament at the University of Illinois, in which Mahomet, Lake View, Hutsonville, and Canton were eliminated.

Springfield and Gillespie, which are about forty miles apart, will meet in the first semi-finals tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock. Thornton, which made the best impression of any of the victorious five today, will be matched against Benton an hour later.

A crowd of approximately 4,500 saw tonight's game and 2,500 attended the afternoon sessions. The surprise of the day was the defeat of Lake View by Gillespie as the Chicago champions were rated much stronger.

Gillespie Jars Lake View.

Gillespie's small but aggressive team defeated Lake View, 25 to 23. It was anybody's game up to the final gun, both teams missing setup shots in the last minute of play.

Thornton High school established itself as a strong contender by whipping Mahomet, 39 to 28.

Benton conquered Canton, 23 to 21, in a battle which required two overtime periods. The score at the end of the regulation time was 18 to 18 and at the end of the first overtime period 21 all. Link's basket broke the tie.

Springfield beat Hutsonville, 30 to 15, never being extended.

Free Throws Play Big Part.

Gillespie outscored the Chicagoans from the field by two baskets but Lake View made seven out of 16 free throws, much better than Gillespie, which accounted for five out of 16. Lake View held a 6 to 5 lead at the end of the first quarter. Gillespie led at the half, 13 to 10, and 21 to 16 at the end of the third quarter. Jones' short basket broke a tie and made the score 25 to 23 in favor of Gillespie with a minute left.

NINE DIRECTORS MOVE TO RENAME WINN TURF HEAD

Cincinnati, O., March 23.—[Special.]—Nine directors of the American Turf association, operators of the Churchill Downs and Latonia tracks in Kentucky and the Washington Park and Lincoln Fields tracks in Illinois, have mailed letters to stockholders urging the reelection of the present officers. Col. Matt J. Winn, president of the association, was attacked by a Louisville, Ky., group of stockholders, who charged wasteful use of the association's funds.

"The corporation suffered in common with all other business enterprises by reason of the economic distress. It has drastically reduced expenses and in spite of the depression is now in stronger position than it was a year ago. It does not owe a dollar, and has approximately $500,000 in cash and government securities," the letter read.

KRAUSE TO LEAD NOTRE DAME FIVE NEXT SEASON

Monograms were awarded to Krause, Johnny Jordan, Capt. Johnny Baldwin, Joe Voegele, Leo Crowe, Eddie Alberts, Leo Keating, James Newbold, and Al McGuff.

TORONTO, Ont., March 23.—(AP)—Charlie Gardiner's goal tending enabled the Chicago Blackhawks to tie the Toronto Maple Leafs, 2 to 2, tonight in the final game of the National Hockey league schedule for both teams.

Hustling, apparently just because they liked the idea, the Hawks battled from behind twice to get an even slice of the night's spoils. The Hawks failing to get in the Stanley cup playoffs, disbanded after the game. Gardiner stopped 66 shots during a loose contest, in which shooting was the players' chief enjoyment. Lorne Chabot handled 39 at the other end of the rink.

Gottselig all but gave the Hawks a lead in the first minute, but shot wide when Romnes gave him a pass in front of the Toronto net. That was Chicago's best threat of the first period. The Leafs attacked almost continuously, but Gardiner saved each time. The Hawk goalie was brilliant as Conacher, Jackson, Primeau, and Day fired on him from all sides.

Toronto Scores First.

Thoms made a neat pass to Jackson for the opening goal midway in the second period. The latter skated in on Gardiner to flip the puck home. Paul Thompson evened the score, bouncing a shot past Chabot from beside the Toronto net four minutes later. The Hawks had a better than even share of play for the rest of the period, Mackenzie and Thompson losing good scoring chances from close range.

Clancy and Day took up the offensive burden half way through the third period and Toronto's second goal resulted. Day passed from back of the Hawk net to Gracie, who had an open net to shoot at. The Hawks kept trying for a second goal and with eight seconds left McFadyen got it, sending the game into overtime.

Both Teams Let Down.

Neither team tried particularly hard in the extra session, the shots coming from well out. A pass March to Gottselig enabled Johnny to burn a fast one at Chabot that nearly caught a corner. Thoms stickhandled up to the net, but Gardiner leat him. Day lifted a hot one and Chuck got it, too. Two minutes from the end Chabot batted down a hard one by McFadyen. Lineup:

U. S. HORSE NEW FAVORITE TO WIN GRAND NATIONAL

AINTREE, England, March 23.—(AP)—A sudden switch in betting odds, establishing Heartbreak Hill, American owned entry, as the favorite in a field of 34 jumpers, tonight added a sensational touch to preparations for the 94th running of the classic grand national steeplechase. Post time tomorrow is 3 p. m. [9 a. m. Chicago time].

Odds on the big, eight year old Irish bred mare, owned by Mrs. C. S. Bird Jr. of Boston, dropped to 8 to 1 after previous quotations of 20 to 1. They were hammered down by late reports on the fine condition of the consistent Heartbreak Hill, which was fifth among nine finishers in the grand national last year.

Favorite Seldom Wins.

Seldom in the long history of the race over the difficult four and one-half mile course has a favorite come through, but the rise in Heartbreak Hill's stock gave the American contingent here a thrill and displaced the previously favored British pair, Mrs. M. A. Gemmell's Gregalach, a former winner, and Dorothy Paget's Golden Miller. Latest betting figures held Golden Miller as second choice at 10 to 1 and Gregalach third at 100 to 8.

Heartbreak Hill will carry 163 pounds as compared with 175 for Gregalach and 170 for Golden Miller. Mrs. Bird's jumper is by far the outstanding hope in the American list of nine entries. Tonight's call-over rated John Hay Whitney's Dusty Foot, to be ridden by the noted George H. (Pete) Bostwick, at 66 to 1, and Mrs. T. H. Somerville's Trouble Maker at the bottom of the list, at 200 to 1. J. A. Drake's Coup de Chapeau was at 30 to 1 and inside the first ten.

New Rider for Gregalach.

The odds on Gregalach, 1929 winner, increased to 100 to 8 after his jockey, J. Farcus, suffered a broken collar bone in a minor race today. W. Parvin will be astride the big gelding tomorrow.

Meanwhile, from every part of Britain, from every walk of life, the vanguard of an expected crowd of 150,000 began converging on this little Liverpool suburb today. Everybody from the prince of Wales and his royal brothers to the humblest of England's army of idle and his ragged children joined the mobilization of racing folk for the world's greatest steeplechase race.

Some horses will fall at dreaded Becher's brook, others will be eliminated at the famous Valentine's brook, while the hopes of still others will be shattered at the open ditch or at the 15-foot water leap in front of the huge grandstand.

FO

They Remember That 12 to 4 Defeat Last Year.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

New York's Golden Gloves team is in town. Even if you did not see their arrival at the Union station yesterday morning, you would have known that the New Yorkers were here had you watched Chicago's Golden Gloves squad at work yesterday afternoon at the Illinois Athletic club.

The Chicago boys, many of whom remember that disastrous night at Madison Square garden last year when New York licked Chicago, 12 bouts to 4, took on new spirit. The objective is at hand. Nothing save an overwhelming victory at the Stadium next Wednesday night will satisfy these boys who will represent Chicago in the sixth of the annual intercity amateur boxing matches.

Pleasant Memories Too.

While many of the boys remember defeat, there also are several who recall with pleasure that night two years ago when Chicago ran up a record triumph of 13 to 3. There's Freddie Caserio, middleweight champion, who captained that victorious Chicago team. And there's Leo Rodak, then the flyweight intercity champion now the featherweight king of Chicagoland. Jack Kranz, at present a member of the heavyweight group of glovers, was the light heavyweight champion in 1931. He remembers how he hammered his New York opponent.

Coach Behr had the boys at a multitude of duties yesterday. Many of them were excused from boxing. They confined their activities to four rounds of floor work in the afternoon. Others, including Bud Ginter, Leo Rodak, Irving Goldstein, Eddie Ward, Henry Rothier, John Pacek, and Jack Kranz, boxed at least two rounds. These were given extra duties to sharpen their judgment of distance. The peak of the training period will be reached today. From them on the Chicago squad will taper off until Monday.

Miller Joins the Team.

Billy Miller, Milwaukee 147 pounder, reported yesterday at the I. A. C. There now are four boys in this weight. The champion, Henry Rothier, took a new lease on life yesterday. He boxed two rounds and he had everything it takes to whip a boy from New York. Miller confined his initial activities to four rounds on the floor. Billy Celebron and King Wyatt also rested.

Lynn Thompson, the redheaded firebrand from George Trafton's gymnasium, went two rounds with Bud Ginter. The other newcomer to camp was Ario Soldati. This lad from Depue, Ill., who won the Rockford heavyweight championship and reached the final night at the Stadium, weighed 176 pounds yesterday. Soldati was added to the Golden Gloves squad with the idea that he might win the secondary position in the intercity 175 pound scraps. Max Marek is the light heavyweight champion. He won last year in New York and he's headed for another intercity title. Either Harvey Diesch of Milwaukee, Jack Kranz, or Soldati will take the other position.

Marek Due Tonight.

John Pacek, the heavyweight champion, will remain at the I. A. C. from today until the fights. He has been attending Lindblom High school during the day and doing his work at the club following his last class. Max Marek, who will captain the team on the night of the fight, will be in tonight from St. Viator's, Bourbannais, Ill.

Tickets for the inter-city fights now are on sale at THE TRIBUNE public service office, 1 South Dearborn street, and at the office of the ticket manager, room 530, Tribune Tower. The prices are $1.10, $2.20, and $3.30.

TWO OVERTIME GAMES FEATURE K. OF C. PLAYOFF

Two overtime games and another which wasn't decided until the closing minute featured last night's opening contests in the championship round of the Knights of Columbus Basketball league at the 132d Regiment armory.

The outstanding game was the 26 to 23 victory of Perez of the south division over Carroll of the west in an extra period. Garcia Mareno of the south end section provided an upset when it defeated Lafayette of the north, 29 to 21, in two extra sessions. Setters gave the west division a representative in the second round when it rallied near the finish to nose out Englewood, 19 to 16. Santa Maria defeated O'Connell, 25 to 19.

Hoppe Beats Cochran; Sets Match Mark

Thirteen Chicagoland Golden Gloves boxers watched Willie Hoppe set a match record by taking the eighth block of the 600 point three cushion billiard contest from Welker Cochran, world's champion, 50 to 25, in 21 innings at the 131 South Wabash avenue arena last night.

The block was concluded in 47 minutes of play. Hoppe now leads, 400 to 347, in 350 innings. Each has won four blocks.

Cochran ran into a string of ciphers beginning with the ninth inning and lasting until his 22d turn at the table, when he scored a single point. Score by innings:

HOPPE—0 2 1 0 4 0 0 0 0 1 5 3 0 4 0 7 0 3 0 0 0 1 1 7 0 0 0 3 1 0 0 7—50. High run, 7. Innings, 32. Total score, 400. Total innings, 350.

COCHRAN—1 1 0 0 1 3 4 0 1 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 1 0 0 1 7 2 1 1 2—25. High run, 7. Innings, 31. Total score, 347. Total innings, 350.

BY FRENCH LANE.

This became most noticeable yesterday at the Illinois Athletic club, for after Jim went through his training paces there was William A. Cummings, his father, on hand to see that the boy made weight properly, and Jim's older brother, Milton, who cast an eagle eye around to see that Jim was O. K.

Never Off His Feet.

Few more interesting boxers have come into Golden Gloves competition than Jim Cummings. During the last year and a half Cummings had engaged in about 140 amateur bouts. He never has been knocked off his feet. He lost decisions to only three boys.

And who do you suppose beat him? Johnny Phagan, one of the greatest of all Golden Gloves champions. George Keenan, another Golden Gloves winner, and Fred Caserio, 160 pound champion on this year's team who has whipped nearly every amateur of his weight from Maine to California and from New Orleans to Montreal.

Cummings is a native Chicagoan, although when he was still a youngster his family moved to Mortlack, in Saskatchewan, Canada. The family settled on a ranch and those strong arms and big hands which Jim now displays were developed while he was riding cow ponies and even grown horses about the time he was 12 years old. Then the family came back to Chicago.

Jim went on to school and finally was graduated from Hyde Park High. He didn't go in for fotoball, track, basketball, or other sports. But he was instrumental in organizing the Hyde Park High Boxing club, for he had always shown more interest in the manly art than in any other sport.

Probably Will Turn Pro.

That started him along on his boxing career. He's been at it ever since. He has an unusually long reach which keeps him out of harm's way when the hard punchers begin swinging at him.

If Jim can hook up with a New York boy at the Stadium next Wednesday night and trim him he more than likely will turn professional a short time later. He has come through all those 140 amateur scraps without a scar or a blemish.

LIGHTWEIGHTS BEGIN A. A. U. MEET MONDAY

More than 100 teams have entered the Central A. A. U. lightweight basketball tournament, which starts Monday night under the auspices of St. Philip, St. Michael and Mount Carmel High schools. The preliminary games will be played in the gymnasiums of these schools, with the finals on April 1 at St. Philip gymnasium, 3149 Jackson boulevard.

All of the finalists of the Catholic Youth organization, Catholic league, and Public School league have been entered.

Northwestern Basket Team to Receive Awards Today

Gold basketballs will be awarded to members of Northwestern's basketball team at a luncheon to be given by the Northwestern Club of Chicago at 160 North La Salle street today. Two hundred Northwestern alumni will be present to celebrate the 1932-1933 co-championship won by the Wildcats. Tom Hayward, president, will present the awards on behalf of the club. Athletic Director K. L. Wilson, Coach Dutch Lonborg, and Capt. Joe Reiff will speak.

ROSS AGREES TO FIGHT IN THREE STADIUM SHOWS

Barney Ross, west side lightweight boxer, yesterday was signed by Promoter Joe Foley, who is vice president of the Chicago Stadium Operating company, for three bouts to be presented here this year. Inasmuch as date, terms and opponents must be agreed upon before each bout the contract is more of an option on Ross' services.

Before returning to New York yesterday, Sam Goldman, manager of Tony Canzoneri, lightweight champion, negotiated with Stadium officials relative to a title bout with Ross. One of the several obstacles regarding the match is Goldman's request for a large guarantee before signing. It halted negotiations temporarily.

Ross bruised his right hand while defeating Billy Petrolle Wednesday. It will keep him idle for two weeks. Barney and Petrolle received their checks yesterday, each called for $5,250, 25 per cent of the net receipts, which were $21,000. The Stadium Operating company realized a profit of about $3,000 on the show. The state treasury was enriched to the extent of approximately $2,500 and the federal government the same.

Young Corbett, welterweight champion, has agreed to head the next show at the Stadium, scheduled for April 12 or 14. . . . The card at the Cicero stadium next Friday was completed last night. It follows: Johnny Phagan vs. Dick Sisk, 8; Ray Tramblie vs. Bud Saltis, 6; Freddy Miller vs. Lou Vine, 4; Jerry Crano vs. Bobby Vernon, 4; Ted Kelly vs. Freddy Dolph, 4; Joe Palazzola vs. Bill Reardon, 4; Biff Bennett vs. Walter Madey, 4.

An amateur show will be offered tonight at Kid Howard's gymnasium, 116 Madison street. Eight bouts will be decided.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

OLD STAMPING GROUND.

MELBOURNE BEACH, Fla., March 19.—Friend Arch: Well, Arch, I thought I better send along word lest you think I was lost. We stayed here two days longer than we expected after coming for the St. Patrick's day ball at the Woman's club.

I wrote you this ball was to raise funds for a leaky roof, but I was misinformed. It was a cistern party. It seems the ladies needed water so they could wash dishes after refreshments at the church socials and bridge parties and a chap loaned them $200 for a cistern. Because his bank stayed on the bank holiday, he wanted his $200 or the cistern. It wasn't convenient to remove the cistern, so they had the party.

Sponsoring the party was Mrs. Mark Oliver, once of Oak Park and now of the near north side. Well, they had 200 guests from up and down the nearby coast communities, and the admission, because of the times, was only 40 cents. After paying the orchestra $25 there was about $50 profit.

So the ladies pulled a Portia on their creditor by giving him the $50 and telling him to take ¾ of the cistern. Not a drop more. We haven't heard yet what he's going to do. The party was real nice and homelike and only one couple, who came rather highly primed, was asked to leave the dance floor.

Mrs. Oliver is a good business woman. We used to winter here when she founded the club. It needed a piano so I wired my cousin, who was southern manager of the Cable Piano company at Atlanta. He hurried down to make a big deal. Meantime some one had donated an old talking machine to the club.

Well, when Mrs. O. was through with my cousin she had traded the old talking machine for a second-hand piano, still in use here, and he had thrown in the talking machine she had traded him and some extra records to bind the bargain. He isn't with the company any more.

Visiting Mrs. Oliver are Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Waud, who live right near the Drake. Remember you sent me to their home once because I knew them, when a national golf celebrity was visiting their sons, one of whom was a Princeton pitcher and the other captain of the golf team?

Well, Ernie is vice president of the Griffin Wheel company, only there isn't a wheel moving, so he has time for a vacation. He's a good sportsman. One time when I first knew him he took me out to Wheaton and you know how tough that Chicago Golf club course is. It was not built for my kind of game. Well, he asked how was my game and I said a "little off," because it's always a little off. I asked how was his game and he said "terrible" and then told me all the things that were wrong with it. I got to feeling sorry for him.

So it ended up by my giving him four strokes on the first nine and telling him I'd give him more on the second nine if he needed it. He didn't suggest playing for any money which is the reason I think he's a good sportsman. I came in with 108, which is the best I ever shot there, and he came in with 81—and moaning about three easy putts he had missed.

While here I also met a Miss Sophie Burbank who was very attractive. So I began talking about potatoes and persisted, although she looked a little puzzled. Finally I found out she came from Pennsylvania and wasn't of the potato Burbanks at all.

Then there was Joe Cook, pseudonym Beamish, of Syracuse, N. Y., who syndicates a column. We visited a lot and talked about how anxious we were to get back to our work. He has a cottage here and his wife, who's very easy on the eyes, was real cordial. They both invited me to stop at their cottage any time I was here again.

We're expecting to drive back to Fort Lauderdale tonight, Arch, but I'll keep you informed. Regards,

HARVEY T. WOODRUFF.

RETIRED DOCTOR KILLED BY AUTO ON SOUTH SIDE

Evanston Schoolgirl Near Death from Injuries.

Dr. George Yates, 65 years old, 5469 Ingleside avenue, physician who retired recently after practicing in Chicago for 40 years, was fatally injured yesterday afternoon when he was struck by an automobile at Cermak road and Wabash avenue. He was taken to Wesley Memorial hospital, where he died.

Dr. Yates had an office at 28 East 20th street and had left it only a short time before the accident occurred. The driver of the car, George Moll, 38 years old, 1513 East 66th place, took Dr. Yates to the hospital and then reported the injury to the police.

Evanston Schoolgirl Hurt.

Patricia Kempshall, 13 years old, a pupil in Nichols grammar school in Evanston, was struck and probably fatally injured yesterday at Chicago avenue and Greenleaf street in the suburb by an automobile driven by Frederick Fisher, 1442 Jarvis avenue, Chicago.

The girl, returning home from school, had alighted from a street car and was crossing the street when Fisher's car, coming around the wrong side of the street car, ran her down. She was taken to St. Francis hospital, where it was found she had suffered a skull fracture. Patricia lives at 120 Callam avenue, Evanston. Her father, Bert Kempshall, is an artist.

Evanston police arrested Fisher, who is assistant manager of the Varsity theater, Evanston, on a charge of reckless driving. He was freed on $2,000 bail.

Death Toll Rises to 183.

The deaths of Dr. Yates and of three other victims yesterday raised the Cook county motor toll since Jan. 1 to 184. The other victims:

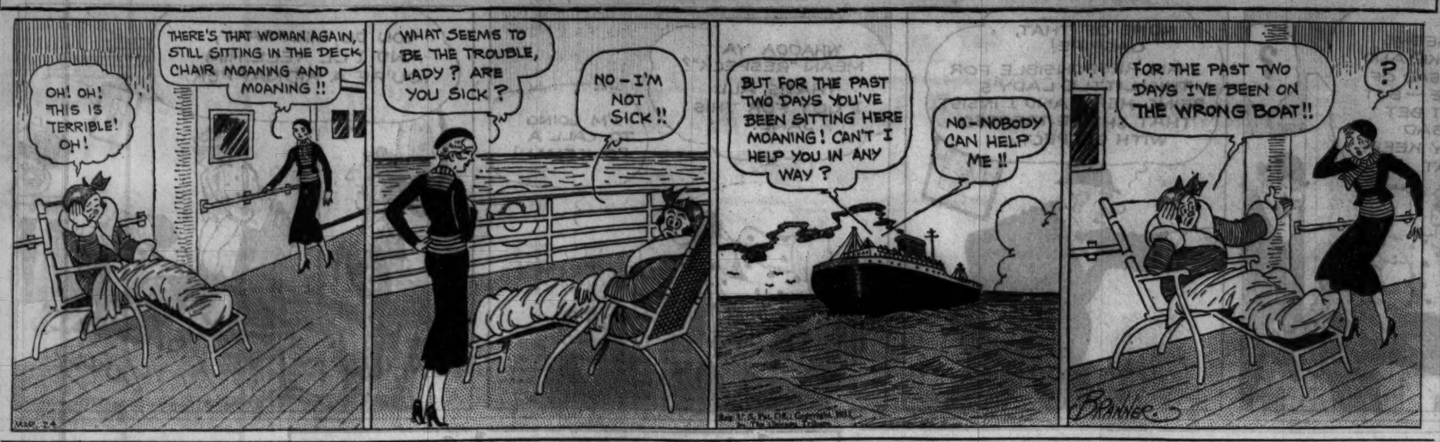
Herbert Johnson, 5 years old, 4805 South State street, a Negro. Died in county hospital of injuries received March 18 when he was struck by an automobile at State and 50th streets.

Carl Gorz, 28 years old, 5243 Henderson street. Died at the Alexian Brothers hospital early today of injuries suffered Sunday when two automobiles collided at Melrose street and Western avenue. Miss Emma Johnson, 3818 Osgood street, was the driver of the one in which Gorz rode and Thomas Edwards, 3583 Milwaukee avenue, of the other.

Mrs. Mary Walsh, 80 years old, 3133 Emerald avenue, died in the Evangelical hospital last night of injuries suffered March 19 when she was struck by a hit and run car in front of 3738 Emerald avenue.

A coroner's jury yesterday exonerated Melvin Brockman, 13847 South Dearborn street, of blame in connection with the death of Otto Paul, 48 years old, 601 West 138th street, a brother-in-law of Chief Frank S[illegible]an of the Riverdale police. Paul was killed Wednesday night at Halsted and 134 streets by the automobile Brockman was driving.

WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREADWINNER: A Glutton for Punishment



KILLS HIMSELF WHILE AWAITING MURDER INQUIRY

Butte, Mont., March 23.—[Special.]—For fifteen years, ever since he escaped from a Michigan prison in 1918 and during all the time he lived as a respected citizen here Harry Bushnell carried a vial of poison. Today, after his arrest and while awaiting extradition to Michigan, where he was to be questioned in connection with two murders, Bushnell swallowed the poison and died in his cell.

HARRY BUSHNELL. [Acme Photo.]

Bushnell left a note. In that he asserted his innocence of the murders of Mrs. Tillie Jenkins and Vaden Bordner, whose bodies were found near the Michigan prison July 7, 1918, the day after Bushnell, a trusty, escaped.

In 1911 Bushnell was sentenced to 5 to 10 years in the Michigan prison for assault with intent to murder. After his escape in 1918 he came west and, taking up a homestead site, gained repute in his community. He married twice, divorcing his first wife, Theresa M. Severns, in 1932. A few months later he married Miss Billie Watson, a Butte girl. She told the police later that her husband always carried a vial of pills in his clothing and that he placed it under his pillow each night. He was arrested a week ago.

THREE FAMOUS PILOTS CONFER ON PLANE RACES

Three famous pilots visited the offices of the Chicago Air Race corporation in the Hotel Sherman yesterday to discuss plans for the International Air Races to be held in Chicago on July 1, 2, 3 and 4 under the sponsorship of THE TRIBUNE. They conferred with Maj. R. W. Schroeder, secretary of the corporation and director of events for the races.

Clyde V. Pangborn, who made a nonstop flight across the Pacific with Hugh Herndon Jr., promised to secure a racing plane and enter the high speed events of the air races on the July dates. The other two visitors were James Mattern and Bennett Griffin, who flew from the United States to Russia last year in an attempted flight around the world. Mattern made his debut as a racing pilot in Chicago at the American Legion air meet at Sky Harbor last fall. Both he and Griffin expressed considerable interest in the planes for the international air races this July.

Mattern and Griffin plan to try another around the world flight this June. They hope good weather will permit them to return to Chicago in time for the air races the first four days of July, they said. The list of entries in the speed events is growing daily, Maj. Schroeder announced.

Attorney William G. Brace Killed by Automobile Gas

William G. Brace, 42 years old, an attorney, was found unconscious yesterday afternoon in the garage in the rear of his home at 3033 Normandy place, Evanston. He died soon after being taken to St. Francis hospital. Death was due to carbon monoxide gas. Doors of the garage were closed and the engine of Brace's car was running. He had apparently been working on the car and the police advanced the opinion he was accidentally killed. Brace formerly lived in St. Louis. He is survived by his widow and one son.

Police Detail Escorts Body of Slain Comrade to Home

A police detail last night escorted the body of Roscoe C. Johnston, Negro policeman who was killed Tuesday by pay roll bandits, to his home at 324 East 51st street. The 8th infantry band of the national guard, in which Patrolman Johnston played, and a detail of police will take part in his funeral at 9 o'clock Monday in St. Anthony's Roman Catholic church. Burial will be in Holy Sepulchre cemetery.

Albert L. Seaman Is Dead; Agent for Steel Company

Albert L. Seaman, 53 years old, died yesterday at his home, 746 Hinman avenue, Evanston, after an illness of a year and a half. He was sales representative in Chicago for the A. H. Wells Steel company and the National Sheet Metal company. He is survived by his widow, a son, and a daughter. Funeral services will be held at 1610 Maple avenue, Evanston, at 2 p. m. tomorrow.

STATE OFFICIALS ATTEND FUNERAL OF T. B. SCOUTEN

Officials and members of the state senate attended funeral services yesterday for Thaddeus B. Scouten, veteran sergeant at arms of the senate, who had held public offices continuously since the first administration of Abraham Lincoln. The services were held at 10 a. m. from a chapel at 1460 Sherman avenue, Evanston. Burial was at Graceland cemetery.

Mr. Scouten was 85 years old. He died March 19 in his home at 2736 Prairie avenue, Evanston. He had contracted pneumonia from exposure while making arrangements for the appearance of a senate delegation at the funeral of Mayor Cermak.

He began his public career during the civil war as a page boy in the United States senate, being sponsored by Senator Roscoe Conkling of New York. After a few years in Washington he returned to his home in Chicago. He was appointed a committee clerk for the state senate at the age of 19 and remained with the senate until his death, having served for the last 30 years as sergeant at arms.

BULGARIA PLANS A NEW DRIVE TO STAMP OUT REDS

SOFIA, Bulgaria, March 23.—(AP)—Premier Nicholas Muschanoff today announced that the government is planning "new and severe measures" against communism. He pointed out that communist propaganda recently had become more active, especially in schools and military garrisons.

The first step will be an "inquiry" into the activities of the Workers' party, a communist organization.

If the party's activities are found to be subversive, the premier said "it will be dissolved and its members will be excluded from parliament, from municipal councils and from the public employ."

RAIL LEADERS DISCUSS PLANS FOR DICTATOR

Committee Reveals Roosevelt Aims.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

Appointment of a dictator with full power to control the railroads as a measure to break up "wasteful practices" is reported as imminent.

R. V. FLETCHER.

Such action is said to be a part of the program of President Roosevelt to strengthen the financial position of the railroads. Furthermore, there is assurance that the President proposes to act on the problems of the railroads with the same promptness and determination with which he handled the banking crisis.

A picture of the dictatorship possibility was presented at a meeting of the Association of Railway Executives at the Drake hotel yesterday by a committee composed of F. E. Williamson, president of the New York Central; Carl Gray, president of the Union Pacific, and J. J. Pelley, president of the New York, New Haven and Hartford. Executive officers of 49 railroads were present.

Tell President's Views.

The committee of three, which early this week conferred in Washington with President Roosevelt and other government officials, presented the views of the President at a meeting of the advisory board. Later the entire membership discussed the situation and adopted a resolution giving Williamson, Gray, and Pelley full power to represent them at further conferences with the President. The trio left at 4 o'clock for Washington.

Discussion touched on "wasteful practices" of railroads, particularly wasteful competition. The executives were told that President Roosevelt feels the railroads can best help themselves by stopping the waste of money.

Wasteful competition is taken to include the duplication of expensive passenger services. Further, it is reported that the President favors consolidation as a means of aiding the roads.

Three Courses Proposed.

Three methods by which the wishes of the President could be accomplished were outlined. They were:

1. The appointment of a single federal dictator to act for all the railroads of the country.

2. The appointment of three federal dictators, one each for the eastern, western, and southeastern sections of the country.

3. The setting up through agreement of the railroads among themselves of a dictator of their own appointment.

The railroad presidents were told that the idea at Washington now is to give the dictator or other body which will have control full authority to break up the much stressed wasteful practices.

R. V. Fletcher of Chicago was appointed general counsel of the executives, association, succeeding Alfred P. Thom, who will become associate general counsel. Mr. Fletcher, who resigned as vice president and general counsel of the Illinois Central to take the post, also becomes vice chairman of the advisory committee of the Association of Railway Executives and general counsel of the American Railway association.

Meet with Bankers.

In addition to conferring with President Roosevelt, the association's committee of three has been meeting with private and savings bankers and insurance company officials in New York. They also have conferred on the plan in Washington for coördinated control of all forms of transportation, including the railroads, highways, airways and waterways.

Among the important railroad officials who attended yesterday's meeting were: Daniel Willard, Baltimore and Ohio; J. J. Bernet, Chesapeake and Ohio; Fred W. Sargent, North Western; Ralph Budd, Burlington; H. A. Scandrett, Milwaukee Road; J. E. Gorman, Rock Island; L. F. Loree, Delaware and Hudson; L. A. Downs, Illinois Central; F. E. Williamson, New York Central; E. G. Buckland and J. J. Pelley, New Haven; W. W. Atterbury and Elisha Lee, Pennsylvania; Hale Holden, Paul Shoup, Southern Pacific, and Carl Gray, Union Pacific. R. H. Aishton, chairman of the executive committee of the association; M. J. Gormley, president of the American Railway association; Bird M. Thompson, president American Short Line Railroad association; D. A. Crawford, president of the Pullman company, and L. O. Head, president of the Railway Express agency.

StocksPickUp; Short Sellers Are Squeezed

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 23.—They gave the shorts a little run around at the start of business on the stock exchange today and prices bubbled up 1 to 4 points all over the board. The "scare" petered out after a while, however, and most of the improvement was gradually erased. A point or so was about all the more sturdy beneficiaries were able to retain, and some of the more susceptible issues closed with minus signs.

The flurry appeared to be more in the nature of a technical trading swing than due to any fundamental improvement in underlying market conditions. Certainly, no excuse for it could be found in the day's run of news. A small flock of rumors circulated around the opening—one of them having it that the government had decided to call off its bank hearings—probably had some effect, but the gossip was soon dissipated.

Technical Rally Expected.

Brokerage house commentators have been pointing out for two or three days that the market was "ripe" for a technical rally, and most of the trade seemed agreed that it was due about this time. The list had been on the decline for five successive days at the close of business yesterday.

Railroad and farm implement shares starred in the day's performance. Progress of the farm price fixing scheme in congress was the secret, of course, for such enthusiasm as appeared in behalf of the implement group. Although Washington advices indicated that the measure is going to run into some rather rough weather in the senate, it is being assumed that the farmers may benefit to the extent of being able to pay off some of their notes which the tool manufacturers now hold in such generous volume. Mail order issues moved up on better prospects for the same reason.

The carriers were still trying to make capital out of the administration's reported plans to ease the ways for them a bit.

Several Rail Issues Advance.

The widest price swing of the rail group was made by Norfolk and Western, which advanced 5¾ points on a single sale. New York Central, New Haven, Delaware and Hudson, Lackawanna and others held gains of 1 to 2 points after ranging higher in the early dealings.

Beverage issues attracted some fresh attention but early runups were substantially reduced by later selling, as elsewhere in the list.

Public utilities thrust prospects of political antagonism and an important dividend reduction aside and moved along with the procession. Consolidated Gas, which is generally expected to be due for a rather severe dividend cut, varied the monotony of its customary performances by going ahead fractionally.

Allied Chemical was a strong spot. It mounted nearly 3 points in the first half hour or so, but emerged with only about a third of its improvement. The floating supply of this issue is small making it sensitive to dealings.

SANTA FE CUTS SUMMER FARES TO CALIFORNIA

The Santa Fe railroad is placing low round trip fares between Chicago and California in effect on May 15, according to an announcement made yesterday by W. J. Black, passenger traffic manager. Under the new rates the round trip coach fare will be $60.50, intermediate class $70.50, and the first class $80.50. Sale dates will be from May 15 to Oct. 15.

CityBanksPlan toOpen;22Get O. K. in State

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Plans were being made yesterday for the reorganization and early reopening of several Cook county banks which have not yet been licensed. These plans will be submitted in the next few days for the final approval of the authorities.

At the same time announcement was made that the Amalgamated Trust and Savings bank, 111 West Jackson boulevard, had been granted admission to the federal reserve system. The Amalgamated Trust resumed business immediately upon the expiration of the national holiday.

Raise New Capital.

Two Chicago state institutions report that they are now raising the additional money specified by the state auditor and hope to get licenses in the near future. A number of other banks are known to be working on similar plans.

James Maltman, president of the Aetna State bank, Halsted street and Fullerton parkway, said yesterday the campaign to sell $200,000 of new stock is progressing satisfactorily.

The West Side Trust and Savings bank is another outlying bank which is raising new capital. The Howard Avenue Trust and Savings bank is working on a plan which officials hope to present in about a week. The Halsted Street State bank and have applied for membership in the federal reserve system.

22 Downstate Get Permits.

Twenty-two more state banks were given permits to reopen this morning by State Auditor Barrett late last night. None of them was in the Chicago district. The list:

DRAFT FEDERAL BILL TO CONTROL SALE OF SECURITIES TO PUBLIC

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 23.—A bill to control the marketing of securities so that the interests of the investing public will be carefully guarded is being prepared by experts of the administration in consultation with congressional leaders, and probably will be ready for the consideration of President Roosevelt early next week. It will appear as a part of other banking reform legislation to be placed before congress for immediate enactment.

Preliminary work on the draft is being done under the supervision of Secretary of Commerce Roper, Attorney General Cummings, and experts of their departments, in consultation with the congressional leaders. It is understood that it will cover flotations of foreign as well as domestic securities by American security houses and that one of its purposes will be to provide for full publication of all circumstances surrounding the issues offered to the public.

The officials have withheld all comment upon the exact form that the proposal will take, as it is not yet in completed form and subject to changes.

SUBSIDIARIES OF MIDDLE WEST MAKE REPORTS

Kansas Electric Power company reported 1932 gross revenues of $2,196,000, a decrease of $196,275 from 1931. Net income was $476,505 last year against $473,545 in 1931. After common and preferred stock dividends $61,755 was transferred to surplus. Miscellaneous surplus deductions amounted to $25,922.

Missouri Gas and Electric company reported gross revenue of $588,032, against $615,339 in the preceding year. After expenses, depreciation, and other charges there was a deficit of $18,977 for the year. Dividends were discontinued on the preferred stocks during the year.

Melvin A. Traylor, president of the First National bank of Chicago, accompanied by his son, Melvin Jr., left yesterday for a ten day vacation at Gulfport, Miss.

Reserve Will Tighten Grip on BankSystem

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 23.—Seeking to tighten its grip on the nation's banking structure, the federal reserve board is reported to have sent out orders directing all banks in need of loans to apply to the board instead of to the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

Orders were dispatched to the 12 reserve banks, it was said, and these central institutions were to pass the word on to banks which are known to need advances. Nonmember banks, as well as those that are members of the system, are to be informed of the board's dictum.

Extend Reserve Power.

Beside extending the influence of the reserve system far beyond its present domain the board's new order would lift a great load off the Reconstruction Finance corporation and indirectly off the federal treasury. The government, already running into debt on its own account, no longer would have to borrow billions in order to finance weak banks.

In addition the reserve board would recapture all the prestige which it lost when the Reconstructon Finance corporation was formed. By providing another source for bank loans the corporation has weakened the influence of the board even with its own system. Not only would this lost ground be recovered, but much more beside.

Will Include State Banks.

The amended Steagall bill passed today by congress would become a vehicle for spreading the influence of the board over state banks. The bill allows state banks to borrow from the reserve system and was intended to aid the state banks.

Issuance of the order by the board today was interpreted in some circles to be another step toward a unified banking system. Officials of the reserve board staff are known to feel that the present is the time to strike for a unified system of commercial banking.

Legality of such action under the constitution has been studied by the board and it is understood that it will soon publish its opinion on the legal grounds for unification of all banks of deposit.

CONGRESS O.K.'S RESERVE LOANS TO ALL BANKS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 23.—Congress today gave final approval to the so-called Steagall bill bringing state banks and trust companies outside the federal reserve system within the provisions of the administration's recently enacted emergency banking law.

House agreement to a senate version of the bill adopted only twenty minutes earlier, prepared the measure for transmission to the White House late in the day. It has been buffeted about Capitol hill ever since shortly after the emergency banking bill was passed on the first day of the extra session.

Eases Loan Restrictions.

The bill provides that nonmember state banks and trust companies may obtain secured loans from the federal reserve banks with virtually the same privileges enjoyed by members of the system. Collateral offered by the state institutions for these loans would be used by the reserve banks as backing for the "asset currency" legalized under the emergency banking law.

It is estimated that the use of this paper as basis for the new currency will permit an expansion of some 700 million dollars greater than contemplated in the original emergency bill.

As it goes to the White House the bill includes a senate amendment under which state banks are authorized to issue "capital notes or debentures" for sale to the Reconstruction Finance corporation in lieu of preferred stock if the state in which they are located has a stockholders' "double liability" law. Under the emergency banking act the finance corporation was empowered to purchase stock in reorganized banks.

Couldn't Assume Liability.

It was felt the corporation would be reluctant, however, to assume double liability through stock ownership, and that this reluctance would operate to prevent R. F. C. advances to reorganized institutions in states which have "double liability laws."

Debate in the senate wandered from the subject immediately at hand to a criticism of the administration's policies in licensing the reopening of banks. Most ardent of the protesters was Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg [Rep., Mich.], who declared that liberalization of the opening requirements imposed by the administration on closed banks is necessary to recovery.

"If the government continues to license banks on the present basis," he asserted, "we are embarking upon the most ruthles deflation in the history of this or any other nation.

REOPENING DATE FOR BLACKSTONE IS SET AT MAY 15

Federal Judge Wilkerson yesterday entered an order turning over the Blackstone hotel to Attorney Nathaniel Rubinkam, representing the Metropolitan Life Insurance company, which had brought a foreclosure suit.

Paul G. Evans, receiver in equity, handed over the keys of the hotel to Attorney Rubinkam yesterday afternoon. Attorney Rubinkam stated that he would go ahead with the rehabilitation of the property and that the hotel would reopen on May 15.

New Detroit Bank Will Be Opened Today

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., March 23.—Capitalized at $25,000,000, equally provided by the General Motors corporation and the Reconstruction Finance corporation, a new bank will open for business here tomorrow morning in the banking offices now occupied by the First National bank, Detroit.

This announcement was made by Alfred P. Sloan Jr., president of General Motors corporation, upon his arrival here today from New York. The action to create the new bank was inspired by a sense of patriotic duty, he said, as the General Motors corporation has no desire to go into the banking business. The corporation, he added, will eliminate itself from the picture at the earliest possible moment.

Formed from Two Old Banks.

The new bank will take over the more liquid assets of the First National bank and the Guardian National Bank of Commerce, and will assume such part of their deposit liabilities as may be determined later.

Later today Mr. Sloan went to the Ford plant at Dearborn for a conference with Henry and Edsel Ford. It was reported that he urged them to join in subscribing a portion of the private capital for the new bank, but what their response was to the proposal was not made known.

It was announced tonight that James McAvoy, head of the General Motors legal department, has been selected as acting president for the bank and that temporary directors also will be chosen from the General Motors organization.

No definite time was announced when withdrawals against deposits in the First National bank and the Guardian National Bank of Commerce can be made, or the amount that will be available for withdrawals in addition to the 10 per cent already withdrawn.

Negotiate with Conservators.

Negotiations are now proceeding between the federal conservators of the two old banks regarding the amount that will be immediately available to depositors. Mr. Sloan said that whatever the sum may be, and when it will be available, depends upon the result of the negotiations, and that all possible effort is being made to hasten them to a conclusion.

The new bank received its charter from the government at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. A few hours later, because of a radio announcement by Police Commissioner Watkins of this city, who broadcast a protest against the completion of the one bank plan, the White House in Washington received more than 5,000 messages from Detroit requesting President Roosevelt to stop the "Wall street bank plan."

Explaining that he was speaking at the request of President Roosevelt and Secretary Woodin, the Rev. Fr. Charles E. Coughlin tonight defended the new bank. Police Commissioner James K. Watkins also spoke twice tonight, renewing his attack.

Cleveland, O., Banks Confer.

Cleveland, O., March 23.—[Special.]—Committees of the Union Trust company and the Guardian Trust company continued their conferences today and next week are expected to make known just what type of reorganization of those banks the government will approve. Both institutions have completed tentative plans for creating new national banks with the more liquid assets of the old banks and what remains to be done is to adjust figures.

Will Decide Deposit Controversy.

Washington, D. C., March 23.—(AP)—Whether funds deposited by small banks in larger institutions as reserves are to be treated as trust funds, subject to preferred treatment, or as ordinary deposits, is to be passed upon by Attorney General Cummings.

NATION MAKES FAST RECOVERY IN BANK CRISIS

Reserve Shows Vast Sum Returned.

BY HOWARD WOOD.

Rapid and widespread recovery in the banking structure of the nation was disclosed in the federal reserve report for the week ended Wednesday and released late last night.

This recovery was evident in every department of both the reserve banks themselves and their member banks. Reports for member banks in New York and Chicago, released for the first time since the beginning of the bank holiday, showed that these banks had made sweeping gains which more than offset the heavy losses during the last few hectic days preceding the national holiday.

Buried in the technicalities of the federal reserve reports, with their box car figures, lies the story of a speedy national recovery from a national disaster, as well as the story of how the people of the nation regained their lost faith and told it with dollars.

They have brought gold back to the reserve banks, a half billion of it since the moratorium, and nearly two hundred millions of it in the week ended Wednesday.

Flood of Money Deposited.

Equally important, they brought currency back to the member banks. The returned deposits came in such volume that member banks were able to pay off 561 millions of their borrowings from the federal reserve, and the reserve banks were able to retire 638 millions of the total amount of federal reserve bank credit in use.

In Chicago, particularly, was the strength of member banks apparent. On Wednesday, the report showed, just nine days after the resumption of business after the holiday, Chicago member banks had reduced their borrowings from the federal reserve bank to zero, and their 162 million dollar total reserve balances carried with the "fed" were 44 millions in excess of the legal requirements.

Deposits of Chicago member banks totaled one billion, 166 million dollars on Wednesday, which was 71 million dollars higher than on March 1, and only 51 millions less than on Feb. 21. Figures for the week ended Wednesday, however, include banks which have attained membership since March 1.

Fortified by returned public confidence, Chicago banks have been enabled since the holiday to increase their loans and investments. Total loans and investments on Wednesday were one billion, 126 millions, an increase of 26 millions for the week, and an increase of 119 millions since March 1.

Federal Reserve Strengthened.

Reflecting the improvement in its brood of members banks in Chicago and nearby cities the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago likewise reported a substantial recovery. The ratio of its total reserves to deposit and note liabilities combined rose in the week ended Wednesday from 50.5 per cent to 53.6 per cent.

The reserve bank was able to reduce the amount of its notes in circulation from 1 billion 67 millions to 995 millions, a drop of 72 millions for the week. It also reduced bills discounted from 62 millions to 37 millions, and it sold 48 millions of government bonds.

None of the new "asset currency" was in circulation in the Chicago dis-

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 23.—Bond prices were strong in most directions today. In the corporation sector gains ranged as high as 3 points in speculative issues.

United States government issues edged off after making a promising start toward higher ground. The treasury's short term obligations attracted most attention. The new March 15 4 and 4½ per cent certificates brought premiums of 1 point and 1⅝ points, respectively. The afternoon recession was most notable in long term issues.

Good Buying of Rails.

Activity in corporate issues kept pace with fresh speculative interest, with the bulk of business being done in the railroad group. Quiet buying in the carrier division was reported premised on anticipation that legislative aid would be forthcoming soon from Washington. The hope that the railroads would profit from the revived traffic in beer was seen as another factor.

Gains ranged from 1 to 3 points in such issues as St. Paul 4½s, Rock Island 4½, Hudson and Manhattan income 5s, Missouri Pacific 5s, New York Central 4½s, Southern Pacific general 4½s, and others.

Municipal Interest Low.

Trading in state and municipal bonds was at low ebb, though dealers transacted a few sales of prime issues at slightly better prices. New York City bonds, however, eased a trifle, owing to the clouded outlook for April financing. Indicating the lack of market interest in municipal obligations, the city of Boston has not yet received a bid on a scheduled sale of $1,000,000 short term obligations.

Federal Land bank and Joint Stock Land bank bonds showed little change on reports that a bill may shortly be introduced into congress calling for a large bond issue to aid farm mortgages and extension of the land bank system to replace the joint stock banks.

NEW ISSUE OFFERED.

The Shawmut corporation of Boston and the Harris Trust and Savings bank are offering $400,000 of Hillsborough county, New Hampshire, 4¼ per cent bonds. These bonds are due serially March 1, 1934 to 1935.

Penn Mutual Life Insurance.

I plan the purchase of a $5,000 insurance policy and would like to have you tell me all you can about Penn Mutual Life Insurance company of Philadelphia.—S. R. V.

Penn Mutual Life Insurance company [Philadelphia] was incorporated 85 years ago under Pennsylvania laws. It is purely mutual.

The company has had a good growth. Admitted assets on Dec. 31, 1932, totaled $514,588,000, against $496,603,000 the year before, $458,686,000 on Dec. 31, 1930, and $216,428,000 on Dec. 31, 1920.

Insurance in force at the close of 1932 totaled 2 billion 9 million dollars, against 2 billion 103 million dollars the year before, 2 billion 105 million dollars on Dec. 31, 1930, and $532,550,000 on Dec. 31, 1920.

Real estate on Dec. 31, 1932, amounted to $20,092,000, against $10,831,000 the year before; mortgage loans were $193,497,000, against $201,394,000; bonds [amortized values] were $137,456,000, against $138,277,000; stocks [June 30, 1931, values] were $11,941,000, against $11,996,000; cash was $4,379,000, against $3,095,000, and policy loans were $98,978,000, against $87,981,000 on Dec. 31, 1931.

Acquisition of real estate through foreclosure in 1932 represented 2.51 per cent of ledger assets. The income on $632,000 of bonds, about one-seventh of 1 per cent of total assets, was in default.

Policy reserves totaled $404,881,000 on Dec. 31, 1932, and special reserves were $27,713,000.

Income in 1932 was $108,814,000 and disbursements were $93,011,000. In 1931 income was $122,095,000 and disbursements were $85,884,000.

Minneapolis Gas Light.

Please give me recent information on Minneapolis Gas Light company bonds.—C. I. C.

Minneapolis Gas Light company, a subsidiary of American Gas and Power company, is the outgrowth of a company established in 1870. It supplies gas to Minneapolis.

Gross revenues for 1932 were $4,512,000, against $4,430,000 for 1931, $4,476,000 in 1930, and $4,180,000 for 1929. Net earnings from operations in 1932 were $1,704,000, against $1,651,000 in 1931. Fixed charges were earned 3.04 times in 1931, 2.33 times in 1930, 2.52 times in 1929, and 2.60 times in 1928.

The $10,000,000 first 4½s, due 1950, constitute the company's only long term funded debt. They are secured by a first mortgage on all fixed assets. They are considered sound.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Liquidation which developed in the wheat market on Wednesday apparently greatly strengthened the technical position. General buying, which developed at the opening yesterday, disclosed a lack of selling pressure and first sales were as much as 2 cents above the finish of the previous day. Heavy selling by commission houses developed around 52 cents for May wheat, which effectively checked the advance and brought about a decline of over 1 cent from the top. However, offerings on the dip were readily absorbed and the finish was on a rally with the close at net gains of 1 to 1¼ cents.

There was nothing in the general run of the news to account for the unexpected advance, which carried prices through the "offers" at the start and forced the sellers of the latter to protect themselves. On the upturn there was some selling, which the trade attributed to the farm board.

Await New Farm Relief Measure.

Wheat traders generally continued to discuss the proposed farm relief legislation and sentiment was strongly in favor of the plan advocated by Senator Smith of the senate agricultural committee for the leasing of farm land and its withdrawal from cultivation. Should such a plan be adopted traders expressed the belief it would immediately focus attention on the outlook for the winter wheat crop, which is admittedly in poor condition over a large area.

Milling demand for cash wheat this week has materially exceeded trade expectations and it is estimated that local handlers have sold close to 1,000,000 bushels. Improvement in the flour demand is given as a factor, due to uneasiness created over the proposed farm relief bill.

Export sales of around 1,000,000 bushels of Manitobas were reported in all positions. Winnipeg closed ⅝ to 1 cent higher. Liverpool gained ⅛ to ½ cent, with May at 3½ cents discount as compared with Chicago.

Corn Highest Since Dec. 1.

May corn sold up 1¼ cents to 29 cents shortly after the opening. This was the highest figure since Dec. 1, 1932, and 5½ cents above the recent low point. There was little corn for sale at the start when general buying developed, but the sharp advance led to profit taking and also hedging against purchases of cash grain to arrive from the country, and a reaction followed.

Millers and brewers were reported active buyers of white cash corn, the farm relief bill and also the signing of the beer bill being the main factors in stimulating the demand.

Oats closed ¼ cent higher for the day, with May at 18⅛ cents and July at 18½ cents. The movement has increased rather sharply from the country owing to firmness in cash grain Houses with eastern connections bought July rye. Futures gained ⅜ to ⅞ cent. May barley gained ½ cent for the day.

SUGAR.

NEW YORK, March 23—(AP)—SUGAR—Raw was unchanged today and although some sales were reported at concessions of a few points, nothing was firmly offered at the close, below 3c. Reported sales were 28,700 bags of Puerto Rican centrifugals late yesterday for prompt shipment at 2.98c, and today 28,700 bags at 2.99c and 5,000 bags at 2.98c. Futures advanced on a renewal of covering and speculative buying with the market closing 2@3 points net higher. Approximate sales, 25,800 tons. Prices follow:

In refined all refiners were listing at 4.30c for fine granulated, the 10 point concession recently granted in the southern territory having been withdrawn. Withdrawals against old contracts were on a liberal scale, but no new business was reported.

COFFEE.

NEW YORK, March 23.—(AP)—Coffee was steady today with prices generally higher on European support which may have been promoted by confirmation of Wednesday's advices that the Brazilian government planned to purchase surplus supplies before the end of July. No. 7 contracts: Sales, 1,000 bags. Santos opened unchanged to 1 point higher and closed 2 lower to 8 points higher. Sales, 12,000 bags. Closing quotations: Santos, March 8.05c, May 7.90c, July 7.61c, September 6.41c, December 7.31c. Prices follow:

HOG PRICES RISE TO $4 AVERAGE; CATTLE LOWER

Small Receipts Help Swine Move Higher.

The hog market changed its course again yesterday and headed upward. Advances of 5 to 10 cents were general in the classes that suffered most in the two-day break. This rally put the average cost back up to $4.00, while top grades reached $4.20.

Some uncertainty slowed the trade in the early part of the day when buyers could not adjust themselves quickly enough to the sudden change from a weak to a decidedly strong market, but the bullish element was persistent and closing transactions proved highest of the day.

Available supplies were only moderate for a Thursday. In fact, the aggregate total at the eleven leading market centers in the east and west, at 68,000, was 10 per cent under the average of the last six Thursday totals, including the bank holiday period. Supplies have been running lighter than usual for several weeks. Chicago receipts for the first 23 days of this month at 329,000 show a decrease of 123,000 head, or 27 per cent, compared with the first 23 days of February.

Cattle Receipts Heavy.

A run of 7,000 cattle yesterday was more than the market could stand and prices sagged a little. Light unfinished steers selling downwards from $4.75 met some action, and these maintained Wednesday's quotations. A liberal run of Nebraska, Kansas, Iowa, Illinois, and Missouri long fed steers arrived, and these shared in the full weakness. However, fancy light yearlings were scarce. A shipment of 39 long yearlings averaging 1,113 pounds to Swift topped the market at $6.60.

Price trends in cattle this week have been mixed. Plain light cattle selling under $5.00 are closing 15 to 25 cents higher than a week ago, while the bulk of the good heavy steers show little change. Medium to good cattle are as much as 15 to 25 cents lower. Heifers are 25 cents lower than a week ago and cows steady.

Lambs Forced Lower.

Lamb prices weakened under pressure of liberal receipts yesterday. The run from Colorado and Nebraska was largest of the season. The former state dumped 12,900 head, against 7,100 the previous Thursday. Declines of 10 to 25 cents were registered in most of the packers' purchases, the sharpest discounts being in the heaviest classes. City butchers and shippers paid up to $6.00, while packers obtained the bulk at $5.65 and below.

MERCHANDISE MART TO HOLD "OPEN HOUSE"

The Merchandise Mart will celebrate its third birthday anniversary April 3, 4, and 5 in connection with a mid-season market which is expected to draw buyers from all parts of the country.

The management of the mart plans to turn the celebration into a great "open house market" with the aid of the 800 exhibitors in the building.

"Merchant buyers will have the opportunity of inspecting the greatest merchandise display ever housed under one roof," said T. J. Reed, general manager of the mart, "with kindred lines displayed in respective sections of the vast building and competitive lines exhibited almost side by side."

Despite business conditions the mart has added on the average one lease a week to its rental list.

National City Co. Elects Executive Vice President

New York, March 23.—(AP)—The election of Joseph P. Ripley, vice president of the National City company, as executive vice president was announced today. Since Feb. 27, when Charles E. Mitchell resigned as chairman and Hugh S. Baker as president, Horace C. Sylvester Jr. had been the ranking executive officer. Sylvester was indicted Tuesday on a charge of third degree forgery resulting from his recent testimony before a senate committee.

New Electric Refrigerator Uses Same Current as Bulb

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Dayton, O., March 23.—Development of an electric refrigerator that uses no more electric current than an ordinary lamp bulb was announced today by the Frigidaire corporation, subsidiary of the General Motors corporation.

Salesmen, Solicitors, Etc.

A "NEW DEAL."

Salesmen, here is that "new deal." You are urged to get in on the ground floor. This is NEW AND DIFFERENT.

And you will be fascinated with the story. NO MORE COLD TURKEY.

No more ringing of doorbells. We guarantee that you will be invited in with a smile, for all calls are made on in the form of letters, derived from radio broadcasting. Fifty dollars a week and up is common for men who are intelligent, of good appearance, and willing to work.

APPLY FRIDAY, 9 A. M.

100 N. La Salle-st. Room 800.

A BRAND NEW ADVERTISING PLAN IS now available for high class specialty men able to contact merchants. Permanent territories now being assigned. Married men with cars preferred. Must be able to finance selves for short time. For interview see manufacturer's representative Friday, March 24, 9 a. m. and 1 p. m. only, 82 W. Washington-st., Room 326.

mechanically inclined; must be neat, honest, and willing to work hard for promotion. Apply 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. $4,700 to $10,000 or higher per year. These men make this money regularly. There are no off seasons. These incomes in cash are just as certain and stable as any business or professional positions possibly can be. No cost or investment.

Those who are inexperienced in specialty sales work must take the necessary time to learn and acquire skill. During this time they must be willing and satisfied to get along on nominal earnings of $125 to $200 per month, if necessary. We cannot tell you how long it will take you to do this—whether one month or six months—but we do know that if you have the qualifications to satisfy our requirements to secure a position with us, you can, with reasonable study, practice, good character, and diligence, be genuinely assured of reaching a success which will afford you the higher incomes.

We are not looking for the "smart" fellow, the "clever" talker or the so-called high-pressure artist. We want to find only the earnest, sincere man, no matter what his previous experience or training, who is willing to follow instructions and has formed the habit of doing a real day's work as a matter of course and not as a matter of exception. To such men this amazing new Electrolux specialty foot refrigeration is beyond doubt one of the really great opportunities of all time in special sales work. Last year was our biggest year—1933 will be our fourth consecutive record year. If you feel qualified apply for personal interview with branch manager Friday morning, 9 to 12 or 1 to 4 p. m., at 327-333 Madison-Kedzie Bldg., 9 S. Kedzie-av.

INVESTMENT BANKING.

EARN WHILE YOU LEARN

Are your ambitions? Have you a good personality? Have you better than average intelligence? Have you good standing in your neighborhood? If so, you will be given an opportunity to learn the investment banking business with a firm which has been in business over 50 years and whose business has been growing during the depression. You will receive an intensive course in the fundamentals of economics and related subjects under a former college instructor. Opportunity for advancement and good pay is limited only by your ability.
